BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

Anne Tedlock Brooks wrote lots of stories for newspaper serial publication, was editor of Tips Universal, wrote for Christian Herald and had more than seven novels published. You can find an interview with the author in the Biographical folder in box one.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The Anne Tedlock Brooks Papers consist mainly of correspondence, newspaper clippings, and back issues of journal and magazine issues where her stories were published as well as book manuscripts. Two items that stand out are the oversized items, the Kansas State Teachers College Life Diploma for teachers and a large framed black and white photograph of Anne Brooks. The majority of the collection pertains to the writing of her novels and short stories. Many of her novels are over two hundred pages long and her short stories are sometimes just a page or two. The short stories are often featured in the magazine "Children's Activities. An interesting note is that there are duplicates of nine issues of "Children's Activities with some issues having up to three duplicates. There are seven issues of the "Christian Herald" that have duplicates, including one from May 1944. There are several Serial stories in the collection found in newspapers and magazines. Some serials are reprinted in multiple publications. For example "Her Path in the Sky" was in the Chicago Daily News and the St. Louis Daily globe-democrat. There are more than six serial novels.
