GREETINGS

TO OUR STUDENTS, NEW AND OLD, OF KANSAS STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE, PITTSBURG

To our many former students and alumni as well as to those presently on the campus, we bring greetings.

Pittsburg, Kansas, located in a thriving industrial area, is a fitting home for a State College. In KSTC you will find not only a beautiful campus, an expanding building program, an ever widening choice of subjects, but also a college spirit which we trust characterizes a great state institution. Exchange of thought with progressive colleges and universities of the Middle West is encouraged, and educational leaders of national and international renown come to KSTC to lead and lecture. Representatives of other countries are here as teachers and students in the interest of expanding international understanding and good will. The administration, the faculty, the student body, and the people of the community are friendly and cooperative.

Your college life holds a twofold responsibility. The first responsibility is toward yourself. Plan your college program carefully. Study to enlarge your storehouse of useful information; select judiciously from the large offering of well-planned courses; participate in the extensive extracurricular program; make use of the guidance and counseling services that are available to all students; and take advantage of the opportunity to add many to your list of friends. These are offered you during your college attendance here.

The second responsibility is for your college. In identifying yourself with KSTC we believe you have signified that you want to have a part in its development and in perpetuating those distinctive traits that give it standing. In accepting it as yours, you, also, assume a responsibility for its welfare.

We wish for you extended friendships, accumulation of stimulating knowledge, and a growing zest for service as a result of your experiences in KSTC.

REES H. HUGHES, President

TRADITIONS AT K.S.T.C.

Our college, even though it is young, has already developed some traditions which are vital in creating lasting impressions and enjoyable memories among those who enter and leave her doors. These traditions are the essence of school spirit and loyalty, and the knowledge of them will give each student a greater appreciation and understanding of the habits and customs which have grown into traditions on our campus.

The ideals of the founder of the college, R. S. Russ, that the college shall at all times foster and maintain a democratic, friendly spirit; that it shall always be the policy of the institution never to tolerate anything that would fail to conserve and promote democracy of relationships; and that nothing except worthiness, regardless of financial or social status, is necessary for recognition and standing of any student; are still the goals toward which faculty and students strive. These ideas, formulated by President Russ, contributed to by Principal Myers, and strengthened and promoted by the first President, William A. Brandenburg, are being conserved and built upon by President Hughes and the present faculty. The present administration and staff believe that every girl and boy should have an opportunity to receive the type of training which will make them efficient and happy citizens.

One campus custom almost as old as the College itself is Apple Day. This was instituted at the time the appropriation for Russ Hall was passed by the legislature, thus establishing the college as a permanent institution. Senator Porter and Mr. Russ were fined a barrel of apples for lobbying for the appropriation. For the past two years the Pageant of Apple Day by Lena Martin Smith, an alumna, has been presented in convocation. At this time the school history is reviewed, the Apple Story dramatized, and apples furnished by the faculty are passed out to all those present.

Each fall brings Homecoming with its pleasant renewal of friendships, parade of queen candidates and organizational floats, the exciting and colorful football game and half-time activities, followed by the big dance in the gymnasium in the evening. The Feast of the Oval at mid-day gives opportunity for reunion of both students and faculty with old friends.

Each fall at the time of regional meetings of the State Teachers Association, the alumni get together for dinner meetings, where old friends meet and current news of college activities is heard. During the period of Apple Day in the spring, numerous other alumni get-togethers are arranged over the state, and in a number of distant places. One particularly active group is that in Chicago, sparked by Carl Jackson.

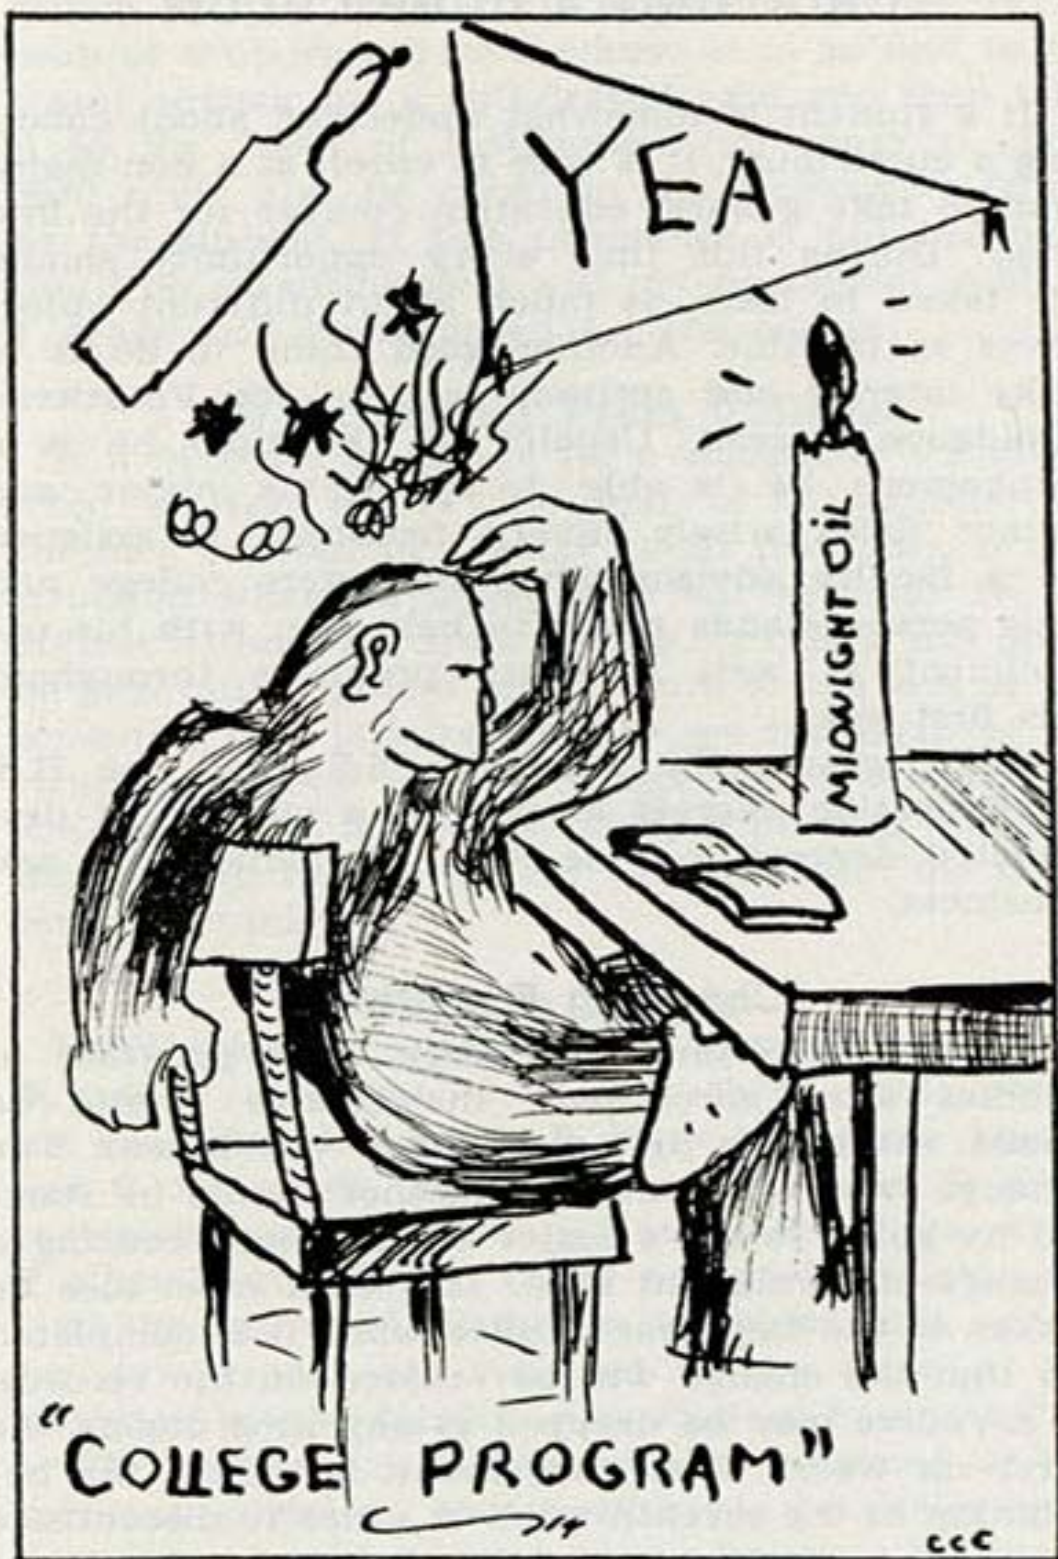

It has become customary for each graduating class to leave a memorial to the school. These memorials include the portrait of President Brandenburg at the head of the marble stairs, several pieces of statuary, the front entrance to the campus, lights in the library, and contributions toward the Student Union Building. With the appearance of workmen, equipment and building tools on the campus in this spring of 1950, the Student Union is becoming a reality after many years of dreams.

The last few years have seen the initiation of another pleasant custom, a faculty dinner in honor of the staff members who have given twenty-five years of service to the institution. This year they were presented a twenty-five year service pin as a part of the Apple Day convocation.

The Christmas season is made especially delightful on the campus by the broadcasting of organ music at intervals during the day from the auditorium in Science Hall; and by the presentation of a musical program with dance interpretations.

The year closes in the spring with a colorful and impressive march about the oval by the graduating classes and faculty in academic regalia. This is followed by the commencement program with granting of degrees.

CHOOSING A CURRICULUM

If a student is somewhat undecided about choosing a curriculum, it is wise to enroll as a non-major and to take general education courses for the first year. During this time every opportunity should be taken to learn as much about different objectives as possible. Another good thing to do is to take interest and aptitude tests in the Vocational Guidance Bureau. Usually by the time he is a sophomore, he is able to select his major and minor fields wisely. Every freshman is assigned to a faculty advisor when he enters college and this person stands ready to help him with his enrollment as well as other problems throughout his first year.

KSTC grants the A.B., the B.S., and the B.S. in Education degrees as well as a number of designated degrees in Fine Arts, Mechanic Arts, and Business.

Changing Enrollment

If it is necessary to change one's program of studies after enrollment, the change should be made within the first week after enrollment. The change from one course to another should be started by going to one's major advisor and securing a change-of-enrollment card. This card must also be taken to the Registrar's Office when it is completed so that the change will be entered on the records.

A course may be dropped at any time during the first six weeks after enrollment, but after the beginning of the seventh week in order to discontinue a course, a student must take a grade of "Wd.P" or "Wd.F". Depending upon whether he is passing or failing at the time. The procedure necessary to drop or withdraw from a course is to go first to his major advisor for a withdrawal card and then take it to the Dean of Instruction for approval. This card must also be taken to the Registrar's Office by the student. If this procedure is not followed, the drop or withdrawal will not be official; and an F grade will be recorded for the course.

Withdrawing From College

If it becomes necessary for a student to withdraw from college before the end of a semester or summer session, he should go to the Dean of Instruction where arrangements will be made for an official withdrawal from college. If this is not done, he gets failing grades on his work at the end of the semester. If it is impossible to see the Dean of Instruction before leaving college, as in the case of serious illness, a request should be sent back to the Dean of Instruction for withdrawal at the earliest opportunity.

Grading System

KSTC uses the letter system of grading, A, B, C, D, and F. A grade of A gives three grade points for each semester hour, B gives two grade points, and C one grade point per semester hour. D gives semester hours of credit but no grade points, while F gives neither credit hours nor grade points.

At the end of the first nine weeks of each semester, low grades are reported to the Dean of Instruction by the faculty. Any student having a "D" or "F" average at midsemester is informed of the fact and urged to confer with his counselor with the view of taking measures to improve his work.

Class Absences

Each instructor keeps account of attendance in his classes and grants excused or unexcused absences. Any student who accumulates unexcused absences in excess of the number of credit hours in the course is dropped from class rolls and may not return to that class unless reinstated by the Dean of Students. If it is necessary for a student to be absent from class because of illness or some other reason beyond his control, he should inform the instructor so that his absence will be excused.

These regulations are for the help and benefit of the student and should be observed carefully.

COLLEGE PUBLICATIONS

The Collegio

The Collegio is the official student newspaper of the College. It is issued each Wednesday during the regular college year and the summer session. The reporters and editors are selected from the journalism classes, for which it serves as an effective laboratory, and its printers and pressmen are students in the printing classes of the College. The purpose of the publication is to give a faithful and complete record of College activities, and consequently it holds much interest for all students and alumni. The Collegio is sent to the libraries of all Kansas high schools.

The Kanza

The Kanza is the College yearbook. It is issued in two sections, one at the end of each semester. It is a book of 160 or more pages artistically arranged and printed in colors. The yearbook portrays College activities. The staff is chosen by the publications committee from students who have special qualifications for the work.

Student Directory

The Student Directory is compiled each fall by the YMCA and sold to students at a nominal price. In addition to the name, address, classification, and telephone number of every student in school, it also indicates where quality merchandise of various sorts can be obtained in Pittsburg.

The Educational Leader

The Educational Leader is published by the faculty of the College, semiannually in November and March. Each issue is the product of four departments and reflects the academic and professional activities being carried on by the respective staffs. Besides the articles, there are columns devoted to specific mention of faculty, alumni, and outstanding activities of the College, both on the campus and in the field.

The Gleaner

The Gleaner is published in October, December, February, and April by the Bureau of Rural Education. Its purpose is to glean from the field of rural education the worthwhile things that are being done and to publish contributions from workers in the field. It is mailed free to all county superintendents, rural, consolidated, and village administrators of the state and, on request to teachers, board members, and patrons.

The Alumnian

The Alumnian is a magazine published in the interest of the alumni. It is issued twice a year, spring and autumn, and is mailed free to Degree graduates who are members of the Alumni Association, and to holders of 60-hour life certificates who have affiliated with the Alumni Association as associate members.

"ACTIVITY PROGRAM"

ACTIVITY PROGRAM

The Kansas State Teachers College is committed to the idea that a college education is not confined to the classroom, that everything that happens to students, both inside and outside the classroom, contributes in one way or another to his education. Therefore, an attempt has been made to systematize and organize these extra-classroom activities so that KSTC students will derive maximum value from them. In this section are listed some of the organizations and activities that are open to students for their benefit and pleasure. The activities program is under the direction of Dr. Eugene E. Dawson, Dean of Students.

Student Council

The Student Council is the student governing body. It is composed of 25 members, including a president chosen by the student body at large from the junior or senior classes, the four class presidents, and one fraternity men's representative, one independent men's representative, one sorority women's representative, and one independent women's representative from each of the four classes, two men representatives from the colored fraternities and two women representatives from the colored sororities.

The Student Council was organized in 1919. Since its organization, it has been given many responsibilities. At present, some of these responsibilities are to appoint student members to all student-faculty committees, to supervise school elections, to present assembly programs, to act upon applications for the establishment of new campus organizations, to establish and maintain the Pep Club, to help with all-school parties, actively to promote student attendance at all school functions and numerous other functions which aid students and faculty alike.

Activity Ticket

The activities program is financed for the most part by the activity tickets which are purchased by both students and faculty. It doesn't take much figuring to realize that the activity ticket is one of the biggest bargains in entertainment, culture, and education available anywhere. Some of the things it buys are:

Admission to all sports and athletic events sponsored by the College.

Admission to all College-sponsored entertainment, lectures, plays, operas, and other musicales.

Admission to the All-School dances and parties.

Admission to debates and oratorical events.

Subscription to THE COLLEGIO during the time you are a student at KSTC.

Departmental Organizations

Many of the clubs listed below have no specific membership requirements other than regular attendance and active interest in the work for which the club exists. These clubs afford opportunities for students to make better social and cultural growth, through wider acquaintance with members of the faculty and other students in their chosen fields than is afforded in the regular classroom. Departmental heads will gladly discuss the aims of these clubs and inform you of any membership restrictions.

CLEVELAND AVE

College Entrance

The formal entrance to the College, on Broadway, adds to the general beauty of the campus. Wide steps lead from the street-level to a flagged terrace that is approximately 40 by 20 feet, and is flanked on either side by a low wall of stone and brick. Seats surrounding the walls make it a popular retreat or resting place. Additional steps lead on up to the wide front walk and the front doors of Russ hall.

The Campus and the Oval

The campus contains approximately 55 acres. Russ hall, which fronts Broadway, sits well back from the street. Other buildings are set close to the streets that border the campus thus forming a large rectangular open space in the center. A wide walk, called the "Oval," completely encircles this open area and connects all the instructional buildings including Porter library.

Inside the oval are lovely shade trees and inviting seats of Carthage stone. All the buildings have foundation plantings of ornamental evergreens; many shrubs make shady nooks; and there are large beds of blooming plants and flowers from early spring to late fall.

College Lake

The College lake is just east of Brandenburg field, and with its landscaped grounds is one of the campus beauty spots. It furnishes a setting suitable for quiet solitude, for companionable strolls along the "lake" shores, for bonfires, athletic rallies, and picnics. Two shelter houses and several outdoor fireplaces have recently been completed to provide additional facilities for picnics and outings.

The Museum

The Museum of Natural Science and History occupies the entire third and fourth floors of Porter library. It contains interesting and valuable collections of zoological, botanical, and paleontological life; mineral and geological specimens; coin and currency collections; war collections; historical materials; exhibits of ethnological and anthropological cultures, and a fine arts gallery.

Astronomical Observatory

The College has an observatory on the roof of Russ hall in which is mounted a ten-inch, equatorial, refracting telescope of good optical and mechanical properties. This telescope is electrically driven and has several features which are usually found only on much larger instruments.

The observatory with its equipment is primarily for work in astronomy and related science courses, but frequent opportunities are given students and the public to use the telescope.

William A. Brandenburg Portrait

A large oil portrait of the late President William A. Brandenburg hangs at the head of the marble stairs in Russ hall and is perpetually lighted. The portrait was a memorial gift by the Senior Class of 1941. It was painted by an art student and graduate of the College, William Bowen, Weir, Kansas.

Honor Roll

The Honor Roll occupies the south wall space of the main lobby in Porter library. Here are recorded the names of the 2552 students of KSTC who served in the armed forces during World War II. Seventy-seven of these are names of women, and 63 are of gold star members.

Trophy Cases

The plaques, cups, and other awards which fill the trophy cases to be found at the entrance to Porter library and on the second floor of the gymnasium bear ample testimony to the prowess of KSTC athletes in all sports. The names of many outstanding athletes of former years are to be found engraved on these trophies, which serve as an inspiration to each new generation of KSTC students.

The Listening Room

Room 205 in Music hall has facilities for playing recordings of both the conventional and long playing types. An ever-growing library of recordings is available in the Music hall office. These may be checked out for use in the Listening Room.

Radio Studio

The radio studio, control room, and recording studio are located on the fourth floor of Russ hall. They contain the most modern equipment and are used both for broadcasting several college programs each week, and as a laboratory for those students enrolled in various radio courses. Although these rooms are constantly in use, visitors are always welcome.

At Your Service

In addition to the regular program of curricular and extracurricular activities, a variety of special services are offered to make your stay at the Kansas State Teachers College more enjoyable and more profitable. Most of these are available free of charge, so use them as much and as often as you wish.

Counseling. The Guidance Bureau, located in Room 119 on the first floor of Russ hall, is designed to help you in planning your activities while at KSTC.

College life is an abrupt change from high-school life, regardless of whether you live in Pittsburg, or have had to secure temporary living quarters so that you may attend school. In high school your program was reasonably well outlined, and not many choices were required. Most of your classmates were friends of long standing, your social life was closely associated with the school activity program, and the feeling of school loyalty growing out of associations with classmates whom you had known for several years, made school life interesting and satisfying.

In KSTC the situation at the beginning of the year is entirely different. You know very few of your classmates. Instead of your comfortable home and the security of having "Dad" and "Mom" around, you probably have a new roommate and a strange landlady. Instead of a course of study that requires few choices, you now have what seems to be hundreds of courses from which to choose.

In high school your program of studies was a simple two or three page affair. In college the catalogue of information on courses and college activities is almost an inch thick and so organized that no one seems to be able to read it, not even the college professors who wrote it.

At the time of enrollment your adviser did everything humanly possible to help you and to make you feel at home. He was definitely handicapped, however, because his contact with you was limited to twenty to thirty minutes.

Add to these conditions such facts as: you are starting in a college program and may not know what areas of learning you want to emphasize in your major program; you have a feeling of frustration because you have to find a job in order to stay in school; you have to learn to budget your money because that is the only way you will have enough money to pay for food for the week; you find yourself in classes that are two to four times as large as they were in high school; you find that assignments are much longer than those to which you have been accustomed; you find what seems to be much keener competition for grades; and you may find your teachers so busy that they do not seem to have time to give you much extra help.

Considering these conditions it isn't any wonder that many become discouraged in spite of all you can do. In reality the wonder is that you succeed as well as you do in finding your way among the strange buildings on the campus, in getting acquainted with classmates, in making new friends with a minimum of help, in adjusting to college teaching methods, and in developing a stable plan of action that can be projected even beyond your college years.

The Guidance Bureau has been established to help you in connection with these many situations.

The counselors at the Guidance Bureau are at your disposal. They will welcome an opportunity to visit with you and try to help you find solutions to the many problems that grow out of your change from high school life to college life with its implications for future activity as a citizen in a democracy.

In addition, the Counselor for Women, Room 203, Russ hall, and the Dean of Students, Room 204, Russ Hall, have had much experience in helping people with problems of this kind, and they are always glad to lend a sympathetic ear to students who want to discuss their problems with them. You may want to discuss such matters with your faculty advisor first, and then talk it over further with these special counselors.

Financial Assistance. It costs money to go to college and sometimes the student's financial plans go awry. The college resources for aiding students financially are not large, but there are some funds available to students who are in need of assistance, both on a long and short term basis. Most of these funds are handled by the Dean of Students and the Financial Secretary, and they can tell you whether you are eligible for loans from these sources or not. There are also some scholarships and prizes available to ease the financial strain of going to college about which you can get information from these same people.

Student Employment. Still another source of financial aid of which a great many students take advantage is part-time employment. A person ought to think a long time before he decides to try to finance any large share of his college education through part-time employment, for going to college is a full-time job in itself. Conferences with advisors and others can be helpful in making a decision on this point. The College maintains an Employment Bureau in Room 202, Russ hall, to help students find part-time jobs while attending college. The College is also interested in helping its graduates find jobs after they have completed work for their degrees, and to this end has established a Placement Bureau located in Room 217, Russ hall. It keeps a file of many different types of employment opportunities. While the majority of requests that come to the Placement Bureau are for teachers, information on many other types of openings is available through this agency. Mr. Hart, the director of the Bureau, is also in a position many times to make suggestions about summer jobs.

Bulletin-Boards. Keep yourself up to date about what is happening on the campus by watching the bulletin-boards which are found in all the buildings. Most of these are located near the entrances to the buildings, with the exception of the main bulletin-board, which is located at the north end of the hall on the second floor of Russ hall. You will find it profitable to pay particular attention to the weekly calendar, copies of which appear in conspicuous places over the campus as well as on the front page of the COLLEGIO each week. If you want to place a notice on any bulletin-board, you will need to obtain approval first from the office of the Dean of Students. The limited amount of bulletin board space makes it necessary to limit the size of posters to 14 by 18 inches.

In addition to these is the bulletin-board situated east of Russ Hall, contributed to the College by Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity.

Mail-Boxes. The student mail-box is located just outside the General Office at the south end of the second floor of Russ hall. You are held responsible for notices directed to you through this mail-box, so it is a good idea to check at least once or twice a week to see if there is anything in it for you. Then, too, you never know when you will have an important letter telling you that your rich uncle has died and left you a million dollars!!

Assembly and Entertainment. One of the most interesting periods of the week comes at ten o'clock each Thursday morning when everyone meets in the College Auditorium for the weekly assembly period. Many different types of programs are presented during the year, and through them you will have an opportunity to get acquainted with the members of the college athletic teams, participate in pep session, see student as well as professional entertainers perform, hear outstanding speakers, and find out what's "cookin'" on the campus in general. The Convocations Committee, which is in charge of assemblies, is constantly on the lookout for student talent, so if you can sing, play an instrument, dance, act, or perform otherwise, don't keep your light hidden under a bushel. The weekly assembly period is one of the best places to meet other students, learn about life on the campus, and keep yourself informed about what is going on; so establish the assembly habit early. There may be an occasional program that isn't so hot, but you can never tell when there will be one that you will be sorry you missed.

Kansas State Teachers College students have the opportunity to attend many other good entertainment and educational programs during the year also. Just to mention a few that appeared on the campus last year, there were the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra, Cornelia Otis Skinner, Frankel-Ryder Dancers, the United States Navy Band, and Margaret Truman. In addition to such talent as this, the Theta Alpha Phi players (campus dramatic organization) always present a couple of good plays each year, three or four good variety shows featuring student talent are produced by various student organizations, and the Music Department puts on a host of good programs, which included Handel's Messiah, with nationally known soloists, and the operetta, "The Chocolate Soldier." And this is not to mention the monthly all-school dances with a good band every time. As a matter of fact, Clyde McCoy, played for the Kanza Ball last spring—need we say more? That activity ticket which finances all these things in addition to all athletic events so the they don't cost you an extra penny, is by all odds the biggest bargain in entertainment available anywhere.

Housing. It is just as important to have a roof over your head at college as it is any place else, and to help you find one that doesn't leak and that you like, the College maintains a Housing Bureau in Room 202, Russ hall. Generally speaking, the "housing problem" that you have heard so much about is still a problem only for married couples and families at Kansas State Teachers College; however, the College has 71 housing units for veterans with families and 23 apartments for married couples without children, and these with the housing facilities that are available in town make it possible for almost everyone to find a place to live. Willard Hall, the women's dormitory, has space for 111 women, while the Men's Dormitory will take care of 74 men. Applications for housing in the College units and apartments and the Men's Dormitory should be made to Mrs. DeFord, the director of the Housing Bureau. Mrs. Cockerill, housemother at Willard Hall, receives applications for rooms there.

YWCA Book Exchange. New books and other school supplies are for sale at the bookstores located around the campus. When you are in the market for a second-hand book or have a book you want to sell, the YWCA Book Exchange on the fourth floor of Russ hall is a good place to go. They charge only 15 per cent of the sale price of each book sold as a sales commission on such books. Some of the off-campus bookstores also buy and sell second hand books, of course.

Veteran's Counseling. An office with which veterans come in contact early is the Office of Veterans' Affairs, directed by Professor Matthews. This office, which is located in Room 212, Mechanic Arts Building, handles all phases of veterans' affairs on the campus. Here veteran students are required to file their certificates of eligibilty for educational benefits under the G. I. Bill, which is the first step in their enrollment. Here, too, are filed interruptions of training, reports on change of marital status, change of address, inquiries about subsistence checks, and notices of change in educational objectives. Orders for books and supplies are also issued from this office.

Kansas State Teachers College is also fortunate in having a VA Guidance Center Office on the campus, in Room 115 at the north end of the first floor in Russ hall. The services of this office are available to all veterans in this part of Kansas, and if you aren't sure about your rights and benefits as a veteran, don't hesitate to go in and see

Mr. Akers, who is in charge. In conjunction with the College Guidance Bureau, vocational counseling and testing are provided veterans who have problems relative to the selection of a vocation and their college course. Some of the matters on which the Center is prepared to help you are: change of schools, securing supplemental certificates of eligibility, interruption of training, obtaining delayed subsistence checks, filing disability, medical, and dental claims, insurance service, such as reinstatements, conversions, and applications for new insurance; and information concerning loan guarantees, hospitalization, and home care. A VA personal counselor who visits the campus periodically to advise veterans concerning their personal problems also works through this office.

Veterans are especially invited to avail themselves of the services of the Guidance Bureau located near the VA Guidance Center Office, also. As is pointed out elsewhere in this section of the Handbook, this agency, which is open to all students of the College, has been established to help choose a vocation. It is equipped to administer all types of aptitude and interest tests, and can be of particular assistance to disabled veterans in the selection of a vocation.

Porter Library. One of the musts on the campus here is the College Library. The best way to become acquainted with it is to go over and use it. You'll find the staff and student assistants eager to answer your questions and help you in every way possible. Students, faculty, and members of the college community (not to mention that of Pittsburg itself) may use the Library and borrow books. While the collection consists mainly of books, there are some non-book materials that are available for special occasions. A certain number of books are unusually valuable or difficult to replace. These are—except for rarely granted special permission—used in the Library. Remember, of course, that the staff members are happy to have you use the Library rooms for study of your own books as well as the Library's. Don't forget, either, that others will be studying with you and need your cooperation in keeping the rooms quiet for study purposes.

All students and library patrons are welcome to go into the stacks. (Sometimes a section or a floor is restricted for use by the general public, but with proper permission even these may be visited and examined for necessary material) There's real advantage in being able to examine books on the shelves, so learn how to use the card catalogue and locate books on your subjects. If you don't find the book you want, ask at the main loan desk to see whether it is checked out or on reserve. If it's a reserve book, ask for it downstairs. Since its use there is limited to short periods by each patron, you should be certain of getting it within a reasonable time. When you don't know how to find material on your subject or have reference questions of any sort, go to the large desk in the main reading room. The reference librarian there will be glad to work with you on your problems. Unbound magazines will be found in the periodical room.

Porter Library is open from 7:50 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, and from 8:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. on Saturdays. During school vacations it is open from 8:00 to 11:00 a.m. and 12:30 to 5:00 p.m. only (week days) and from 8:00 a.m.

until noon Saturdays, except for New Year's, Decoration Day, July Fourth, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas.

You'll have greater success in the Library, as everywhere else, if you know what is expected of you. Here are a few hints. Books at the reserve desk may be borrowed during Library hours for a two-hour period, to be used in the building. You may check reserve books out for overnight use one hour before closing time. If you do so, you are to return the books to the reserve desk by 9:00 a.m. the following or next open morning. There are no fine systems in operation in Porter Library, and you are free to borrow or check out as many books as you feel you need. Books from the main desk can be renewed twice regularly either in person or by phone without bringing the book in. The Library's most important rule is this:

IF YOU HAVE A BOOK OVERDUE, YOU ARE NOT ENTITLED TO CHECK OUT ANOTHER UNTIL THE ONE OVERDUE IS RETURNED.

Help With Your Reading. It has been estimated that a person gets 90 per cent of his information in college from books, which means that the ability to read rapidly and well is an important factor in college success. If you feel that you need help with your reading, you will be interested in the developmental reading course offered by the Department of Education and Psychology. The course lasts for only six weeks and entails no work other than attendance at the class three times a week. It will be offered both the first and second six-weeks' periods of the fall semester. It carries no credit and no fees are charged.

Your Health Service. If you are to achieve the purposes for which you came to college and enjoy fully the many benefits and pleasures afforded by life on the college campus, guard your health. One of the greatest tragedies that could befall any young man or woman is a dissipated body, or mind.

A well equipped Student Health Center for your use is maintained from the health fees which all students pay. It is located just inside the front entrance to Science Hall. Here you will find a nurse on duty during school hours, and a physician at stated hours each school day. They are here for your service and counsel, but they can give neither unless you let them know your needs. Remember, you pay for it anyway.

At the first sign of illness (aches, pains, sniffles, rash, fever, and the like) or if you have any questions about health conditions, go to the Health Center, or see your family physician, if you prefer. If you are too sick to go, have someone report for you as early as possible. The Health Service cannot provide calls to your room by the school physician, or pay for the services of a private physician, or nurse. An allowance of $3.50 per day for a maximum of ten days per semester is allowed for hospitalization of a student needing such service and who has paid the regular Health Fee for the semester in which the hospitalization is needed.

A health inventory, i.e., a thorough physical examination, is required of every student at the time he enters college. Arrangements for this are a part of your enrollment, and you will be advised accordingly at the time you enroll. Failure to report for this examination at the time assigned to you constitutes sufficient cause for withholding your credits.

Policies and Regulations Relating to Student Social Life

Kansas State Teachers College has not set up very many rules and regulations to govern the conduct of its students, but we do have a few and some of them are listed here for your benefit:

Scheduling Social Functions

1. All College social functions must be scheduled on the College Calendar, which is maintained in the office of the Dean of Students.

2. Events will be scheduled only upon the presentation of a social permit card signed by the Dean of Students. These cards may be procured in the office of the Dean of Students.

All social permit cards shall be signed and in the office of the Dean of Students 72 hours before the time for the event. Failure to comply with this regulation will subject the organization to disciplinary action.

3. Places for holding activities will be assigned in the office of the Dean of Students.

4. All social events are to be scheduled within the city limits, except by special permission from the Social Committee.

5. No social events shall be scheduled on Sunday, day, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday nights while school is in session, with the following exceptions:

(a) Any organization may schedule one open house per year on any night of the week.

(b) Dinner meetings that close by 8:30 o'clock may be scheduled on any night of the week.

(c) Picnics over by 8:00 p.m. may be scheduled once each semester by any organized group on any evening.

Hours

6. Since the policies governing student rooming houses specify that closing hours for women students will be 12:00 p.m. on Friday and Saturday nights, all week-end parties shall close by 11:30 p.m., with the following exception:

Formal parties may be held until 12:00 p.m., and closing hours in women's houses following such events may be extended to 12:30 a.m. This applies only to those attending the formal.

7. All scheduled social affairs attended by both men and women are to be sponsored by both a man and a woman faculty member, both of whom must sign the social permit card.

8. Any sponsor or other faculty member signing a social permit card must attend that particular function, or provide a faculty member approved by the Dean of Students as a substitute who will be present and who will sign the party permit card.

Dances

9. Student organizations may have not more than one formal party per semester. (Formal parties are understood to be those where formal dress is worn).

10. There may not be more than one Pan-Hellenic formal party and not more than one Inter-Fraternity formal party during any college year.

11. All classes are limited to one dance per year.

Expenses

12. The maximum expenditure for any informal social function other than those scheduled by class organizations is limited to $10.

13. Except by special permission of the Social Committee, the expenses per capita for formals shall not exceed $5.

14. Any expenditure of College funds must be approved in advance by the Dean of Students and Business Manager of the College.

15. Orchestras and the expense attached to their use are subject to the approval of the Dean of Students.

Drinking

16. Kansas State Teachers College at Pittsburg does not tolerate the consumption or possession of alcoholic beverages at any College function of whatever nature on or off the campus; in or on the premises of any organized house; nor the possession or consumption by students in their rooms in private residences.

Conduct

17. Each organization or group sponsoring and/or participating in a College activity of any kind is directly responsible to the College for orderly conduct of its members; however, this does not relieve the individual who represents the College of the responsibility to the College for his own orderly conduct.

Attendance

18. Regular all-school parties may be attended by bona fide college students on presentation of activity tickets. Members of the Alumni Association will be admitted upon presentation of membership cards. Former students and guests may be admitted upon the presentation of guest cards secured from the Dean of Students.

Benefit Parties

19. No benefit party by any organization on the campus may be given without approval of the Dean of Students.

THE SCHOOL SONGS

"Crimson and Gold," which is the official "Alma Mater" song honoring the School colors, was written in 1910 by Lena Martin, a freshman, who is now editor of The Alumnian, and wife of Dr. Ralph H. Smith, a member of the College faculty.

Crimson and Gold

On the plains of southeast Kansas
'Neath an ever cloudless sky,
Far away from surging ocean
And the storm-bird's plaintive cry,
With her prairies rolling westward
Where the Redman once roamed free;
With her ensign proudly waving,
Stands our dear K.S.T.C.

CHORUS:

Let us greet the Gold and Crimson
With a strong and cordial cheer;
Let our hearts be ever loyal
To our Alma Mater dear!
Let her worthy sons and daughters
For our College proudly stand,
Shielding zealously her honor
In one brave unbroken band;
Let them hold aloft her banner
With a stout and steady arm,
Rallying her children round her
From the city, town, and farm.

The Victory Song

K.S.T.C., Fight for your college,
Come and join the fray;
Pass that ball around for a touchdown,
And we'll win this game today.
Fight! Fight! Fight, for we are no laggards,
Make them pay and pay;
And when this game is over
We'll shout the whole world over
Pittsburg, Yea!

CHAPTER VI

THE first of the three great questions which the world is now asking is, "What is the future of the world?" The second is, "What is the future of the United States?" The third is, "What is the future of the individual?"

THE first of these questions is the most important, for it is the future of the world that determines the future of the United States and the future of the individual.

The second question is the most difficult, for it is the future of the United States that determines the future of the world and the future of the individual. The third question is the most important, for it is the future of the individual that determines the future of the world and the future of the United States.

THE FUTURE OF THE WORLD

THE first of the three great questions which the world is now asking is, "What is the future of the world?" The second is, "What is the future of the United States?" The third is, "What is the future of the individual?"
