DRAMA PLUS "BOO" EQUALS NIL

Babies attending Dramatic Art plays must pay a fee of $5. Also, a $50 bill must be left at the box-office, in advance, as a guarantee that the child will not cry. This was the announcement made by Professor Pelsma at assembly two weeks ago.

Why do they treat the infants so cruelly?

When a play has reached the point that the hero arrives on the scene just in time to save the only girl from the villain who is kidnapping her, a fitting accompaniment to the whole is the echoing and re-echoing of "Boo-hoo-hoo" thruout the auditorium. But the echoing is liable to continue even to the end, when to all appearances the lovers are perfectly happy.

These same youngsters will probably one day be occupying the place of the S. M. T. N. actors. But now "there's no place like home for 'em."
