Dragons Turn Tables on the Chanute Squad

PURPLE CAGER SCORE A DECISIVE VICTORY, 38-9

Second S. E. K. Win

Morganites Take Early Lead and the Murphymen Never Threaten To Overtake It

These 1930 Purple Dragons have established a custom in three of their games so far and that is to repulse those teams, which defeated the Dragons of a year ago. The Alumni was the first on whom they started this precedent, Parsons was next, falling 23-18, and their latest victim, Chanute fell before them to the tune of 38-9, last Friday night at Chanute. A quaint custom, some might call it, but we like it very much.

Last year, it was the Murphymen that gave the Morganites their first setback in league competition, but this year, the Dragons turned the tables and did a very neat job of it. It marked their second S. E. K. win and a smashing conquering of Chanute. It was the worst score piled up on a Chanute team in recent years and the defeat was truly humiliating.

Dragons Play Is Excellent

Not only offensively, but also defensively the Dragons' play showed signs of good work. With McCarty, Gutteridge, and Russell bearing the brunt of the scoring, McDonald and Mueller held down the attack on the Purple basket. The Neosho Countians were able to score only three field goals and earned the remainder of points from the free throw line.

Coach D. H. Murphy started five second string men and Coach C. H. Morgan's five took good advantage of this and started the scoring. Gutteridge opened the evening with a short shot and soon the Dragon crew had five points. Here Chanute sent in new men, but the Purple treated them rather unmercifully adding four more points to their total during the first quarter, while holding the Murphymen to a single free throw.

But the Dragons were not content with the lead they possessed. McCarty and Gutteridge were making good some of their shots and at the same time they were holding the opposition to their same score. At the half they had a fourteen point advantage, the score being 15-1.

But This Time It's Different

Once last year, on the same court, with the same number of points, one, and at the end of the first half, Chanute was leading Fort Scott in a game which they finally won 13-5. This year with the same small total, they were far behind and with small hopes of overcoming the Dragons.

Again the Dragons were not to be denied and with McCarty and Gutteridge leading the attack, they amassed 11 more points to their total and eased up enough to allow Chanute to score three points during the third quarter.

With Russel getting the tip off easily the Dragons worked in perfect unison, and during the last quarter annexed twelve more points. Chanute

JOURNALISTS HOLD CONTEST

Quill and Scroll Sends Material For Journalism Class Writing

The Quill and Scroll, national honorary society for the high school journalists, is conducting a national contest and any school that is a member of the Quill and Scroll may participate.

The material for the contest was sent to each school in sealed envelopes in which all of the subjects to be written upon were contained. No one knew the nature of the subjects until time to write. Everyone was given the privilege to write if he wished to, Thursday morning, when the envelopes were opened in class.

The four subjects for editorial writing were chosen by Ruby Brous, Wilbur Waite, John Laney, Marylois Moberg, Morris Matuschka, and Bill Colliot. Features were written by George Stuessi, Dean Dyer, and Ione Brunetti.

These "efforts" will be judged by the English department. One of the editorials and one of the features will be chosen and sent to the Quill and Scroll contest; the others will be used in the Booster.

Hutchinson Leads Assembly Discussion

Open forum meeting held to consider "What is worthwhile Reading Matter."

Mr. Hutchinson invited all students interested in learning what really makes worthwhile reading matter to assemble in the auditorium at the third period Friday. An open discussion of the matter was conducted in which the principal asked the students to present their ideas on the subject.

"What are we going to read?" asked the speaker. He then stated "The greatest problem in education today is to get the people to think correctly on current matters. Who will decide what is right?"

Personal Experiences

Mr. Hutchinson told of some of his experiences when he taught school. He stated that in one school system in which he taught one member of the school board was unable to read or write, but was an intelligent person who had accumulated a moderate amount of wealth even though he had no education. The speaker then asked, "Why read at all?" However, he concluded that there were exceptions to all rules.

The assembly then enumerated the daily, weekly, and monthly publications which they had read and considered educational reading matter. Among these are our city papers, the Kansas City papers, newspapers published in larger cities as St. Louis, Chicago, New York, and Boston. Then the weekly magazines were discussed; a few of these were: The Saturday Evening Post, Capper's Weekly, Liberty, Colliers, and the Christian Science Monitor. Mr. Hutchinson noted the fact that the end. Other monthly magazines of interest are Popular Mechanics, The Scientific American, The Forum, World's Work, The Century, Current History, and The National Geographic. "The latter is one of the greatest educational magazines," stated the principal, "because of its accurate content of current matters and the most illustrative pictures which in themselves are very educational. The Literary Digest is a very readable magazine although it is not so popular among students." Mr. Hutchinson explained that the worthiness of this magazine is due to the fact that it strives to present all-current literature in condensed form.

Plan to Meet Again

Due to the fact that a large number of students seemed interested in such discussions the principal suggested that the students be thinking of the matters which play such an important part in the lives of all people and to they present their ideas in the later meeting.

Finally, current literature was discussed and it was pointed out how very important it is for all students to be diligent in such reading, especially, from a historical standpoint, and also the thought that the students of today will be the citizens of tomorrow.

NON-DECISION DEBATE HELD

A no decision debate was held Monday evening, January 27, with college high. Both the affirmative and the negative teams debated.

This debate gave practice to both teams of debaters. Ruth Oskins and Pat Kelly upheld the high school affinity. The P.H.S. negative was taken by Irene Bertha Schlanger and Ruby Brous.

Tom Kelly of the college debate squad is the coach of the College high debaters.

Juniors Race With Seniors in Honor Roll

MANY STUDENTS STRIVE TO ATTAIN THIS HONOR

Eleven Make All A's

Number of Students Who Did Superior Work in First Semester

The seniors have led the honor roll for the last two six weeks, but this time the juniors have also come to the front. They tied with the seniors for the six weeks honor roll, both having twenty-one students on it. For the term honor roll the juniors even surpassed the seniors by the slight margin of one. The juniors having seventeen on it, and the seniors sixteen. Anyone taking only three subjects is not eligible for the honor roll.

The seniors that made the honor roll for the term are: Louise Fitzgibbons, 3 A's 2 B's; Christine Ellis, 4 A's; Margaret Stewart, 3 A's 1 B; Marguerite Dixon, 4 A's 1 B; Oren Mc Mahon, 4 A's; Nida Cinnatto, 4 A's; Ruth Stamm, 3 A's 1 B; Ruby Brous, 2 A's 2 B's; Ione Brunetti, 5 A's; Arnold Irwin, 3 A's 1 B; John Laney, 2 A's 2 B's; and Emma Revia, 3 A's 2 B's.

The juniors making it for the term are: Beatrice Logan, 2 A's 2 B's; Mary Adele Brinn, 5 A's; Valerie Graham, 4 A's 1 B; Mirza Shelton, 2 A's 2 B's; Frederica Theis, 3 A's 2 B's; Alice Miller, 2 A's 2 B's; Remo Tissot, 2 A's 2 B's; Opal Sipes, 2 A's 2 B's; Marjorie Burr, 2 A's 2 B's; Ellsworth Weaver, 3 A's 1 B; Mary Frances Fleming, 3 A's 2 B's; Billy Biles, 2 A's 2 B's; Ruth Evans, 4 A's 1 B; Mary Konek, 3 A's 2 B's; Eunice Morgan, 3 A's 1 B; Mardell Wilson, 3 A's 2 B's, and Pete Farabi, 5 A's.

The sophomores who made the grades are: Lois Hallacy, 4 A's 1 B; Ruth Askins, 4 A's 1 B; Dorothy Ann Crews, 4 A's 1 B; Nellie Howard, 3 A's 2 B's; Jennie Ortaldo, 3 A's 2 B's; Edna White, 2 A's 2 B's; Vertie Hume, 2 A's 2 B's; Carmen Breneman, 5 A's; Myrtle Buckley, 2 A's 2 B's; Rosie Hensley, 3 A's 1 B; Helen Magie, 4 A's, and Esther Simion, 2 A's 1 B.

Only one of the few freshmen enrolled at Pittsburg high school made the honor roll. Anna Zagar is the distinguished one with 2 A's 2 B's.

We have one top graduate that has made the honor roll for both the semester and the six weeks. She is Elsie Breeding, who has made 4 A's both times.

The list of those on the six weeks' honor roll is a little larger than that of the term. The list of seniors includes: Ruth Higdon, 3 A's 1 B; Bama Brand, 2 A's 2 B's; Louise Fitzgibbons, 5 A's; Christine Ellis, 4 A's; Margaret Stewart, 3 A's 1 B; Marguerite Dixon, 3 A's 1 B; Mildred Frazier, 3 A's; Irene Bertha Schlanger, 5 A's; Marie Usher, 4 A's 1 B; Oren McMahon, 4 A's; Nida Cinnatto, 4 A's; Ruth Stamm, 3 A's 1 B; Ruby Brous, 4 A's; Ione Brunetti, 5 A's; Arnold Irwin, 4 A's; John Laney, 2

THREE KINGS—QUEENS SELECTED FROM EACH CLASS

Faculty in Charge

Isabel Falchetto Leads Devotions and Clyde Kerley Entertains With a Flute Solo

A chapel was held Tuesday, January 28, 1930 for the purpose of introducing the kings and queens and for the official starting of the Purple and White contest.

Don Gutteridge, business manager of the annual, made a talk in which he stated that this was a senior project; in order to make this successful, it requires the support and cooperation of all the classes. He also informed the student body that the price of the Purple and White would be $1.50 instead of $1.25 in this way the business men will not be asked for donations as they have been in past years. Don then introduced the presidents of the classes who, in turn, presented their kings and queens.

John Richard Schafer, president of the sophomore class, said that the Sophomores were willing to cooperate and play fair, but they were sure to win. He then introduced their queens, Jane Ann Hamilton, Ruby Fulton, and Margaret Ryan; and kings, Bob George, Alfred Albertino, and Joe Wilson.

Next came the Juniors with Frank Gavin as their leader. Frank Gavin stated that the contest might as well stop because the Juniors had already won. He presented their queens, Mary Konek, Ruth House, and Constance Simion; and kings, Pat Kelly, Jack Stangland, and Dudley Dixon.

Then last, but not least by any means, came the Seniors. Their President, Bill Colliot, had his speech prepared in food form. Bill is a very good orator and it is only natural that he could give this oration perfectly. The president thanked the Juniors and Sophomores for entertaining the students, and told them that they should have seen the pep the class of '30 had Florence Sears, Ione Burris, and Maymie Prael; and kings, Dean Dyer, Dan in '26. He then introduced their queens, Towell, and George Stuessi.

Mr. Hutchinson, principal, stated that this annual requires much time, money, and work and he requested that the students have their pictures taken so that the annual would represent everyone.

Don Gutteridge then announced that it was about time for the contest to start. Fifteen seconds, later a shot was heard. This was the sign of the official opening of the Purple and White contest.

Isabel Falchetto had charge of the devotions. After which Miss Ellis led the student body in the singing of our school song. Next was a flute solo by Clyde Kerley, who was accompanied by Mary Adele Brinn.

Each class seemed to be abounding in pep and had their yell leaders to

Pittsburg High Debaters Win Double Victory

IOLA AND CHANUTE CONQUERED IN SECOND ROUND

Mrs. Steele is Coach

Emil Menchetti, Leonard Brown, Ruby Brous, and Irene Bertha Schlanger Debate

Pittsburg captured a double victory in the second round of the South East Kansas league debate. The affirmative team won a 2 to 1 decision at Iola, and the negative team won a 3 to 0 decision at home.

The negative debate team of Pittsburg high met the Chanute affirmative in verbal conflict in the high school library Tuesday, January 28. The question argued was the state question. "Resolved that the installment plan of buying personal property as practiced in the United States is both socially and economically desirable."

The affirmative team was upheld by Bernice Anderson and Waneta Danials of Chanute, Kansas. The negative Pittsburg debaters were Irene Bertha Schlanger and Ruby Brous.

The decision issued by Mr. Mitchell of Girard, Mr. Kelley, and Mr. Lytton of K. S. T. C. was unanimously in favor of the negative team of Pittsburg.

Affirmative Debates in Iola

The affirmative team which is composed of Emil Menchetti and Leonard Brown, journeyed to Iola. They were accompanied by Mrs. Steele, debate coach, Pat Kelley and Ruth Merlyn Oskins, members of the debate squad. This debate was also on the state question. The judges decision granted the victory to Pittsburg in a two to one decision.

In the first round of debates the negative team composed of Ruby Brous and Clyde Kerley traveled to Parsons when they were defeated. The affirmative team met the Coffeyville negative in the auditorium here. They were also defeated.

Two Rounds Remain

This is the second round of the next league debates. There are two more rounds. The next will be held Tuesday, January 2. The negative teams travel and the affirmative debate at home. Pittsburg affirmative will meet Columbus at home, and the negative will journey to Independence. The members of the squad who will represent P. H. S. has not as yet been selected by Mrs. Steele, coach.

The final round is a duel debate with Fort Scott. The affirmative team will go to that city, while their negative team will come here.

PARENT TEACHERS WILL MEET

"Character Education" Is Subject of Open Forum Discussion

The Parent-Teachers association will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening, February 4, in the high school auditorium at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting will be opened by organization and election of officers. This will be followed by an open forum discussion of the evening's theme, "Character Education," with Principal J. L. Hutchinson as general chairman.

The subject will be viewed from two angles: that of the parent and that of the school.

"How Should We, As Mothers, Provide for Character Development in the Home," will be discussed under the leadership of Mrs. E. D. Axton. This same topic from the father's standpoint will also be considered. The speaker is to be supplied later.

Messrs. Hartford and Huffman will lead the discussion from the high school viewpoint with Mr. Huffman talking on "Ductless Glands in Their Relationship to the Adolescent and Character Development," and Mr. Hartford on "The Practicality of Character Education in Our School."

Lois Sears Returns To School

Lois Sears, who has just recovered from an operation, is back in school. She has been absent about four weeks. She is a member of Miss Palmer's home room. During her illness Lois received many cards and visits from the student body and also the teachers. But she says that she is very glad to be back, and we are very glad to have her.

"WE ALL HAVE FACTS ENOUGH!"

"We all have facts enough; what we need is the heat that dissolves the facts."

Ralph Waldo Emerson was the original writer of the above statement, and to find out what he was driving toward, we need only to delve a little further into our learning. Our teachers are here to help us use our books and get "the heat that dissolves the facts."

Why come to school? It costs money, good money which could be used for many other worth-while things such as churches, paving our streets, improving our cities, maintaining institutions for unfortunates, etc. You answer that we go to school in order that we may learn to better fit ourselves to cope with the great problems of today's and tomorrow's business world.

If we are to get the best out of our school life, both from a social and "book-learning" standpoint we must plan and dig deeper into our books when the time comes and play when the time for play comes.

The writers of our text books gathered the facts and put them between covers for us. However, it is entirely up to us whether we are going to waste our parents' and their fellow townspeople's money or whether we are going to show them that we appreciate what is being done for us by studying and dissolving the facts from the books and later using them. This is what this school of ours is kept up for, and the least we can do is to "dissolve the facts" and apply them to ourselves.

BEHAVIOR IN HIGH SCHOOL

Behavior is one of the principal assets which a high school student should possess to make himself outstanding and distinguishable among the other students of any institution of learning. Forty percent of the students in P. H. S. are frequently seen in the corridors chasing someone else because he hit him. This is "Kid" play. "Horseing" around is a frequent expression used for this kind of play.

More often, students are seen trying to give someone else a "Charley horse." This so called "Charley horse" can cause an injury which can put a life mark on any individual.

Behavior in class rooms is the place where a student is most clearly marked. If a student is boisterous in any room, he is soon on the teachers' mind as to what kind of pupil he is. One of the requirements of the National Honor Society is for a candidate to have leadership.

Other students look up to the person as if he were a superior person.

HERE'S TO OUR FOOTBALL TEAM

Fickle favor turns from the grid to the basketball court. The goal supplants the touchdown in the news of the day, but the students of P. H. S. will not forget the Purple Dragons of the '29 football season Glorious in victory or defeat, they remain heroes in spite of season or feature of the moment.

"You are beaten to earth?"

Well, well, what's that?

Come up with a smiling face.

It's nothing against you to fall down flat,

But to lie there—that's disgrace.

The harder you're thrown, why

The higher you bounce;

Be proud of your blackened eye.

It's no the fact that you're licked that counts;

It's how did you fight, and why?"

Edmund Vance Cook

Here's to our Purple Dragons, who upheld the standard of our school on the gridiron in 1929!

The journalism students in Garden City, Kansas are conducting a newspaper contest in their own school. Some of the points by which the exchange papers are to be judged are best head-lines, news stories, interviews, features stories, etc. We patiently await their decisions concerning our own Booster.

—University Daily Kansan

The Ark Light, Arkansas City, Kansas, recently held a contest to determine the most popular name among the girls. Yes, you place. You guessed it—Mary, first; Ruth and Helen, for second place.

"Horses for Lizzies"

The local dray-horses are coming into their own again since the recent deep snow. Students are forsaking their rattling lizzies for the horse-drawn sleigh. Parking problems are also avoided due to the animals' capacity to stand anywhere on the front lawn. Incidentally there are now laws against hitching sleds to horse-drawn vehicles.

Two Thousand Years Ago Aesop Said

"Silence is golden, but gold talks."

"Beauty is only skin deep."

"Where there's a will there's a law suit."

"Early to bed, early to rise, leaves your girls for the other guys."

"A stitch in time saves embarrassment."

"Beauty is only skin deep—most of us ought to be skinned."

We see in the Paola High School Reporter that Mr. Montgomery, the principal, has troubles with tardy pupils as does Mr. Hutchinson. Here is an excuse given by a senior boy (notice its originality.)

Mr. Montgomery:—tardiness this morning is again attributable to his penchant for work. Please excuse once more. His numerous tardinesses no doubt recall to your mind the old jingle.

"A dollar, a dollar, A ten o'clock scholar, What makes you come so soon? You used to come at ten o'clock, But now you come at noon."

He is a most original boy, like a Monday morning excuse.

JOURNALISTS ELECT STAFF

Officers Will Hold Positions This New Semester

The Journalism class held an election Monday, January 27, to elect a new staff for this semester.

Leslie Clapham was re-elected editor-in-chief. The new assistant editor is Dan Tewell. Eleanor Ross and Lois Smart are the make-up editors. Dean Dyer was elected business manager. Morris Matuschka is his assistant. The position of advertising managers is filled by Charles Rimmer and Howell Phillips. Marylois Moberg was elected circulation manager.

The position of sports editor is handled by George Stuessi, Wilbur Waite being the assistant. Isabel Falchetto is the girls sports writer. The news editor is Genevieve Russell. Shirley Bell Saunders was elected to the staff as reporter for the departments. Coila Martin will have charge of the exchanges. Letha Mae Ware was elected for the personals, and Ella Sken will be head of the features. The reporters are as follows: John Laney, Arnold Irwin, Glenn Briggs, Ione Brunetti, Bessie Hill, Ruby Brous, Bill Colliot, Helen McGlothlin, and Claribel Carson.

NINTH BOOSTER TOUR

All aboard! Everybody ready? Our Ninth Booster tour will carry us through the front door. We turn to our left down the hall and into Miss Jones's English room.

At the back of the room hangs a picture, "Autumn," which was painted by Mauve. Mauve was a Dutch landscape painter who closely resembled Millet. This famous picture has a contemporary called "Spring."

In the picture entitled "Spring," a herd of sheep are painted coming toward us; in the picture "Autumn," the sheep are painted going away from us. Thus, in the "Spring" they are being driven to the pasture, and in "Autumn" they are being driven home.

This picture adds very much to the attractiveness and neatness of this room, and everyone, when he has a chance, should go in and look at this painting.

Farner Has New Scholar

A certain cute dog dearly loves to visit Miss Farner's class room. Now who can blame it? It goes in there and is petted and made over by everyone from the esteemed pedagogue, Miss Farner, down to the meekest Sophie. It surely knows where it will receive good treatment for everytime it gets into the building it immediately hastens to Miss Farner's room.

When the grade cards came out last Wednesday, many of them looked like the "Melody in F."

Some of these pupils who grew so musical in their grades should see if they could not reach "high C" or even "B" or "A." (Are these last two musical notes?)

The famous team of "Moran and Mack," the "Two Black Crows" has at last gone on the rocks. It seems that one of the 'crows' (Mack) was 'robin' the other. This other (Moran) has started to 'raven' about it and as he left he said, "I'll sue you later."

Calvin Coolidge, ex-president of the United States, has contracted to write a history of the U. S. in not more than five-hundred words. We thought that when he started to write for a magazine at one dollar a word that he had lost the desire for economy but if he completes his history we will admit our mistake.

In one of the grade schools a small girl tried to tell a teacher which part of her work she liked best. She said, "I like to study 'parallelopie-plates'." Another girl said, "That word isn't 'parallelopie-plates' it's 'parallelopie-pans'."

Why worry about this disarmament conference in England? How would China, for instance, let us know that she didn't like something that we had done? No one over here could understand a Chinaman or read his writing either.

Horses were frozen in their tracks out in Wyoming during this last cold spell. They ought to provide chains for the horses.

LEEKA'S ROOM ORGANIZE

One of the first home room organizations for the new semester was completed last Thursday by Miss Leeka's home room.

The president of this home room for the last semester of the year is Alice Miller; vice-president, Lois Hallacy; secretary-treasurer, Opal Sipes. The Booster reporter is Opal Frasier; the song leader, Margaret Hislop. A program committee was chosen with Lois Wyman acting as chairman. She will be assisted by Jane Dickey and Helen McClemens. This home room is planning for the new semester. They also elected a Student Council representative and alternate, Beatrice Logan is the former and Hazle Rogers, the latter.

Senior High Receives Series of Posters

Mr. Babson, Great Authority on Economic Problems, Is Originator of Telling Mottoes

Many students have seen the posters placed in the hall on the second floor and have wondered what they are for.

These posters are of a series published by the Babson Institute. Mr. Babson is considered a recognized authority on economic problems. His predictions in most every case have been found to be true. By making a study of these problems, Mr. Babson has become acquainted with every detail and is capable of publishing such works.

These posters are put in a great many schools to develop good, sound thinkers of students and develop their attitudes. Several of these slogans, such as the one in the hall, "A Good Sport is the Fellow Who Makes the Best of It When He Gets the Worst of It," applies to nearly every one. Such sayings as the above are only a sample of what the others in the series are like. Mr. Babson spent a great deal of time in this kind of work. These posters are worth a second thought. If every student in high school would give his time to learn one of these posters so that he could recite it, he would be making himself an outstanding pupil.

The Board of Education has secured this series of posters so as to further carry out the plans of Mr. Babson. The Student Council, sponsored by Miss Farner, is backing the poster proposition.

Study History of Costume

For the last six or eight weeks the Clothing V class has been making a very interesting survey of the history of costume. The pupils began with the primitive peoples and discussed their form of costume; then the Egyptian costume, which is really the foundation of the origin of modern dress was studied. The course in costume history will trace the costume from ancient times through all the centuries down to the present time.

Many interesting notebooks have been handed in containing information concerning the history and costume of different countries and periods. Some of the girls have found splendid pictures to illustrate the various costumes of different periods.

"Huh! What chance have I got? She cares more about that specimen preserved in alcohol than she does about me," declares George Pettit disconsolating. His grief is very touching, but please don't take it so seriously. George really isn't lamenting because some inconsiderate female seems to take more interest in her biology lesson than she does in him. You see, that's merely a part of the senior play in which George plays the part of Rex Van Zile, the hero.

That reminds me—seniors, can you remember back in '26 when the freshman class presented "Aaron Boggs, Freshman," and George played the part of "Happy"? However, these are not the only dramatic productions in which he has acted. In his freshman year he was one of the characters of "Why the Chimes Rang," a Christmas play; when a sophomore, he was in the Hi-Y—G. R. play, "It Pays to Advertise," and last year in "The Boom-erang." He was also in "Tulip Time," the operetta given last year by the music department, and in "America Triumphant," the senior pageant.

George has been a very active member of the Glee Club. He was a member of the boys' quartet, the mixed chorus; and he was tenor soloist in his junior year. This year he is a member of the boys' quartet, the mixed quartet, and is tenor soloist. When a freshman, he was a member of the orchestra.

In his first three years of high school, George was Hi-Y secretary, and when a sophomore he attended Camp Wood.

In addition to this, he has been a Pep Prop two years, a member of the Spanish club two years, a student council member, and class vice-president two years.

Love your enemies, for they tell you your faults.

SENIOR'S SECRETS DISCLOSED

Close-Up of Twelve Members of Cast Given for First Time

The senior class wishes to take this opportunity of letting the Booster readers in on a pre-view of the characters of the senior play, "Polly with a Past," which will be given in the high school auditorium, Friday evening, January 31.

Joe Lee Hutchinson
Commodore "Bob" Barker is a genial, sportive gentleman of fifty-odd, with plenty of money. He is the type that rises to eminence in local yacht portrayed by Joe Lee Hutchinson.

Lorene Barani
Lorene Barani is a fond mother of Myrtle, the reformer. In actions Mrs. Davis is much younger than her daughter. She is a very "kittenish" woman of perhaps forty who can't understand why her daughter should not care for the hero.

Betty Nesch
Betty Nesch carries the leading feminine role in the senior play. She is called upon to play three different characters. In the first act she is a shy parlor maid. In the second she is transformed into a great adventuress! A throne-wrecker! The international siren! And then, through a mistake in the hero's affections, she is forced in the last act to be herself, Polly Shannon, a minister's daughter.

Henry Kerley
Henry Kerley has widened his scope of accomplishment. In the play he is taking the part of Harry Richardson, a wealthy young man who always has some new scheme to get someone out of trouble. This, of course, is a very worthy thing to do; but it seems to always have the unhappy result of getting them in worse trouble than ever.

George Pettit
Here comes the Herol very good looking and a quite likable chap, but seemingly very fickle; for he transfers his affections with apparent ease from one charming maiden to another. He is always the victim of the good jokes of Harry Richardson and Clay Collum.

Joe Rock
Joe Rock very efficiently plays the part of Rex's uncle, Prentiss Van Zyle, a high powered New Yorker who tries to save Rex from his unfortunate predicaments. It is rumored he very much enjoys the very embarrassing situations in which Rex finds himself.

Oren McMahon
Oren McMahon represents Stiles, the gardener, who is a subject of reform of Miss Davis. Stiles displays his wonderful knowledge of gardening by serving tulip bulbs for potatoes. Just think of it! What gardener could possibly make such a mistake.

Dan Tewell
Dan Tewell the interior decorator, closely seconds Harry Richardson in his numerous, wild eyed schemes. Dan is continually finding himself in some embarrassing position owing to one of these plans. Can't you just imagine Dan in an embarrassing position and Henry having no pity for him?

Francis Riordan
Francis Riordan, a Russian pianist, inadvertently becomes a victim of one of Henry's wild ideas. Who would think that our ever smiling Francis had a fierce temper? You ought to see him when he finds out that he is getting nation-wide publicity on account of one of Henry's fool plans. He goes into a rage and wildly tears his hair.

Letha Mae Ware
Miss Letha Mae Ware portrays the part of a young lady who has all the instincts of a reformer. She concentrates all of her efforts as a reformer on Stiles, the gardener. She ignores the attention of Rex Van Zyle until he begins to shower his attentions on Polly Shannon. Then business picks up.

Clairbel Carson
Clairbel "Bitty" Carson is the very correct parlor maid who always appears at exactly the correct time and more than willing to help in the various schemes that are afoot. Her idea of her most important act is to lead a dog off the stage."

Mary Miller
Mary Miller the dignified mother of Rex Van Zyle. She wishes her son to marry Myrtle Davis but Rex has other ideas. Mrs. Van Zyle finds herself very much up against it. Mary is reported as making a charming hostess.

Mr. Huffman says he believes students would work better if they had several rest periods during the day. Exhaustive research has disclosed that they would rest better if they did a little work first.

HOME LIVING CLASSES
WRITE ON "IDEAL HOME."

Miss Leeka's fifth hour Home Living class is getting along very nicely considering the fact that the text books have not yet arrived for the girls to study.

This is a very interesting subject and a subject which most of the girls in the school would like to take but cannot because of their required subjects.

The girls have been studying the things that make up an ideal home. Each girl has written a short theme with "An Ideal Home" as the subject. There were many good themes, but one of the best was written by Louise Fitzgibbon. It follows:

The Ideal Home
The ideal home is something more than four walls and a door. It is the seminary of sentiment—the dearest spot on earth. Be it a mansion or a humble dwelling does not count when we once realize that to live in a happy home is the real material object. The peace that a peasant finds in his hut surpasses the splendor and the trapping of a king.

To make a complete home one must have a complete set of relationships. The home without children is like a plant without a blossom. A solitary child in a house is a lame soul. He can never get that sound view of the world that comes to the member of a full family. In this little poem Elizabeth Brackway expresses her thoughts of home in a most beautiful way:

What Makes a Home
"Tis the gentle pitter patter
Of wee feet upon the stair,
The sound of children's laughter
Gaily ringing through the air;
The shining eyes that smile at us,
Wee lips that hold a kiss
Far sweeter than the nectar
That the bee from flowers sips;

"Tis the fire's warm welcome,
And the daylight's mellow glow,
Friendly books and easy chairs,
And the folks we like know to know;
The love and light and laughter
That so singing through the gloom
And telling us of peace within
That makes a Home A Home."
—by Louise Fitzgibbon

All Hear Ye This
About a Dragon

The other day Bob McDonald (Oh, pardon me, but Bob wants to be called or known as Robert, maybe this looks better in print, eh, Bob, excuse me I mean Robert) was singing merrily in the northeast corner of the lower floor, when who should stroll by but a certain sophomore no, junior, well—may be it was a senior girl. It doesn't make matter because it was one anyway. Well, Bob, I mean Robert, thought his tie needed adjusting, a speck was on his glasses, and many other confusing things had to be done at this particular moment. Anyway Bob (Dog-gone it if I don't repeatedly call him Bob. Well, Bob is shorter so it is going to be Bob,) has seemed to be changing or rather reforming himself in several respects.

Art
The art classes, with Mrs. Constance Arveson as teacher, are studying lettering. The students at first duplicated the pages of a lettering book as practice work. Now they are making mottoes of a more convenient style which can be used at school, and others with a personal verse that the pupils wish to use.

After the lettering is completed, sketching will be taken up with students from each class acting as models.

Hutchinson Tells of Historical Shrines

Principal Visited Famous Places When in Boston for National Convention

When Mr. Hutchinson had the opportunity of visiting Boston and vicinity a few years ago he visited many historically famous places. As the last Chronicle of America was centered around this district and our principal had visited it, upon request gladly supplied more information.

One of the historical places, mentioned by Mr. Hutchinson, is the old South Church. This building is preserved as a shrine, for in this building history of many kinds was made. Here Benjamin Franklin was christened; here a town meeting was addressed by Samuel Adams the day of the Massacre; here the Boston Tea Party was planned; here General Burgoyne maintained an English riding school. With the possible exception of Independence Hall in Philadelphia this is the most notable landmark in the United States.

Visiting Book Maintained
In this shrine, a visiting book is maintained. There are many entries of interest in this record, but three are especially interesting. These three entries have been made by direct descendants of someone who took part in the Salem witchcraft murders. The first entry was made by a great-grandson of a judge who passed the sentence; the ancestress of another was one of the murdered witches; and in the last a Chicago woman proves that she is a descendant from the governor of Massachusetts who abolished this cruel practice.

Bostonians Hold Slaves
"While I was being shown through the church the old caretaker told me the origin of the term 'nigger-heaven' stated Mr. Hutchinson. Contrary to the general belief today, the Bostonians had many slaves, according to the statement of the caretaker. When the building was constructed, a balcony was built and there the slaves were made to sit. In Boston, and nowhere else originated the term 'nigger heaven'.

In 1908 the Massachusetts Society of Sons of the Revolution presented to Boston, Faneuil Hall know as the "Cradle of Liberty." Here many patriotic meetings were held which kept alive the spirit of freedom among the people. It is to be kept as a historical shrine.

Boston in those days had a population of about 18,000, made up of 3,300 families and 2,300 houses.

Let's Have New Ones

Some of the students are having difficulty in thinking of excuses that will be accepted for their tardiness. The excuse that the car wouldn't run or the weather caused their delay has been so over-used lately that it has lost its novelty and usefulness. Why doesn't some one think up an original one to submit to the office? Daves presented a much better and original one for arriving at the Peace conference too late to hear King George deliver his address last Tuesday morning. He got lost in the dense English fog. The newspapers have made him the victim of many jokes and puns the last few days, but at least he didn't present any of these age old excuses.

The sociology classes have been studying the "third" political party. In preparing for the test "Bitty" Carson asked, "George, what is the good of a third party?" George brightened immediately and answered, "To act as chaperone."

Lloyd Schlapper had charge of the World Brotherhood program. This program included all the topics of the day. A discussion of the Hi-Y conference, the Naval Disarmament, and great men was led by Wyatt Wells and Leonard Brown. The boys told what they thought of K. W. Henderson and his "chain store fight." The club was in favor of having inter-club debates. Dan Tewell led the devotionals which were followed by sentence prayers.

B. V. Edworthy
An interesting discussion on the life of David Livingston was led by Emil Menchetti, World Brotherhood chairman. David Livingston was an African Missionary and his experience in Africa made a very interesting program. Dean Dyer told the boys about Camp Wood.

George Seabough had charge of devotions.

Joe Dance
The Joe Dance Hi-Y chapter held a discussion meeting in making some plans for meetings. The members discussed plans for a debate to be on the proposition of World Brotherhood. Wilbur Waite, Miles Burns, Milton Zacharias, Marvin Hutman, John Casterman, and Jack Stangland are the debaters. The president had charge of the meeting and the planning of the program. It is to be a World Brotherhood program on the advancement of the negro, and is hoped to involve an inter-chapter debate tournament. Jack Stangland lead the devotionals.

Bunny Carlson
In the Bible study program, which was led by Glenn Briggs, the life of Christ was discussed. The boys decided Christ was the most popular man the world had ever known. The boys discussed the different type of programs and decided that they like the Bible study programs best.

Jimmie Welch
A contest on Bible questions was conducted by Paul Ellis, Bible study chairman. Bill Biles, Lewis Bennington, and Raymond Karns were captains. This program was very interesting and the grand climax came when Raymonds' team dashed ahead to cop first place when defeat seemed to threaten them.

Home Missions
Old Lady: Where did you get all those nickles, sonnie?
Sonnie: Down at the church.
Old Lady: Did you steal them, you naughty boy?
Sonnie: Oh, no; the minister said that this money is all for the heathens. Me and pa is atheists so I took a handful.

The Money Changers
Cohen and his family sat down to dinner on Sunday. To his three boys Cohen said: "Now children, which of you would want it a nickle instead of meat for dinner?"

Each of the three decided in favor of the cash settlement, so Mrs. Cohen put the meat away. Then she brought in the pie and put it on the table. "Now my children, inquired Cohen" "how many of you want a nickle's worth of pie?"

MRS. STEELE GETS NEW CLASS OF DRAMATIC ARTS

A heart's desire of one of our faculty members has at last been answered. For the past two years, Mrs. Steele has wanted a class in dramatic art. The new semester finds her at work with her long-sought class.

The class was supposed to be composed of twenty members, but the roll totals twenty-nine. In place of buying text books by one author, the pupils contribute to a fund for the purpose of purchasing text books by several authors. The work will be theory and creative work. It is the plan of the instructor to have some play under way at all times. The course consists of choosing a play, casting it, and being able to direct it to a certain extent. Make-up and stage technique will be on the list of activities. It is hoped to have several plays written by members of the class. Each student will make a scrap book on some phase of dramatics. According to Mrs. Steele, the course will be actual production work. A play entitled "The Cure" will be casted this week.

Jarrell's Plan to Keep Students Awake

All children must have something to play with. But you would certainly think that when a person was old enough to be a teacher, he would have outgrown that custom.

Mr. Jarrell uses as his play-thing the window nearest to his desk. He first opens it and then shuts it. All during the hours of the day he keeps this up. His reason for this is that he must keep his students awake some way, and this is his last resorts. The secret is that when the window is open the students almost freeze.

How They Do It--
those people who once had comparatively nothing, but who now have comfortable homes, dress well and are able to enjoy life as it comes? Frequently the question is pondered; yet more often than not the answer is simple indeed. Those people merely decide, long ago, that it was best to spend a little less than they earned and save the difference—until they had built up the means to indulge themselves. By combing careful, spending with regular saving you, too, can reach the place where you may enjoy life as they do. So wouldn't it be well to take the first step—open a savings account—now?

Girl
Reserves

Thursday, the senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman Girl Reserves were honored by the presence of Miss Nevins, instructor of physical education at the college, when they held their meeting during the activity period in the auditorium.

Miss Nevins' talk was very well received by all the girls. The devotions were led by Josephine Newman. Mrs. J. L. Hutchinson made an announcement concerning the Girl Reserve conference to be held in Parsons the seventh, eighth, and ninth. Many girls are planning to go, and it is hoped that as many as possible will make the trip.

B. & P. W. SPONSOR CONTEST
"The Values of the Budget System" Is Subject for Essays

The Business and Professional Woman's club of Pittsburg is conducting an essay contest on "The Value of the Budget System." All girls of P. H. S. are eligible to take advantage of this opportunity.

The first prize will be a two-and-a-half dollar gold piece; the second, one and a half dollars; the third, one dollar. Further knowledge on the contest may be obtained from the English department.

Endeavor Plans Pageant

The senior department of Christian Endeavor of the Christian church will have charge of the evening services Sunday, Feb. 2. The program planned will take up the entire evening. A short pageant will be given with the following characters: Jane Ann Hamilton, Clelia Bossetti, Bama Brand, Helen Eckleman, Ruby Brous, Clairbel Carson, Lavon Cunningham, Wilbur Waite, George Presson, Jack Stangland, Leo Boisdrenghen, Earl Miller, Bob Owens, and Harold Dennis. The cast will be assisted by the college Endeavor, Mary Miller, pianist, and Mrs. Scott, supervisor.

Reserves Win Opener

Morganites Hold Time; Lead Falls To Stand Gaff and They Go Down in Defeat

Accomplishing what five other teams had failed to do, the cagers of C. C. H. S. took the Purple Dragons into camp last Tuesday night 23-17. It was the first loss in the S. E. K. and dropped them from first place in the loop to third way tie with Chanute and Parsons. It also marked the first time the Henleymen had won from the Morganites since 1928.

The tall lanky basketballers after being three points in the rear at the half time came back strong in the last half and took a small lead which they held until the final whistle. Their size contributed much to their triumph as it enabled them to play over the heads of their smaller opponents.

The first quarter was rather slow Russell gained the tip off, and the Dragons went down the floor cautiously. They kept the ball in their possession for fully one minute. Then a shot by Gutteridge was true and the Dragons led 2-0. Mueller followed suit with a short one from the side and their lead increased to 4-0 as the quarter ended.

Dragons Add Four Points
Again the Purples were at their attack. McCarty rang the hoop with a nice shot and the Dragons led 6-0. Here Columbus started scoring when Goade fouled by McDonald as he went into the basket and made good one of the two free throws besides the basket. McCarty followed with another basket and Goade chucked in one to make the score 8-5 in favor of the Dragons as the half ended.

All the raggedness that Columbus possessed in the first half seemed to disappear as the second half started. They made good some of their shots and took a lead. Goade was especially outstanding for during the last half he caged four field goals to bring his total points to 13 for the evening.

The Dragons fired away at the hoop with long shots but they seemed all ways to be deflected away from it. Russell added five points to their total with two field goals and one chancy throw, and McCarty and McDonald each made a basket for all the Dragons scoring for the evening.

Thus Columbus accomplished what five others had failed to do, and went into undisputed leadership in the S. E. K. and are the favorites to capture the championship.

But one thing was good to the hearts of Dragon Fans. The Reserves won over the Columbus Reserves 16-11 in the preliminary game. The Reserves looked rather ragged at times with bad handling of the ball and only during the last quarter did they settle down.

Only two juniors have this distinction. Mary Adele Brinn made 5 A's and Pete Farabi, 5 A's.

Three sophomores have all A's. They are Helen Magie, 4 A's; Carmen Breneman, 5 A's, and Lois Hallacy, 4 A's.

Elsie Breeding, a post graduate, has all A's.

Sad Plea Touches
Instructor's Heart

Found! A sure method of escaping the penalty of a trip to the office when one walks into the classroom a few minutes late. Please don't all rush to examine this fire-proof, water-tight excuse.

This alibi was discovered in a classroom Thursday after the lunch-period. The students had been in order about five minutes when a senior came in. The fair teacher looked at her watch and informed the boy to go to the office. He turned slowly away, but hesitated at the door.

"It will be the first time I've been late in P. H. S." said the senior sadly.

The teacher, influenced by this statement (or was she influenced by his blue eyes and curly black locks?) motioned him back; and she told him he wouldn't have to go to the office. With a sigh of relief, Oren McMahon went to his seat.

scored more than her total score before, adding five counters. As the final whistle blew, the Dragons were far ahead, the score being 38-9.

Attempting to stave off the onrushing of the Dragons, eleven men were used but their work was in vain, as the Dragons were out for revenge and they surely got it. Their offensive attack was functioning like a new machine, and their defense held fast.

Irwin, Oren McMahon, Emil Menichetti, Ray Muller, Charles Osborn, George Presson, Ralph Price, Francis Riordan, Frank Arden Robinson, and Myrl Seifers.

The freshman class ranks last, but there are only a few in the class. It has a good record in proportion to its size. Lawrence Halliady is the only boy who has been neither absent nor tardy this term. There are ten girls who have this record. They are Margaret Bean, Louise Bonet, Henrietta Cummings, Maxine Hogen, Florine Mitchell, Ruby Phelps, Ruth Phelps, Opal Smith, Elvina Williams, and Josephine Young.

Elect Home Room Officers

Mr. Hartford's home room elected their officers Monday, January 27. Those who were elected are as follows: president, George Seabough; vice-president, J. D. Graham; secretary-treasurer, James Ryan; Booster reporter, Ussel Coulson.

The following officers were elected Wednesday to serve in Mrs. Peterson's home room: Bert Main, president; Marguerite Dixon, vice-president; George Windle, secretary-treasurer; and Katherine Prenk, Booster reporter.

Jarrell's Home Room Elects

Mr. Jarrell's home room has elected the following officers: president, Oren McMahon; vice president, Henry Kerley; secretary-treasurer, Marie Usher; student council representative, Florence Sears; alternate, La Vaughn Matthews; and reporters, Tressa Marshall, and Arthur Young. This home room evidently has lots of news to keep two reporters busy. They have not definitely decided how the programs will be taken care of, but probably the same way as last semester. This was to choose four students and let them plan the program, and then pass it on to the next four.

DRAGON SMOKE

Coach Morgan was rather peeved Tuesday after school as the Cherokee-Erie game which he was to referee had been called off. Soon his sadness turned to joy when a call from the College athletic office informed him he could referee the C. of E.-K. S. T. C. game that night. Not bad after all, eh, Charlie?

Independence claims the distinction of being the bad luck team of the S. E. K. First Avery, their main scoring cog, was injured in an automobile accident, which will lay him out of games for a time; then Nickey having been in school nine semesters became ineligible; and to top this off, Clements, a forward, eligibility is questioned as he played in an independent game there.

Don Gutteridge
Small in stature but making up for it with his fight, speaks well of the smallest member of the starting five Dragons. Don Gutteridge is playing his third season under the Purple and White Standard.

Don goes under several nicknames, "Joe," "Dago," "Gutts," and "Prexey," all fitting him in equal way.

Coming to this school from junior high when he had been on championship teams guided by Tom Grant, Don played in interclass games three years. In his second year, he played on the second team; and last year, when Carlton became ineligible, Don stepped into the breach and has been there since.

At the end of the season, Don was elected co-captain with his cousin, Ray Mueller. Great things, are predicted in this closing season. Basketball is not his only pastime as he indulges in baseball in the summer and does a good job of it. He is also active in his school work and is business manager of the Purple and White. During his junior year, he was president of the class.

Rice's Room Elects Officers

Carl Grinstead has been chosen to fulfill the office of president by Mr. Rice's home room. Other officers are as follows: vice-president, Wyatt Wells; secretary-treasurer, Francor Zagar; student-council representative, Frances Marshallenger.

This home room says to WATCH for the CHEMISTRY PLAY. This play was written by Earl Carlton. It is to be given in chapel in the near future. After their debut here, the cast will probably go on a tour of the world. The scene of the play is laid in Arkansas. Well, wait for the play, and then you will find out all about

Still Living Under
Mama's Protection

The other night one of our very prominent alumni astonished "Wife" by approaching the telephone, unhooking the receiver, and calling his mama. This is what he said: "Mama, dear, is it time to go to bed yet? Evidently Bailey has been correctly reared under mama's wing."

Music Department Has
Pictures Taken Jan. 27

The Girls Glee club, the mixed chorus, and the Boys Glee club had their pictures taken for the Purple and White at Ferguson's studio, Monday, January 27. The Boys Glee club went the second hour, the mixed chorus the third hour, and the Girls Glee club went the fourth hour. By having the boys go the second hour and the girls the fourth hour, none of them missed any of their classes.

The mixed quartet, the boys quartet, and the girls quartet had their pictures taken after the Girls Glee club. After the quartets had finished, the soloists' pictures were taken.

Much time was taken for the arrangement of the Glee clubs and the mixed chorus. Mr. Ferguson took four pictures of each group. So it is hoped that at least one picture of each organization will be satisfactory for the annual. This year the soloists were chosen through the music department, thereby omitting the usual contest.

Dog Comes to Chapel

Monday morning some of the students were patiently waiting for the devotional chapel to begin and wondering why more of the students didn't come. When in walked a dog; and this animal evidently was looking for the editor, because he walked right to Leslie C.

Whether this dog wanted its name in the Booster or if he was just an old friend of the editor is not known. But nevertheless, when Leslie left the auditorium, friend dog followed.

demonstrate their skill. If this enthusiasm doesn't die down, the Purple and White will certainly be a success. Mrs. Peterson stated that if seven hundred annuals are sold the annual will have finances enough. Miss Costello and Mrs. Peterson are the sponsors of this book and Joe Lee Hutchinson is the editor.

Waste Baskets Make
Comfortable Seats

Florence Sears, when she was cleaning out her locker Monday morning, found that the waste-basket made a very comfortable seat. The said lady had stooped to take the papers out of the bottom of her locker; and lo and behold, she found herself sitting in the waste-basket. Well, Florence you had better be careful next time, or you will find yourself sitting on the floor.

The girls gym classes are playing basket-ball in class. If time permits, they may have an inter-class basket-ball tournament. The girls are very enthusiastic about basketball as this is the first time it has been played in class for a number of years.

The semi-final game of the volley ball tournament was played between the "Rockets," captained by Irene Culver, and the "Lucky Strikers," captained by Marie Silvia. The victory was in favor of the "Lucky Strikers." The final game will be played Friday evening. It will be between the "Lucky Strikers," a sophomore team, and the "Shooting Stars," a jr-sr team. Mildred Frazier is the captain of the "Shooting Stars." The team winning the tournament will have their picture put in the Purple and White. The sophomore class won last year.

The swimming classes have started to practice life saving. The tests will be given next month. There will also be a swimming meet next month. This is an annual event, and the race will be between the classes. The sophomore class was victorious last year.

The G. A. A. has not been able to meet at its regular meeting periods due to the fact that the boys basket ball team uses the gym every night except Friday, and that evening is used for the volley ball tournament.
