INTRODUCTION

Photographs and biographical materials relating to the Cordes, Lahmann, Gebo, Coerlin and related families collected by Rose Cordes Gebo and Lembit Rauk. The families were originally from the Axstedt-Harrendorf area of Germany and emigrated to America during the late 19th century and early 20th centuries. Members of the Cordes, Lahmann, and Coerlin families have either visited or lived in Pittsburg, Kansas.

DONOR INFORMATION

The Rose Cordes Gebo and Lembit Rauk Collection was donated to the Leonard H. Axe Library of Pittsburg State University by Lembit Rauk on February 4, 2003 and March 3, 2003.

BIOLOGICAL SKETCH

Rose Cordes Gebo was born on October 8, 1906 in Dallas, South Dakota. Her family originated from the Axstedt-Harrendorf area of Germany. Her parents, Hinrich Cordes and Anna Matilda Lahmann, immigrated to America during the 1880s. Her father settled in Pittsburg, Kansas, and operated a tailor shop for twenty years at 217 North Broadway then, later, at 104 West 4th. Her mother landed in New York where she worked as a domestic for four years. She later moved to Pittsburg, Kansas, after much encouragement from aunts and cousins who had already settled there. It was in Pittsburg that Rose's parents met and married. After many years in Pittsburg, Hinrich decided to take advantage of the "free land" the government was offering in South Dakota. He settled on a claim three miles south of Dallas, South Dakota, in an area known as Rosebud Indian County. Rose Cordes was born there in 1906 and was named after the area.

Rose Cordes Gebo, in her lifetime, lived in Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Alaska, and finally, Gig Harbor, Washington, where she died on November 6, 2000. Lembit Rauk's mother was a first cousin of Rose Cordes Gebo. Gebo and Rauk corresponded and exchanged genealogical materials and information until Gebo's death in 2000.
