FOREWORD

Feeling that Caney-High
Has many friends, whose Memories still cling
With fond recollections
To their school days, we
The annual staff of '21
Endeavor to picture to you,
As vividly as possible,
The events of this year's
School life. If when reading
This volume you recall
Familiar days and scenes
With any degree
Of pleasure or happiness,
We will think our time
And efforts well engaged.

TO MISS LENA MONROE

In appreciation of her faithful and efficient work and her loyal and unstinted support to our class and C. H. S., we, the Seniors of '21, lovingly dedicate this volume of the "Kane-Kan."

N. H. SHENK, B. S.

State Manual Training Normal.
"Visitors, students, please don't look around."

At first sight of Mr. Shenk, the C. H. S. students hardly knew what to expect, but after a year's work with him, they find him to be very kind and full of pep. He is always ready to help the students, and eager for Caney to take her place in debate, music, and all other outside activities.

G. ALLEN TEWELL, B. S.

Finley College, Ohio.
Science '21.

"A hint to the wise is sufficient."

Mr. Tewell, our much respected principal is truly kind and considerate. He has that rare ability of seeing the pupil's side of the question as well as his own. He believes firmly in general as well as in book knowledge. A former College basketball star, he now plays with the high boys, and the city team. He boosts all athletics with a vim. Best of all, he is the students' true friend.

ALLISON K. RAMAGE, B. S.

Kansas State Normal School.
Normal Training '20.
"What is worth doing is worth doing well."

MARY E. McKNIGHT, A. B.

Cooper College.
Foreign Language '19.
"Now let's have attention
please."

ADDA BAILEY, B. S.

Missouri State Teachers' College.
Domestic Art and Science '19.
"There is absolutely no use in anybody not having a good product."

LENA P. MONROE, B. S.

Kansas State Normal.
Girls' B. B. Coach.
English '20.
"Class, don't you know the bell has rung."

HORACE W. ADAMS, B. Pe.

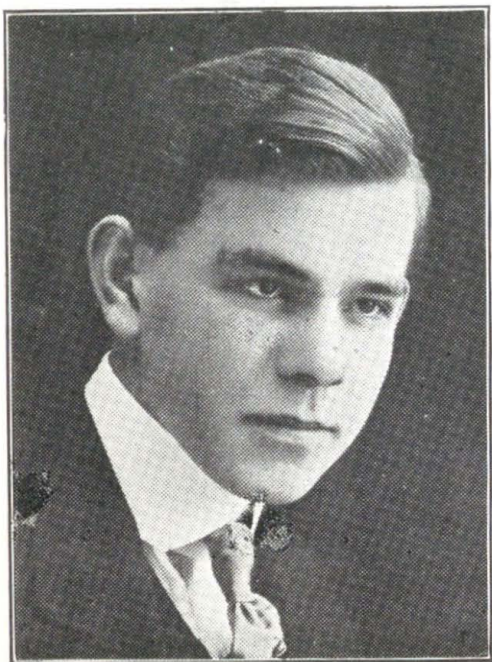

S. T. C. Springfield, Missouri.
Mathematics and Athletics '21.
"If anybody is absent, please speak up."

OLIVE B. TRAPP

ERAMUS ET ERIMUS

I was seated in my office in the top story of the great new Barton Building of New York. I had passed a morning of great concentration, and had attempted to keep up the severe strain, but somehow, I simply could not fix my attention, so gave it up temporarily, and sat idly drumming upon the desk top. My roving eyes caught sight of a pile of books on the shelf at my right. Noticing an old-looking one on the top, I picked it up and glanced at the cover. What was my surprise to find that it was one of my old school-books. My mind was instantly flooded with memories of the past.

I was not very old yet,—just past thirty-five, so my thoughts did not go back further than my high school period. Ah, those were the good old days! I can still remember my first year. We were very young, we children who graduated from the Junior High School at the old Washington School of the little town of Caney! The "Success," and "Business Proposition" talks, given by our Junior High principal, Albert Bonter, had filled our minds with many illusions in regard to the future, which our first year of High School rapidly dispelled. As Freshmen, we suffered the usual embarrassing and awkward experiences.

The second or Sophomore year marked a change in our lives. The war, and many other things, contributed to make life different. We started growing, most of us boys, and how we did grow!—some on the length and some on the width principle! And the girls,—how queer and mysterious and pretty they began to be!

That summer we boys "hit the heavy," and started in for our Junior year, "flush with cash," and determined to have a good year of it. How self-important we were! We each wanted the lion's share of power and influence in class organizations and affairs. We split up into factions over important questions, and what a time we had at class meetings! For we took such things very seriously in those days!

Yet for all that we had a fine year. Our Hallowe'en party and our great banquet to the Seniors were affairs which surpassed in grandeur everything which had been given in the past!

Then came our Senior year. When we started upon that year we were sobered by the thought of the many things before us. Our class was divided into two factions, during the election of officers at the first of the year. A mutual compromise alone saved us, with the result that Charles Alford was elected to the presidency. Poor "Chuck!" What a merry time he had with his job! One day, when joking, he said to me, "I turned down a mighty good job the other day. Old John D. called me up personally, and wanted me to be manager of his Consolidated Oil Interests in the U. S. However, I told him that I was already overworked; that my position as Senior president constituted too great a drain upon my mental energies for me to seriously consider such a proposition."

We had two parties that year, both completely successful, besides the Hallowe'en party and the banquet the Juniors gave us. Our Hi-Yi clubs furnished another field of activities, the leaders of whom were Seniors. Debates and athletics enlisted the majority of our members, and our first business venture, the annual, got along fairly well.

I shall never forget the Senior Play and Commencement exercises. We were so much in earnest, so sober and filled with ambition that night, and with a faint tinge of regret at leaving the old school, which was to deepen almost to sorrow as we received more and more of the hard knocks of Fate. For those were great days. I can remember how my old friend, Charles Alford, used to tell me his ambitions and build castles in air; how he planned to enter the theatre business.

I smiled with a sense of deep pleasure as I glanced through the open door of my office at the door of the one opposite mine, on which the gold letters on the glass, "THE ALFORD AMUSEMENT CO.," blazed forth a message of success. Just then it swung open, and Alford himself emerged. He was president, manager, and chief stockholder in the great company which had a theatre in every city of any size in the U. S., and in the principal cities of Canada and all the rest of the Americas. In appearance he was a medium-sized, broad, and stockily built man, with blonde hair, alert blue eyes, and a lean aggressive jaw that told of many great difficulties met and conquered. He advanced with a genial smile on his face. "What's the matter, old man," he inquired, "Day-dreaming again?" "Yes," I admitted sheepishly.

He laughed heartily. "You need a bracer," he said. "Say, let your work go for a while, and let's go and see the Woman's Tennis Championship game. Come, it begins in half an hour."

I readily agreed, and soon we were seated in the great Coliseum and watching the game intently. The last match was about to be played, and the contestants came out. One of them seemed faintly familiar to me, and I glanced at the program. A single name, Genevieve, denoted her, and I instantly recognized her to be a girl, then Genevieve Fell, who had graduated with the same class as I, but whose name was now, of course, different. After the game, I greeted her, and she recognized me with a pleasant smile, but as she was very tired, and wished to retire, I had no opportunity to converse further with her. My companion, Alford, informed me that her brother, Charles Fell, was at the present time a football coach at Harvard, and that it was his team which held the world's championship.

As it was evening by that time, we ate at the famous Cafe Del Norte. The waiter served us with a special dish, which tasted so good that we felt impelled to congratulate the head chef. On going back into the great kitchen, we found, to our great surprise, Kenneth Rhoads acting in that capacity. We extended to him our hearty congratulations, which he laughingly warded off, attributing the success of the dish to the head cook, Miss Katharine Cole.

On leaving the cafe, my friend invited me to attend the Glorian theatre, the greatest in his famous line of Consolidated Theatres. I accepted with alacrity, for I had had so many pleasant surprises that day that I half expected them to continue. Sure enough, another came, for as the theatre was overcrowded, the management asked us to share our box with a young couple. What was my surprise when the McFarlands, Frank and his wife, arrived!

The program that night was the greatest I have ever enjoyed. A gripping epic of the screen, featuring Blanche La Rue, America's greatest screen star, whose real name was Mrs. L. Rader, but who had adopted the screen name by a variation of her maiden name, Miss Blanche Elliott, held the audience spellbound. This was followed by a musical comedy, with Miss Ida Mae Roper playing the leading part, and supported by an orchestra of one hundred, led by Lawrence Burns, the world's greatest director. We talked over old times with the McFarlands, then went back to our respective homes.

The next morning I rose feeling fit and ready for work. At about eleven o'clock I caught up with the pile of personal correspondence, and was waiting for my secretary's estimates, when in came a tall man whom I at once took to be a traveling salesman. I was half-way through the customary, "No, thank you sir, I'm very busy just now; call again some other time," when the familiarity of his face and features struck me, and I recognized him to be Raymond Falleur, an old school friend. I delightedly offered him a chair. He told me that he was the traveling representative of the Standard Oil Co., and had just now completed a tour of India, Africa, and Asia, in the interests of the company. He confessed to an insatiable desire to travel and see new sights. We talked until noon, and lunched together, while he gave an account of his trip.

After lunch, I had barely got seated in my office again when Alford came in, looking worried and haggard. I inquired what had happened, and he informed me that due to a mistake of one of his subordinates, the company had become involved in legal difficulties, which gave its rivals opportunity to attack it. He was at a loss to decide what lawyer to employ, when a sudden idea entered my mind, and I earnestly recommended to him the firm of Lindsay & Scott, both women, Miss Marjorie Lindsay and Miss Clara Scott, but admitted to be the best legal combination in America. We immediately took a fast airplane for Chicago, the city in which the firm had its central offices, and frankly placed the entire matter in the hands of Miss Lindsay, who assured us of success.

For the first time in our history, a woman, Miss Cecil Stabler, was candidate for Governor of New York State. Wishing to insure her success, I immediately dispatched a telegram to Mrs. R. H., formerly Miss Gladys Mills, who was now head of the United News Syndicate, urging her to use all her power through the press to insure the election of Miss Stabbler.

She informed me that her press campaign would be very successful, since she had the great cartoonist and humorist, Charles A. Buckley, to ridicule the rival candidate. Having done all I could do, I returned to my office and worked until 5 o'clock. Passing to my friend's office, I found him still worried over the affairs of the company. It was now my turn to entertain him. Knowing that he had always liked to see exhibitions of physical development, I took him to the Mandin Hall, where Junior Brown, also an old schoolmate, juggled with a 500-pound lead shot in a manner that amazed and startled the onlookers, while Madame Marie Binney, great tight-rope walker, performed feats that eclipsed any I had ever seen. How I would like to see "Junie" Brown hit a football line now! And that night, as I lay awake on my pillow, my thoughts turned again to the past,—

"Carry me back to grand old Caney,
There's where I spent my youth and castles built so high!
There's where I misplaced my first real lip-eyebrow;
There's where I'll linger, when I return by and by!"

REUBEN DAVISON.

Caney Valley Historical Society

"Don't sigh," he said,
"For we will wed,
As soon as I graduate."
"But my! Oh, my!"
Was her reply,
"That's so indefinite."

Paradise—A shady room, an open fire, a cozy nook, your heart's desire.
Purgatory—The self same room, with lights a few, the self same nook, and Ma there, too.

Mr. Tewell (In chemistry)—"Can anyone tell me how iron was first discovered?"

Edna Miller—"I'm not sure, but I think they smelt it."

SENIOR POEM

As Freshmen we entered old Caney High,
An awkward and noisy crew;
And our clamorous steps and our boisterous shouts
Echoed the wide halls through.

Our awkward boys and romantic girls,
But flashed forth the joyous truth—
That the happiest period in one's whole life
Is the wonderful season of youth!

What the future would bring to our boys and our girls
Would puzzle a sage or a fool;
For who could foretell the effect on each
Of four long years of High School?

Ah, a book could be written with many a page,
On the changes which came about;
Of the many of us who graduate,
And the few who were forced to drop out.

There are so many Seniors in class this year,
That to mention them all wouldn't do,
So, begging pardon of all the rest,
I'll just make note of a few.

Our little pianist, Miss Erma Nett,
Of space fills a small amount;
But sages and moralists often contend
'Tis the little things which count.

We thought that our "Sard" would a short, fat man be,
But look at him now,—Oh, Laddy!
His face has grown stern and he's put on great height,
He's going to be taller'n his daddy!

Old "Junie" came in with a lovable smile
That has saved him from many a zero.
And in basketball and in football too,
The High School deems him a hero!

Then there's Chuck, who is filled with ambition and pluck,
And is one of the kind that will rise from the muck.
When he's restless, the Superintendent he haunts,
And he generally gets just whatever he wants.

Miss Edna Miller, the first of the year,
 Had us all quite flustered and worried,
 When the tongues of Dame Rumor began to wag
 That Elmer and she had got married.

Then there's Miss Blanche Rad—'er, pardon me!
 Blanche Elliott I should have said;
 I somehow always keep thinking
 That they each other have wed.

Miss Maggie War— 'n 'scuse me again!
 Miss Maggie McKee, I mean,
 Is taking a Normal Training Course,
 She will be a teaching queen.

Miss Lorenza Lambillotte—nice little girl,
 Who thinks less of pleasure than duty,
 But in this grand year she's blossomed forth
 To become an American Beauty!

Miss Alice Orr and Miss Alta Howell
 Have in common quite a lot,
 For half their minds is on study,
 And the other half is—not.

"For you see there are two boys;"
 Ah, yes, that completes the case;
 And they all hail from the country,
 Though their manners are quite blase.

"Both are going to be school teachers!"
 Yes? No, no, we'll say they won't!
 'Bout the time they've actually started,
 Hubbies bark a violent, "Don't."

But just as everything else must have,
 This poem must have an ending;
 So just to relieve your distracted minds,
 I'll quit—with no copyright pending.

HONEYBUNCH

He goes by the name of Kenneth Rhoads,
His long, broad face no evil bodes,
His sense of humor is dry but broad—
Evidently his father spared not the rod.

He soon proved to be a great debater,
To teachers' whims he would never cater;
For only one did he care a rap—
And that one was Mrs. Olive Trapp!

He sat one day in the principal's room,
His face was a picture of desolate gloom;
Mrs. Trapp saw his misery, and had a hunch—
She called out a cheery, "Hello, Honeybunch!"

From his lips there issued a whistling moan,
His falling jaw broke his collarbone;
His eyes bulged out like balls of lead,
His face turned as gray as if he were dead.

His head hung over the back of his chair,
His shaking hands wildly clawed the air;
His breath sucked in with a short, quick gasp,
That sounded somewhat like a large wood rasp.

But the next time she did it, it didn't hurt,
He mustered up courage, and managed to blurt,
"Hello, Honeybunch," in a tone of despair,
That night wrung the heart of the said ladyfair.

But mark what a change that in time came about,
For Kenneth stopped blushing, and boldly could shout
"Hello, Honeybunch!" in a manner so bright,
That it drew from the lady a gasp of delight.

"Hello, Honeybunch!"—he greets her today,
"Hello, Honeybunch," in a whole-hearted way!
"Hello, Honeybunch," she gamely replies,
She can't faze him now, howe'er hard she tries!

BOBBIES

Aches our boys' hearts forever—
 Memory of those little girls,
 Treva Mills and Lillie Jesson,
 With their bobbed hair trimmed in curls!

Down at Robinson's that evening—
 Ah, those barbers should be mobbed!
 Why'd they let those little maidens
 Get their lovely tresses bobbed?

Shades of Sampson and Delilah,
 Hovering o'er the barber chair,
 Stared with horror, for their beauty
 And their strength lay in their hair!

Gone? Ah, yes, but not forgotten
 Are those dainty castle-bobs!
 Ears are showing, pink and pretty,
 Hid no longer by those knobs.

Gone that soft hair's natural beauty—
 Gone the maiden's very name,
 She has now become a "Bobby!"
 All are Bobbies—all the same!

R. D.

DOVES!

At morning they linger in Study Hall,
 They hear not the class-bell's insistent call;
 For long, long ago they each'did fall—
 In love with the other!

Just after noon when to school they return,
 They sit together, and sigh and yearn.
 May the younger boy a lesson learn,
 From this big brother!

At evening they homeward together go,
 Their eyes are filled with a soft, bright glow;
 For she is his girl, and he is her beau—
 Bless them, father and mother!

Big Man

JUNIOR JINGLES

First is our president, Walter Vance,
In the football game he missed no chance;
And then there's Ted Muir, a long, lanky guy,
In the Santa Fe tournament he played quite spry.
Jimmy Johns is next, a skinny little chap,
But as a forward he is right on the map.
And there's Sammy Warren, a quiet fellow,
But down his back there is no yellow.
Stewart Welch, with hair slightly red,
Finds his chief pleasure in a bed.
Opal Mayfield, with her big ear "bobs,"
Is usually followed by curious mobs.
Bruce Mendenhall, our vice-president,
For his beautiful pompadour should pay rent.
Then there's a Junior named Mildred Fell,
And she is quite a beautiful "gell."
Who should come next? Why, Charley St. John,
For he and Mildred together have gone.
And Bobbie Harbord, who's quite a lad,
But one look at his face makes most people sad.
Francis Buckley is fresh from the farm,
You should see the muscles(?) on his mighty arm.
Leila Hemphill, who is next in our class,
Is noted for her ability to "sass."
And Imogene Stallard, a pianist of fame,
It's easy for her the piano to tame.
Milton Peyatte, as forward and end,
The hopes of the opposing teams did rend.
Margaret Peters, with her pigtail,
Wins the prize of beauty, without fail.
Imogene Daniels, whose nickname's Dee Dee,
Is not the most commonplace girl you can see.
Clifford Mann, who is a Havana gent,
From his home town to our school was sent.
Earl Williams comes from the same little place,
So he usually wears a foolish look on his face.
And that fellow named Anson Chess,
At keeping quiet hasn't much success.
Allison Wills, of whom we are proud,
Has a whoopey that's awfully loud.
Then there's a boy named Noah Weinstein,
And for a sweetheart he does pine.
Myrtle McClure has very dark hair,

And a snub nose that points up in the air.
 Henrietta Miller on our list comes next—
 The hearts of many a boy she has vexed.
 Arthur Buergey is well known as "Mose,"
 He has a pair of "specs" always over his nose.
 Our basketball forward is Daisy Parker,
 And everyone says that she is a corker.
 Beatrice Templeton is very easily bored,
 Even if she doesn't ride around in a Ford.
 And there is a girl named Kathleen McKeon,
 She whispers every day till her voice is out of tune.
 Emma Hilton is in second year Domestic Science,
 And is hunting hard, though she hasn't found her fiance,
 Caroline Kersting is not a modest lass,
 And every day at school she speaks right up in class.
 And, last of all, the author of this "poem"
 Is about to leave Kansas for a nice long roam.

FRESHIES OF 1921

You can talk about your gone-by Freshies,
You can talk about their fun;
But there never was a Freshie class
That measured up with '21.

The sophomores thought they would haze us;
They had to get up and hum.
They failed because we were too strong—
The Freshie class of '21.

Our colors are the blue and white;
We'll fight for them with all our might,
For, of all High School colors there are none
Like the Freshie colors of '21.

When it comes to athletics and basketball,
We're right there on the run;
The Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores all have to keep mum
For the star player of the tournament was a freshie of '21.

Although our class stone is the emerald,
Of all the Freshie classes there'll be not one
Who will make as good success in old C. H. S.,
As we Freshies of '21.

REVIEW OF THE 1920 SEASON

With seven first-team men graduating last year, the prospects for a winning team were as slim as "Duke" Burns. As the season advanced and after several weeks of hard practice our hopes were revived. The Caney eleven were handicapped by not being able to secure a practice game and felt uncertain as to what the result might be, but after defeating Coffeyville in great style (we gave them nothing and we took forty-two), we were very much encouraged.

A week later we met the strong Neodesha eleven and through the co-operation of all the players we were again victorious. The next week we invaded the Fredonia camp and defeated them on a muddy field, 20 to 0. It was the unanimous opinion of all the players that the courtesy shown by Fredonia was the best of any town we visited in the Verdigris Valley this season.

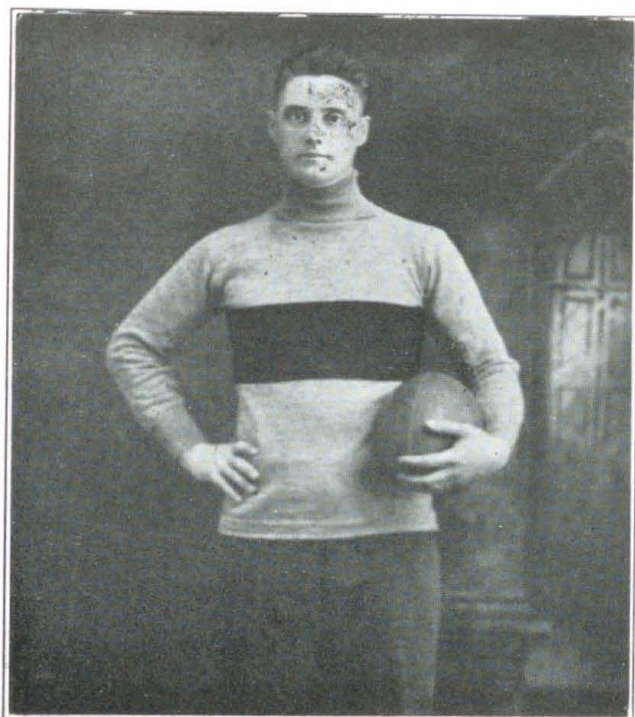

Our next game was at Independence, and, being outweighed about thirty pounds to the man, were defeated by a rather large score. We think that all the visitors at Independence will agree that the Independence players and rooters are the poorest sports of any town that we visited.

Several of our players were injured in the Independence game, and without much pep we journeyed to Altamont the following week, and were again defeated by an unusually large team, 19 to 6.

Dewey was the next game to be played at Caney. This was the only team we played throughout the season that did not outweigh us, but it seemed as though the breaks were against Caney, and we took the short end of the score, 6 to 7.

Honors of honors! After playing nineteen games without a single defeat, the Sedan Boosters were completely annihilated by our light, fast machine. Full of confidence as usual, Sedan's husky eleven came to Caney on November 18. Full of fight and out for revenge for 1920's defeat, the Caney boys were too much for the Flint Hill boys and won by a score of 19 to 14.

With the team weakened on account of playing Sedan on Wednesday, we went to Bartlesville on Friday of the same week for the last game of the season. It is thought by everyone that Caney has just as good if not a better team than Bartlesville, because Dewey only defeated us by one point, while they defeated Bartlesville by a large score. The victory of the Bartlesville team reflects considerable honor on their coach. The honor was due to the weakened condition of the Caney eleven rather than to the superior playing of the Bartlesville aggregation.

HORACE W. ADAMS
(Coach)

Adams is a good, clean, and efficient coach. He has a high regard for true sportsmanship, and never allows his men to "get" the other fellow. He is a gentleman, a true sportsman, and a good leader.

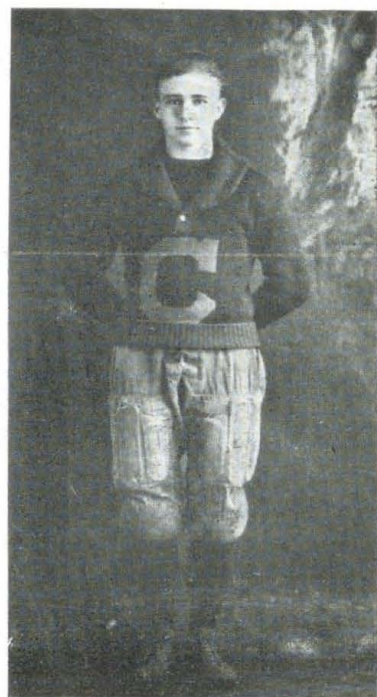

MARY AGNES ADAMS

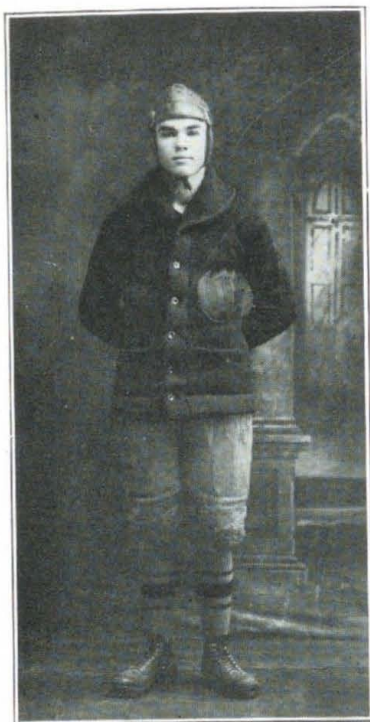

Faculty Kid '20
Senior Mascott.
Junior Coach.

JUNIOR BROWN

Ht. 5 ft. 8 in.—Wt 168 lbs.
Quarterback (Captain)

"Brownie" was a good captain, and much liked by the entire squad. Strong and full of fight, "Brownie" never knew when he had enough. As Captain and quarterback, "Brownie" was hard to beat. His educated toe seldom failed him when punting, and he was a "darb" at line plunging.

FRANK McFARLAND

Ht. 5 ft. 7 1-2 in.—Wt. 155 lbs.

Right Halfback

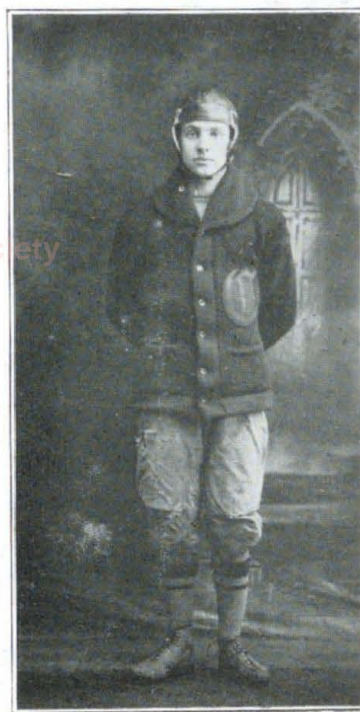

Frank was an all around good man, speedy, and always made his distance. He made more gains than any other man in the back field. If an All-Verdigris Valley team had been picked he would without a doubt have made the team. Frank has a unique combination of speed, endurance, and head work.

WALTER VANCE

Ht. 5 ft. 7 in.—Wt. 138 lbs.

Fullback

“Although this was “Whop’s” first year in the back field he did fine work, and could always be depended upon for his share of the gains.

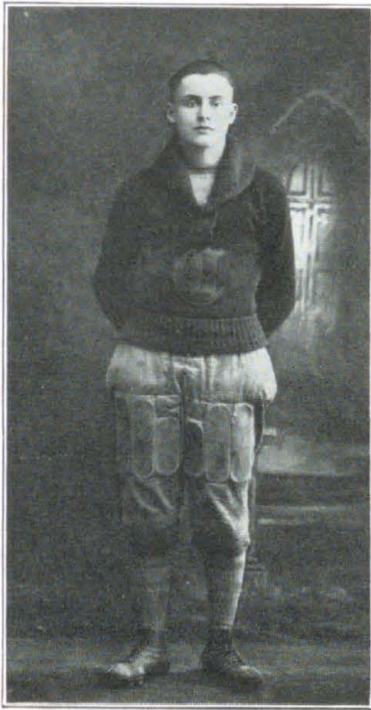

EDWARD MUIR

Ht. 5 ft. 10 in.—Wt. 155 lbs.

Left Halfback

“Ted” showed good form throughout the season. Although handicapped by a weak knee, he played a consistent game. “Ted” could always be counted on for a point made from kicking goal after a touchdown.

SARDIS McCRORY

Ht. 5 ft. 8 in.—Wt. 145 lbs.

Left End

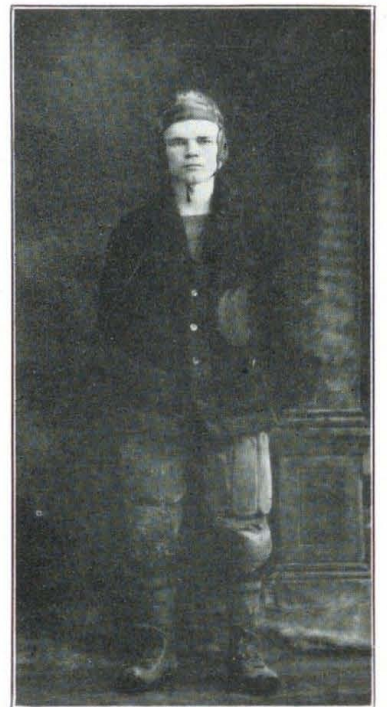

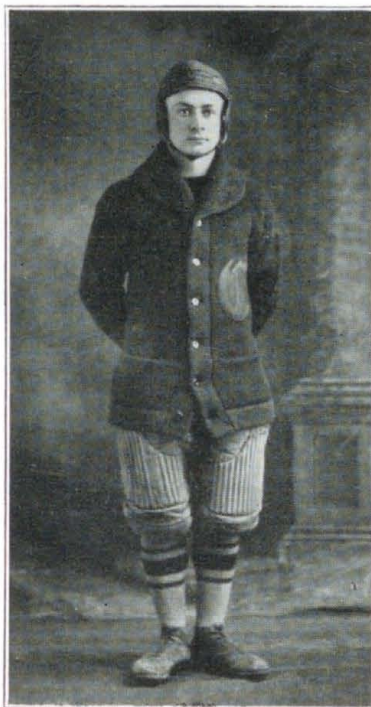

"Sard's" ability to catch forward passes made him a valuable man this season. He was a sure tackler and he seldom failed to get the man with the ball when he ventured around the left end.

CHARLES ALFORD

Ht. 5 ft. 5 in.—Wt. 126 lbs.

Right Guard

"Chuck" was the lightest man on the line. "Chuck" was without a doubt the best guard in the Verdigris Valley. "Chuck's" motto was, "The bigger they are the harder they fall."

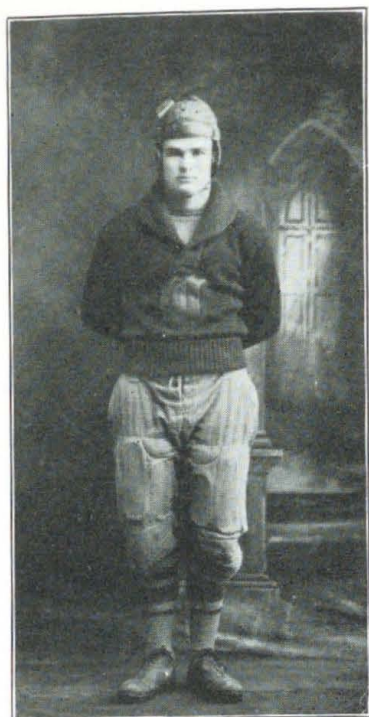

CHARLES FELL

Ht. 5 ft. 4 in.—Wt. 140 lbs.

Right Guard

"Charlie" never failed to get his man. Whenever the opponents tried to make a gain on either side of him they found a stone wall.

CHARLES BUCKLEY

Ht. 5 ft. 8 1-2 in.—Wt. 168 lbs.

Right Tackle

"Buck" was big and strong and always fighting. This was "Bucks" first year of football, but he made a fine showing. When needed, he would always make wagon room in the opponents line.

MILTON PEYATT

Ht. 5 ft. 9 1-2 in.—Wt. 125 lbs.

Right End

"Milt" as an end is hard to beat, is always down under punts, and is a sure tackler. "Milt" didn't come out for the first of the season but he gave all he had for the team. He was the star of the game at Altamont.

ORVILLE GREER

Ht. 5 ft. 9 1-4 in.—Wt. 150 lbs.

Center

"Greer" was a "Wampus Kitty" when it came to breaking thru the opponent's line and blocking punts or recovering fumbles. "Greer's" accurate passing was one of his strong points. We are glad he will be with us again next year.

HEROLD HARVEY

Ht. 5 ft. 6 1-2 in.—Wt. 150 lbs.

Right End

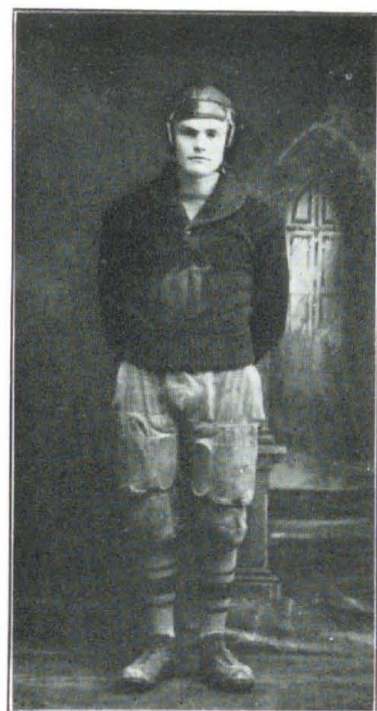

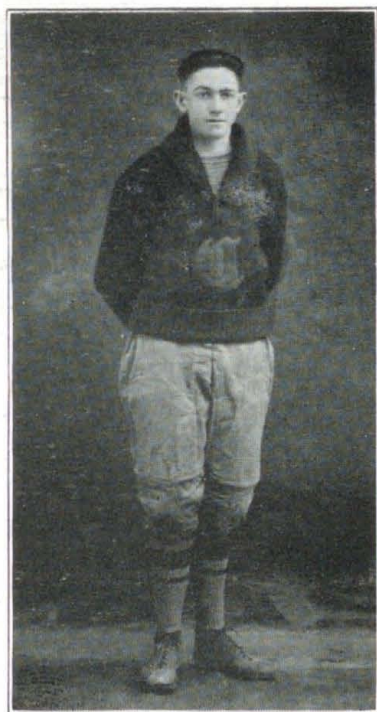

“Harvey” could be relied upon to get his man on every play around his end. He caught forward flips with a noticeable regularity.

ROBERT HARRIS

Ht. 5 ft. 9 3-4 in.—Wt. 168 lbs.

Left Tackle

“Bob” makes it possible for us to look forward to another year of football. He plows thru the opponent’s line without mercy, carrying an armful of men with him.

LAWRENCE BURNS

Ht. 5 ft. 9 3-4 in.—Wt. 135 lbs.

End

“Duke” did good work this year considering the experience he had had. This is his last year.

KENNETH RHOADS

Ht. 5 ft. 4 1/2 in.—Wt. 134 lbs.

This is "Shorty's" first year of football in Caney. "Shorty" was not limited to playing one position, but could fill any place where he was needed.

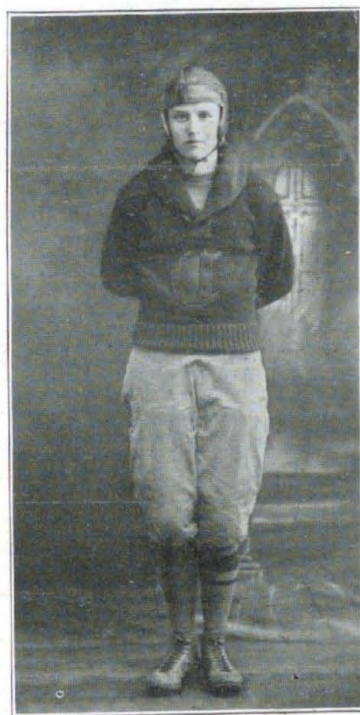

Caney Valley Historical Society

CHARLES St. JOHN

Ht. 5 ft. 7 1/4 in.—Wt. 138 lbs.

Tackle

"Charlie" showed his loving disposition by always tackling around the neck. "Charlie" will probably develop into a star next year.

BASKET BALL RESUME

Basketball has been a very popular form of athletics at Caney-Hi this season. Practice was begun the latter part of November with much pep and fifty applicants for positions on the teams. It was a pep and spirit which did not wane. All during the winter the sport had many devotees. The basketball court was in use every day from 4 until 10 o'clock at night. We were not selfish with our court, but allowed the American Legion, Scouts and Business Men a chance to indulge in the fascinating game.

Coach Adams took charge of the boys' practice and carefully built, selected and whipped into shape teams representing Caney High. There was the first team, the cream of the bunch, who played all the league games. Then there was the second team, who filled in for subs and took the field alone when two league games were scheduled for the same night. The second team also had its own schedule at the Santa Fe tournament at Bartlesville March 5, where they won the cup offered for second teams by defeating Bartlesville's second team in the final game.

It was early decided to enter two leagues again this season, since we were so successful in two last year. Superintendent Shenk met with the V. V. committee, Principal Tewell met with the Santa Fe committee, and the schedules were arranged. The two leagues totaled eighteen games for the Caney team. This was a heavy schedule, but Caney showed her ability to hold her position in the front ranks.

In the Verdigris Valley League twelve games were played. Of these, nine were won. Altogether, the first-team boys played seventeen games, winning eleven games.

The personnel of the first team is as follows:

Sardis McCrory, captain, plays forward, the high-point man of the team. In the first Dewey game he made all of the twenty-nine points for Caney. Sard is distinguished for his accurate goal shooting, his speed, his calm unruffled way and all-round playing ability.

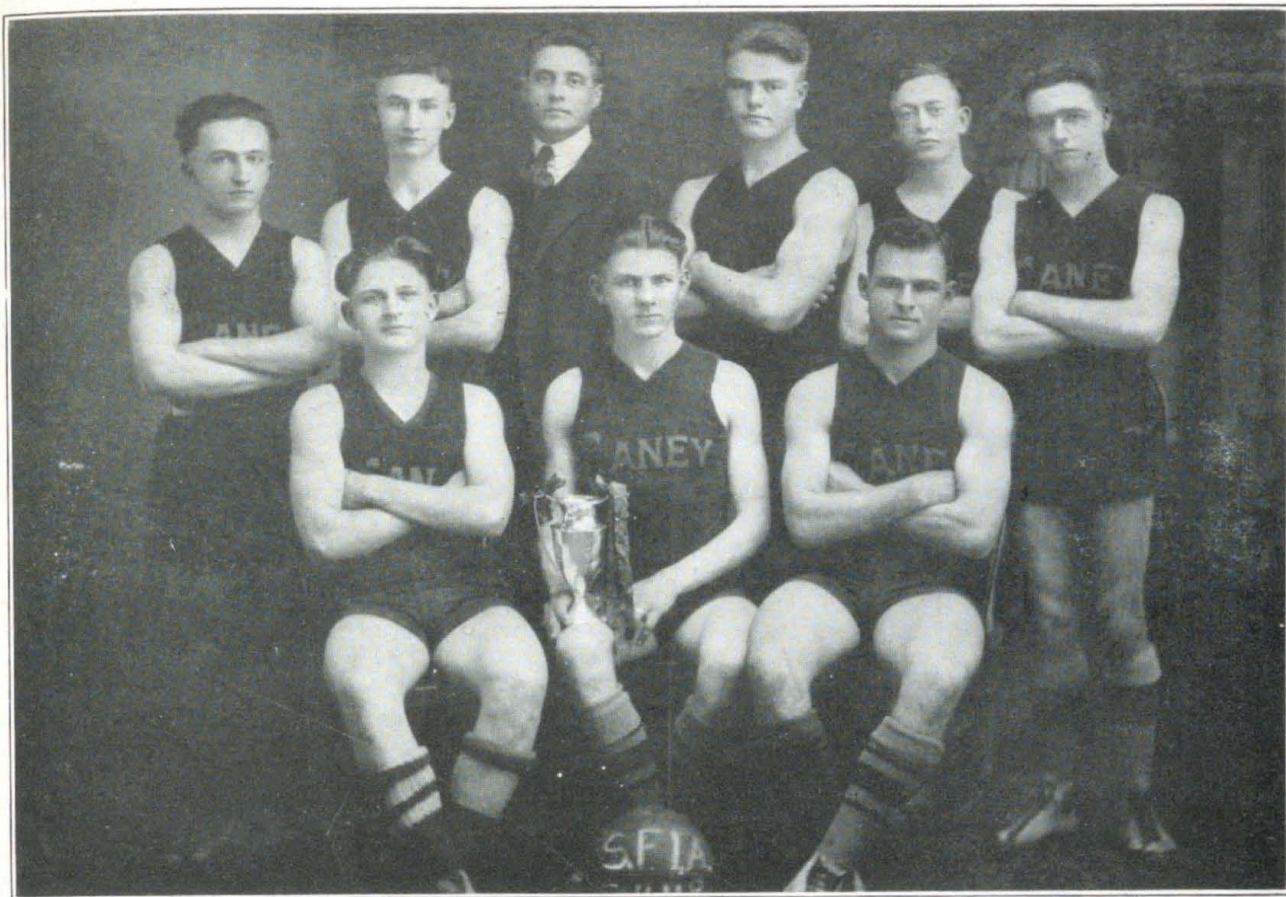

Milton Peyatt, sometimes guard, sometimes forward. Exceptionally good on catching passes. Has one more year to play for Caney.

Lawrence Burns, one of the best centers who has ever represented Caney. Seldom indeed did "Duke" ever let the other fellow get the tipoff. Fine signal work and right there on the floor, occasionally tossing a goal to help the Caney score.

Frank McFarland, guard, noted for his good humor and smile. Always happy when he is playing. A player of great speed and ability to get up in the air. Ready with long shots when he can't get the ball through to the forwards.

Junior Brown, guard, known as the best guard in Southeastern Kansas. Feared by all opponents. Usually plays stationary guard. Only once this season did he try for a goal, and he made it from the center of the court. No forward has ever been known to get around Brownie.

Edward Muir, center or forward. Sixth man. Played on either team. Feature goals tossed back over left shoulder. Will be one of Caney's mainstays next year.

GIRLS' BASKET BALL

Miss Monroe (Coach). Miss Monroe was the best coach in this part of the state. She not only installed pep into the team, but always insisted on clean and fair playing. She refereed several games throughout the term, and always gave entire satisfaction, which shows her fine sporting spirit and her lust for clean and fair playing.

Velma Hemphill (Center). The jumpingest center in the Santa Fe League. Watch her get those high balls on passes. Withal she has a fighting spirit that keeps the ball going toward the Caney basket.

Gladys Mills (Guard). "Possum" gets them every time. Her height and speed makes her a wonderful guard. The forwards tremble when they see her stepping up to guard them.

Fern Parker (Guard). A whirlwind guard. Her ball leaves her hands before the spectators are hardly aware that she has it; the pass is made to the center and on to the forwards.

Daisy Parker (Forward). A scrappy, never-tiring player who makes up in speed what she lacks in size. No guard has been known to be able to stay with her as she covers the court.

Genevieve Fell, Captain (Forward). "Jenny" is a level-headed, consistent player. She can always be counted on to catch the passes and roll in the goals for Caney. She is distinguished for her courtesy and her do or die spirit.

Thelma Kirby (Side Center). A Freshman, but you'd never know it to see her play in a veteran-like way. She plays for the glory of the team and is quick and accurate in passing the ball.

THE SEASON IN BASKET BALL

Caney High has demonstrated her ability to hold her own in girls' as well as boys' basketball this year. About thirty-five girls came out for practice in the beginning. Competition was keen for places on the team. At last the choice narrowed down to the six whose pictures appear on the preceding page.

Imogene Stallard has been the one faithful sub during the season. Others have been chosen from time to time for subs. Treva Mills, Norma Bowen, Ida Roper, Kathleen McKeon and Mary Hale have served as such.

A heavy schedule was played. Nearly every game was a double-header, boys and girls. At the close of the season a class tournament was held. Four teams competed for the cup offered by the Leach Jewelry Store.

The Seniors won the cup by defeating the Juniors in the final game, 15-13. The Juniors and Freshmen tied for second place.

The biggest day of the season was the Santa Fe League tournament at Bartlesville on March 5th. Our girls went through the tournament games in wonderful style, winning the beautiful trophy offered for the best girls' team. In addition to this, two of the players won special honor. Velma Hemphill was chosen jumping center on the all-league team. Fern Parker was named as guard on this team and was awarded the medal for honor girl player.

TRACK

Since the "Kane-Kan" went to press too early to give a detailed report of the track season, we will mention here the two spring meets. The Verdigris Valley meet was held at Coffeyville, where Caney ranked second, being relieved of first place by Independence plus an African delegation. Our team won second in the Santa Fe meet, Bartlesville winning the old Santa Fe track cup (fought over for nine years) by a margin of four points. Caney took four firsts and easily won the relay cup in this meet.

The prospects for a good team this spring are very good. Although there are but two of last year's team back, the ability of the new material makes up for this shortage.

Coach Adams appeared on the scene at the first of the season with an abundance of helpful ideas for the track men. Coach Adams is well liked by everyone, and the standards he upholds for athletics are admirable.

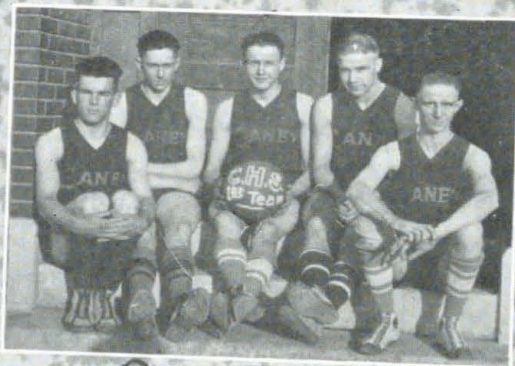

The fellows who are trying out this spring are very determined to do their best to help Caney High have a winning team. Frank McFarland and Sammie Warren are the only two last year's men back, and our hopes are now placed in future stars, such as Ralph Adams, Kenneth Rhoads, Charles Buckley, Charles St. John, Walter Vance, Junior Brown and Sardis McCrory.

The Verdigris Valley meet is to be held at Fredonia May 6 and the Santa Fe meet April 30 at Dewey. Our chances this year for winning both meets are fairly good. Caney stands for clean athletics and fair play, which shows true sportsmanship. Caney's athletes believe in being good losers as well as good winners.

MUSIC

"Music is the nearest at hand, the most orderly, the most delicate and the most perfect of all bodily pleasures. It is also the only one which is equally helpful to all ages of man."—RUSKIN.

Music is an enterprise in which many Caney High students engage. As you see on the opposite page, our school has a very large chorus. Chorus is open to anyone in school who wishes to enjoy himself in singing.

More students have taken chorus this year than ever before, which goes to show that Caney High intends to take her share of the glories in musical contests as well as in all other activities. Over one hundred students enrolled for chorus this term. It was indeed a hard job for the instructor to pick a mixed chorus for the league meets. This was the result of an abundance of good voices and keen competition. Miss Imogene Stallard has been the faithful accompanist for our choruses the entire term.

The Boys' and Girls' Glee clubs are permanent organizations, meeting once every week and sometimes oftener. In addition to these organizations, we have a Boys' Quartette and a Girls' Quartette.

MUSIC (Continued)

Caney High has done excellent work in music this year. The music department gave a recital on March 14 and fully demonstrated their ability to sing. Six entries were made in the Verdigris Valley League contest at Independence on March 18. In addition to the groups mentioned, two solo numbers were entered—Miss Erma Nett, in piano solo, and Miss Zula Coon, in soprano solo. In this contest the mixed chorus took second place and Miss Coon took third place. At the time the "Kane-Kan" goes to press, preparations are in full force for the Santa Fe contest. Caney took two cups in music in that league last spring.

Music can noble hints impart,
Engender fury, kindle love;
With unexpected eloquence can move
And manage all the man with secret art.

SECOND YEAR SCIENCE

Morris, Sherrill, Morris, Hilton, V. Morris, Bailey, Miller, Hemphill, Green, Roper, Mayfield, Jesson, Fell, Parker, Nett, Giles, Davis, Howell, Elliott.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

The Domestic Art and Science Department was enlarged this year to include two years of cooking and two years of sewing. It is one of the most live departments in the school.

In the second-year cooking class are seventeen wideawake girls engaged in the study of practical food questions. Some of the problems studied are: Cost of food; protein, mineral, vitamine and bulk requirements of the body; hospitality in the home; food needs of people under different conditions, such as sedentary versus active life, thin versus fat folks, feeding the child of various ages, food for the sick, convalescent diet; time economy of food preparation.

Economy of time and money is made an important factor. The girls get considerable practical experience in working out the cost and preparing food for school functions. Their most important serving was a three-course dinner to the Eastern Star members and guests.

FIRST YEAR SCIENCE

Weible, Dimmick, Garr, Hilderbrandt, Bailey, Brooks, Clark, Holeman, Curtis, Vance, Hemphill, King, Alford, Parker, Barger, Defenbaugh.

In the first-year Science class are enrolled fifteen girls. The course is a very practical one. The chief purpose is to teach the girls to prepare and serve simple foods. Included in the course is a study of food preservation, vegetables and fruits, carbohydrates, fats, protein, batters and doughs, frozen mixtures, planning and serving simple meals.

The members of the class serve breakfast and luncheon to each other. For practical work in the serving of dinner, this year's class has had ample opportunity. They served two dinners to members of the Chamber of Commerce, entertained the Board of Education and served the Junior-Senior banquet.

OUR HI-Y ORGANIZATIONS

Shortly after the beginng of the term, the Hi-Y organization was introduced into our school. Mr. Heartman, the Y. M. C. A. Secretary, of Pittsburg, gave the boys of the school a splendid talk and thoroughly explained what the three sides of the triangle stood for, and why the triangle was the symbol of the organization.

The plans were soon laid for a Hi-Y Club in this school, and the members of the inner circle were chosen by the Superintendent. A meeting was then held and from the inner circle the officers were elected. Junior Brown was elected president; Frank McFarland, vice-president; Charles Fell, secretary, and Sardis McCrory, treasurer. Later Junior Brown and Charles Fell resigned their offices. Reuben Davidson succeeded Charles Fell, and the vice-president was elected president.

For several months the meetings were held in one of the recitation rooms, and, although unaccompanied by a piano, the song service was usually enjoyable. After a time we were allowed to hold our meetings in the Christian Church. This was a great help because of the addition of the piano to our song service.

The social committee of our Hi-Y Club has kept very busy all the term. On December 7 a bean supper was given in the Domestic Art room. Several prominent business men were invited and each gave an impromptu speech.

On February 22 the club enjoyed a colonial party given by the Y. W. C. A. girls.

The officers for the next year's program are to be elected on April 7, and the new officers will take charge of the meetings for the rest of the term.

About the time that the Y. M. C. A. was organized, Miss Haas, a Y. W. Secretary, gave a talk in chapel and interested the girls in the Y. W. C. A. organization. Miss Hedges, Miss McKnight and Superintendent Shenk met and selected four girls from each class, this forming the inner circle. A meeting was held and from the inner circle the officers were elected. Velma Hemphill was elected president; Blanche Elliott, vice-president; Lorenza Lambillotte, secretary, and Lillie Jesson, treasurer.

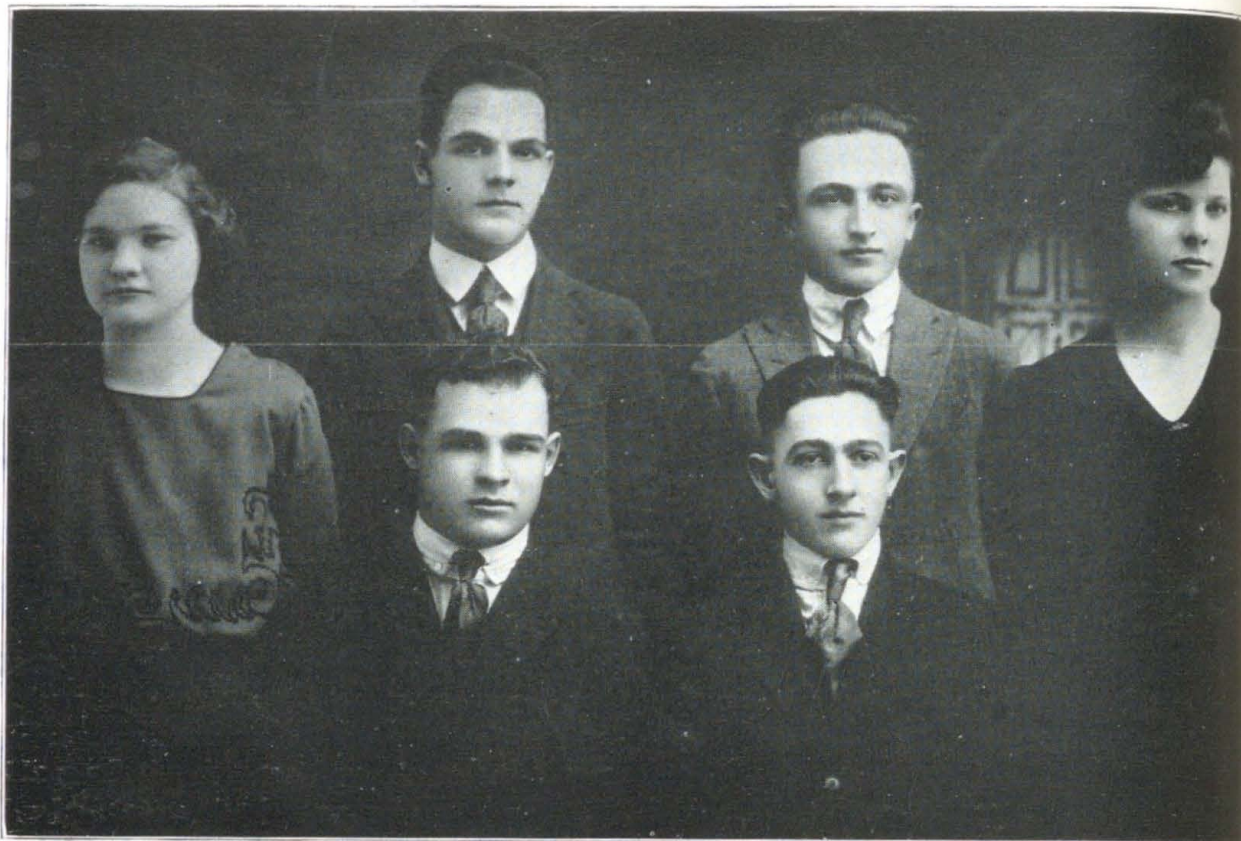

A short time later Miss Redford gave the girls a talk about the work of the Y. W. C. A. in foreign lands. In a short time the membership increased from sixteen to seventy-eight, this making Caney High nearly a one hundred per cent school.

On November 12 the girls gave a hamburger fry at the football game, and another one a week later. Both of the hamburger frys were successes from a finacial standpoint.

At Christmas time our W. Y. Club heard of a needy family and sent them a box of provisions.

On February 22 the club gave a colonial party for the Y. M. C. A. and the faculty, and when Caney was honored by the K. U. Glee Club, the Y. W. girls entertained them at an afternoon tea.

OUR TEAMS IN DEBATE

Caney started out this year with ten students trying for places on the debating teams, to uphold the splendid record made by Caney High in the past. Our tryout was held about six weeks before Christmas. Marjorie Lindsey, Reuben Davison and Charles Buckley were selected for the negative team, while Lula Lee Garr, Lawrence Burns and Kenneth Rhoads were selected for the affirmative team.

The teams worked hard on the subject, "Resolved, that the labor unions are detrimental to the best interest of the workingmen," and with the help and splendid coaching of their coaches, Superintendent Shenk and Mrs. Trapp, they soon developed into splendidly organized and highly polished teams.

The preliminary debates in the Verdigris Valley League were held February 9. Independence, Coffeyville and Caney went into a triangular debate.

Coffeyville forfeited to our negative team. The affirmative team went to Independence, where they made a very creditable showing.

Five of the debating team are in the class of '21, but from the host of material at the tryout, we look for many more prosperous years for Caney High in debating.

Society

SOCIETY

On the 11th of October the Seniors opened the social season of the year by giving a wiener roast at the dam. The party was chaperoned by Miss Monroe, and Miss Hedges and Miss Gilbreath were invited as guests. A little rain never dampens the spirits of the Seniors, and everyone had a good time.

Throughout the year wiener roasts have been very popular. On October 12 the Sophomores hiked to the Standpipe Hill and roasted wieners.

Even in January, wiener roasts were enjoyed. On January 6 the Freshmen, chaperoned by their class sponsors, Miss McClain and Miss Hedges, went on a hike and wiener roast to Cheyenne Bridge. Sweet pickles aren't much of a substitute for wieners, but they satisfied four Freshies.

On January 10 the Juniors "MOTORED" out east of town and built a blazing bonfire on the big hill, where they roasted wieners and toasted marshmallows. The weather was a bit chilly, but the event was certainly worth while.

JUNIOR-SENIOR HALLOWE'EN PARTY

One of the biggest events of the year was held on October 26, when the Juniors gave, in honor of the Seniors, the annual Hallowe'en masquerade. The High School auditorium, the scene of the party, was elaborately and beautifully decorated in colors, cornstalks, foliage and everything that goes together to suggest Hallowe'en. The guests came in all kinds of costumes. The masks were extraordinarily clever and concealing. Before unmasking, a prize was awarded for the best costume. Then the fun of the evening began. Virginia reels were formed, in which nearly everyone took part. Then all divided into groups, and clothespin, feather and pumpkin races were held. The old witch, who told her fortunes over her cauldron, was very popular. Following a grand march, led by Imogene Stallard and Paul Wilson, lunch was served. One of the big "cases" of the year owes its beginning to the decoration of this party. During the evening an informal program was given. About eighty people enjoyed the party. Everyone said that it was the best party ever.

On October 21 the Freshman class gave a Hallowe'en party in the High School auditorium. At 8 p. m. the class and faculty came in mask and costume. The auditorium was decorated in Freshman colors. Cats, owls and witches were everywhere. It was indeed a spooky sight. Pumpkins here and there furnished the light.

SOPHOMORE PARTY

The Sophomores gave themselves a party on November 17 and liked it so well that the boys wanted to have another one immediately.

On December 1 the boys gave a party in honor of their lady friends. They were minus a few of the friends, but nevertheless it was a great party. About twenty-one people took part in the festivities, and everyone had a good time. The party was chaperoned by Miss Ramage, the Sophomore sponsor.

SENIOR PARTY

A rollicking good time on twenty-four hours' notice! That is the record for the Seniors. The party was held December 1 in the Domestic Art room. The room was made into a very comfortable living-room. Games which caused much merriment were played. During the evening a mock marriage was staged, with Velma Hemphill as the bride and Frank McFarland as the groom. The divorce case which followed was a bitter struggle for freedom on the part of the neglected wife. Kenneth Rhoads here demonstrated his oratorical powers in conducting the defense.

Again, December 20, the Seniors gave themselves another party in the Art room. This one was just as big a success as the other one. The Seniors came dressed in aprons and overalls. Everyone had a good time pulling taffy and entering into the contests.

NEW YEAR'S PARTY

Even the Alumni are still contributors to the social columns. On New Year's Eve they gave a party in the auditorium. Three Seniors—Velma Hemphill, Blanche Elliott and Frank McFarland—were invited as guests. The most exciting event of the evening was the grand march, which wound in and out over the building. An informal program was given, after which punch was served. At midnight the party took a truck ride over town, gently reminding the people that the new year was being royally welcomed in.

BASKET BALL PARTY

Soon after the Christmas holidays our Principal and his wife entertained the basketball squads, both boys and girls, at their home. The basketeers popped corn, pulled taffy, listened to the Victrola and had a splendid good time altogether. The team felt that the Principal was ready with help and encouragement, and stood for the best in athletics.

ROOK PARTY

The Freshman class gave a party March 12 in honor of Thelma Kerby, Fern Parker and Harold Harvey, who were members of the winning teams at the basketball tournament at Bartlesville. The party was held in the auditorium, which was simply but attractively decorated. The evening was spent in playing progressive rook. Genevieve Alford and Jesse Blair were the couple to win the prize for the most games won. Refreshments of hot grape juice with whipped cream and wafers were served.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY PARTY

The Sophomores celebrated St. Patrick's Day in great style. They gave a party for themselves, the faculty and a few other invited guests in the auditorium. The party was indeed a gay and enjoyable affair. The color scheme was carried out in green and white. A large canopy hung over the room and green shamrocks decorated the walls. Some nine Irish families attended this party, and contests between the families were held. Chief among these was the grunting contest. All the contestants tried most valiantly, and to Mr. Tewell, alias Pat Milligan, was conceded the prize for the best grunter. A pretty and appetizing two-course luncheon was served. We'll have to give it to the Sophs; they know how to give a real party.

LAST SENIOR PARTY

The Seniors gave themselves their last party of the year on March 30 in the Domestic Science and Art rooms. Not all of the class were present, but those who were had enough fun to make up for the rest. Delicious refreshments of nut cake and sherbet were served. "Shorty" takes the prize when it comes to cake. Genevieve acted as the hostess of the evening. Principal and Mrs. Tewell were the guests of the class. The party was chaperoned by the class sponsor.

AT THE END OF THE RAINBOW

A college play which centers around a football game, sorority and frat affairs, safe-breaking and romance.

QUITE A CROWD

KANE KRONICLES

SEPTEMBER

- 7—And it came to pass that on this day many seekers of knowledge and good times journeyed their way to school to be numbered in the tribe of old C. H. S. Many did wax enthusiastic, but others had troubled minds and were doubtful. Confusion in hall—new trophy case comes to school, surrounded by admirers. A gift of class '20.
- 8—The Freshmen appear greener than the front lawn.
- 15—Yell meeting. Senior girls and boys wear class colors to chapel.
- 23—First Lyceum Course number. Frazer Company. Whoever knew before that a common old saw had music in its soul.
- 25—Class organization. Playing at politics.
- 30—Annual staff chosen. Poor Frank?

OCTOBER

- 1—Senior finger decorations. Competition for honor of possessing smallest finger. Who'll get to wear the boys' rings?
- 8—Yell meeting held for the football game with Coffeyville.
- 9—Stevens Chamberlain Co.
- 11—Seniors go on wiener roast. Two new cases started. Who?
- 15—Organization of Y. W. C. A. Football game with Neodesha here.
- 18—Miss Haass gives a splendid talk to boost our Y. W. C. A.
- 21—The awakening of the Freshmen. They have a Hallowe'en party. Rain postpones their initiation by upper classmen.
- 22—Fredonia's football team arrives.
- 23—Mr. Hertford gives the Y. M. boys a talk at chapel time.
- 25—School out this afternoon for the Yankee Robinson circus. O boy, did you feed the elephants peanuts?
- 26—O, how nice it was of the Juniors; they gave a Hallowe'en party to the Seniors.
- 27—Mr. Humphrey visits chapel.
- 28-29—Hurrah for Teachers' Convention. Everyone rejoices at the vacation.
- 29—Football game with Independence, beaten but not defeated.

NOVEMBER

- 3—Beginning of basketball practice.
- 4—Columbian Playhouse Co. The Lost Opera.
- 5—Football game with Altamont.
- 9—Special chapel. Dr. Franklin Babb.
- 10—Delegates of Y. W. C. A. leave for the convention held at Newton.
- 12—Football game with Dewey at Caney. Oh, you hot hamburgers and coffee.
- 17—Sedan gets her dues in football. Caney surprises them all.
- 18—Sophomores entertain themselves with a party.

- 19—We know that a few girls study on Sunday night, as there is always a light in the parlors.
 20—A big day for Bartlesville. Caney could not repeat their football tactics with Sedan.
 24—Miss Hedges takes students to theatre for entertainment. Quiet, please.

DECEMBER

- 1—Sophomore boys give a party in Auditorium. Girls are hard to get, especially if you don't ask them until time to start to the party. Senior party a tip-top time on twenty-four hours' notice. A sensational marriage and divorce case. Seniors sympathize with the bride.
 2—Mrs. Hattie Moore Mitchell at chapel. W. A. T. C. H.
 3—Lyceum Course number—Quartette. Say, I want to ask you something. How many does it take to make a quartette, three or four?
 18—Santa isn't coming fast enough this year for some people whose names we might mention.
 20—Seniors have apron and overall party. Taffy pulling. How many blisters have you? Duke gets enough to eat for once.
 21—Senior girls doll up in aprons for school. Gee, don't they look sweet?
 22—Christmas vacation.

JANUARY

The holidays are past and gone,
 Those good old days of gay and cheer,
 So here, to all, we now extend
 A very prosperous New Year.

- 1—Basketball game. Our Boys vs. Alumni. After the game the Seniors of old have a New Year's watch party.
 4—Sophomores have a wiener roast.
 6—Boys lose first basketball game at Collinsville. Too bad, but luck will change. Freshmen go on a wiener roast.
 10—Of course the Freshmen could say that the Juniors copied off of them, but despite the copying, the Juniors had a wiener roast, too.
 11—Game with Dewey. Double-header. Double victory. Sard made the unique record of 31 points out of the total 31.
 15—Report cards. Those beautiful grade cards, how tenderly we cherish them.
 16—"The bitter must come with the sweet." Ask those who skip classes if it isn't so.
 20—Kater, Magician. Wasn't the little red-headed boy handsome?
 21—Copan and Neodesha, today's opponents in basketball. Three teams in the field.
 25—Mrs. Jarvis appears with a strand of new red beads. I guess Santa Claus gave them to her.
 26—Mrs. McClain takes us to the picture show to see The Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes.

FEBRUARY

- 1—The Non-Bob Castle Club organized. Everyone wearing their hair straight back.
- 5—Rained today. Oh, fudge!
- 9—Debaters argufy with M. C. H. S. at Independence. Rooters appear on the scene and surprise contestants.
- 12—Herbert L. Cope.
- 20—This was the day a certain Sophomore boy told a certain Senior girl that he loved her 99%. Oh slush!
- 22—Lizzie's birthday. I wonder how old she is? Y. W. C. A. entertained Y. M. with a Martha and George Washington party. Many girls costumed, but did any of the boys?
- 24—Juniors have box supper. Whew! Weren't the boxes pretty? The Seniors will have their fun when they eat the banquet provided by the proceeds.

MARCH

- 1—The month for the "Bobbies." Everyone seems to come to school with her hair bobbed.
- 2—Basketball game at Independence. The V. V. cup fades away in the distance.
- 5—Basketball tournament at Bartlesville. Bring home two new cups and many Easter bonnets.
- 7—Special chapel to celebrate the beautiful cups won by our boys' second team and by the girls' team, at the tournament. Quarter holiday. Big parade. Special matinee. Wiener roast planned after matinee, but, oh, how it rained! Mr. Damon gives a treat to boys' and girls' basketball teams.
- 8—Miss Monroe gets a new dictionary.
- 9—The basketball teams have their pictures taken for the Kane-Kan. We bet that some of the boys practiced posing before the looking glass. Domestic Science girls feed Chamber of Commerce.
- 10—Seventh hour study hall. "O-o-o-o-o-o-oh!" groaned the victims.
- 10—Three Seniors go a-fishing. What did they catch (when they got back)?
- 11—Trim Neodesha for the second time in basketball. Freshmen vs. Junior High. A little more pep, Freshies.
- 12—Freshmen enjoyed themselves at a rook party, given in honor of the class athletes. Wonder if they knew how to bid?
- 14—Musical recital given in the auditorium by music department and others. Boys' quartette, hit of the evening.
- 16—Sophomores have a St. Patrick's party. Oh, you shamrocks! For once the Sophs. look as green as Freshies.
- 16—Chamber of Commerce come for second dinner.
- 17—And it's "Hurrah for ould Ireland!" Did you see Kenneth McFarland with a green tie on?

- 18—Music contest at Independence. We have lots of pep left for the next contest.
- 21—It is rumored that Jenks and Ida went to church last night, but we hardly think they would do such a thing as that.
- 23—K. U. Glee Club entertains at Chapel. They're here for the night too. The Y. W. girls entertain them after chapel. O you poor boys, had to stay in the study hall and study. But that's nothing, you got to sit on the front row in Chapel.

APRIL

- 22—Athletic heroes and friends banquet sumptuously.
- 26—Expression Department gives recital.
- 29—Santa Fe League track meet.
- 30—Speakin', singin', runnin' and jumpin'. Some excitement to all that.

MAY

- 1—Four more weeks to go.
- 4—Junior-Senior annual banquet.
- 11—Seniors give last Chapel. Dispose of treasured articles which must be left behind.
- 15—Baccalaureate Services. Seniors have first experience in managing caps and gowns. Duke says tassels are worse than pompadours to fall down in a fellow's eyes. Shorty says "No kimonas for me."
- 17—At the End of the Rainbow. Future stage stars make their debut.
- 18—Commencement Exercises. Bishop Wise gives address.
- 19—Underclassmen work while Seniors stroll halls with lordly airs and proudly display bits of parchment.
- 20—The last doom is sealed. To pass or not to pass. A strange mixture of sobs and rejoicing. Goodbye old C. H. S. for three months, and for some of us forever.

"He will be." remarked Kenneth thoughtfully.

Charles Peterson—"My love for you is like the deep blue sea."

Lula Brown—"And I take it with the corresponding amount of salt."

Miss Ramage—"Why Ida, do you paint?"

Ida Roper—"No, I haven't any talent along that line."

Una Brooks—"There is something I don't like about Velma."

Grace McCall—"Mercy! What is it?"

Una Brooks—"Frank's arm."

She—"You looked awfully foolish when you proposed to me."

He—"Well, I was."

Junior—"Fern, are you going to take supper anywhere tomorrow night?"

Fern (eagerly)—"Why, no. Not that I know of."

Junior (placidly)—"My, won't you be hungry the next morning?"

Fred Clark—"Did your watch stop when it hit the sidewalk?"

Ted Muir—"Certainly, did you think it went through?"

Miss Hedges—"Will you please run up the window shade?"

Junior—"I may be an athlete, but I don't believe that I can do that."

Miss Ramage (in Physiology)—"What are the mumps?"

Bruce M.—"A swell disease."

If money talks as some folks tell,

To most of us it says "Farewell."

Mr. Tewell at Arcade—"Do you serve lobsters here?"

Bob Wilson—"Yes sir, we serve everybody. Just sit down."

Mary had a wad of gum;

She chewed it hard and slow;

Everywhere that Mary went,

That gum was sure to go.

She took it to school one day,

Which was against the rule;

The teacher took it away from her

And chewed it after school.

Mr. Adams—"Walter, stop talking to Genevieve."

Walter Vance—"I was not talking to her."

Mr. Adams—"Oh, how unpleasant it must be for Genevieve to have a young man sit silently and stare at her."

An Interesting Subject

Velma—"Oh, Frank's delightful company."

Gladys—"What does he talk about?"

Velma—"Me!"

Tat Heenan—"For fifty cents, a fortune teller once told me that I had a lovely disposition and that a handsome man was crazy about me."

Lula Brown—"Well, that shows what money will do."

He looked up in confidence as she spoke his name. Her clear blue eyes seemed to search his very soul. He vainly tried to speak. Now she was smiling, but alas, he could not utter the words which meant so much to him.

(No, folks, this is not a love story, but a tragedy which occurs in different class rooms several times each day.)

Yield not to temptation, for yielding is sin,
No sister will help you her brother to win;
Fight girlfully onward, dark lashes subdue,
Don't flirt with the boys, girls, let them flirt with you.

Charles Fell—"Those girls used to be bosom friends, now they don't speak."

Charles Alford—"What is his name?"

Opal Mayfield—"Do you know that he tried to put his arm around me three times last night?"

Gene—"Whew! Some arm."

Charles Alford—"What's the difference between 'get' and 'secure'?"

Kenneth Rhoads—"Something like this—you might get a date with a girl, but to feel secure that she will keep it is another thing."

Senior—"What makes you so little?"

Freshman—"My mother fed me on canned milk and I'm condensed."

Robert Harris—"Are you going to hang up any mistletoe this Christmas, Gladys?"

Gladys Mills—"Indeed not. I've got too much pride to advertise for the ordinary courtesies that any young lady has the right to expect."

Charles St. John—"Ted, did you read in this book where it said thousands of people are killed by kissing?"

Ted Muir—"Yes."

Charles St. John—"How did it impress you?"

Ted Muir—"It seemed pretty dangerous. But isn't it great stuff if you live through it?"

Johnny," exclaimed the teacher; "Can you give me a simile to the word maiden?"

"Yes, Miss," responded Johnny, "A maiden is like cider."

"Very good, Johnny. You see, boys," explained the teacher who was of uncertain age and irascible disposition, "Johnny means that a maiden is sweet like cider."

"Yes," broke in Johnny, "and grows sour with old age."

You can always tell a Freshman

You can always tell a Junior
By his worried looks and such.
You can always tell a Sophomore
But you cannot tell him much.
