THE WAR . . . STEP BY STEP

(With an Old Church Hymn Refrain)

Well, well, well . . . It started in December.
Well, well, well . . . How well do we remember!
Well, well, well . . . They 'lowed we would surrender.

They vowed we would surrender.

Well, well, well!

Well, well, well . . . We rallied 'round the symbol.
Well, well, well . . . Our might we did assemble.
Well, well, well . . . The world began to tremble.

The axis to dissemble . . .

Well, well, well!

Well, well, well . . . We went and joined the fightin'.
Well, well, well . . . Somethin' we don't delight in.
Well, well, well . . . But when wrong need rightin'

We simply have to light in.

Well, well, well!

Well, well, well . . . While the enemy was smirkin'
Well, well, well . . . We started in to workin'
Well, well, well . . . With not a doubt lurkin'

And not a soul shirkin'.

Well, well, well!

Well, well, well . . . Uncle Sammy took an eyeful.

Well, well, well . . . Now Hitler's got his hands full.

Well, well, well . . . And can he win? Not by a jugful.

You said a mouth full!

Well, well, well!

Well, well, well . . . Il Duce made a fumble;

Well, well, well . . . His people took a tumble,

Well, well, well . . . And then began to grumble.

Guns began to rumble.

Well, well, well!

Well, well, well . . . Now the Axis is squallin'

Well, well, well . . . 'Cause Italy has fallen

Well, well, well . . . And Stalin ain't stallin'.

You bet he ain't stallin'.

Well, well, well!

Well, well, well . . . Now talkin' 'bout Tojo

Well, well, well . . . (This is strictly for the record)

Well, well, well . . . When we bomb Tokyo,

Page Generalissimo.

Well, well, well!

Well, well, well . . . Please pay strict attention
Well, well, well . . . To what we're gonna mention:
Well, well, well . . . Win the war with Winston!
    Win the war with Winston!
    Well, well, well!
Well, well, well . . . Mr. Roosevelt said it,
Well, well, well . . . I'm certain you have read it,
Well, well, well . . . But we quote: "The Axis on the debit,
    Four Freedoms to our credit."
    Well, well, well,
    Well, well, well!
