CLASS HISTORY

In the fall of 1945 a class of fifty-six innocent, carefree students started their four years of senior high as freshmen in C. H. S. Miss Amne Berger and Mr. Harold Frazier took the reins as advisors and Jerry Dancer was elected president.

Miss Berger and Mr. Frazier again led this group as they started their sophomore year in 1946. Class officers that term were Bill Boles, Floyd Swayne, June George, Mary Pocock, and Jerry Dancer.

The banquet, given in honor of the seniors, the prom, and the choosing of those all-important class rings highlighted the junior year of this highly active and talented class. They choose Dean Barrett, Floyd Swayne, Bill Boles, Jerry Dancer, and Jerry Smith to show them the way while Miss Hallie Broadie and Miss Berger were sponsors. By this year they had become quite prominent in school affairs, being well represented in sports, the Playmakers, Kayettes and all the other school organizations.

Then came September, 1948, and the beginning of the final year. Forty-nine dignified, resolute seniors enrolled for membership in the "Class of '49," with Jerry Dancer, June George, Raymond Allen, Bill Boles, and Farrel McClure as class officers. Miss Broadie and Mr. Robert Dennis accepted the responsibility of being sponsors. The seniors were the backbone of Caney High School's superb football team and band. Never forgotten will be the plays, sneak day, or the junior-senior banquet. Then, the "Class of '49" went on to graduation, leaving behind their happy days in Caney High and a record of which they can be proud.

1949 SENIOR CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of 1949, being of superior mind and sound body—having a total of 490 toes, 98 ears, 49 mouths, 46 appendixes, and more brains than has ever been possessed by any other graduating class of Caney High School—do hereby make our last will and testament.

First, to our dear faculty, we leave; hoping that you have as much success with next year's seniors as you did with the class of 1949, realizing that the job will be more difficult because of the material with which you have to work.

To the Junior Class we leave our beauty, good looks, and brilliant minds—you need them!

To the Sophomore Class we leave our class motto, "With the ropes of the past we shall ring the bell of the future." We suggest that you tie the ropes around your necks before ringing the bells.

To the Freshman Class we leave exactly one scent—the one that wafts daily from the chemistry room.

To the Eighth Grade we leave even less. Close your eyes, Eighth Graders. What do you see? Nothing? That's what we leave to you.

To the Seventh Grade we leave the 1,567,349 straight pins which held our 1948 banquet together. Now don't feel that you've been stuck—because we're giving you what took us five years to gain.

To our janitors, "Curly" Rollins and Merle Morris, we leave our worn-out lockers and pinup pictures, with the idea that they hang them in the janitor's room, thus making it even more comfortable for those who share its hospitality.

I, Raymond Allen, leave my Toni home permanent which gives my hair that "natural look" to Forrest Lee Coltharp.

I, Jack Anderson, leave my ability to be a jerk—soda, that is—to Blaine Jenkins.

I, Wesley Atkinson, leave my ability for getting in bad with the office to Allan Morris, who probably won't have any trouble at all.

I, Dean Barrett, leave my ability to go steady with one girl six different times in one year to Dickie Don White.

I, Edna Bartley, leave my address book to Dorothy Shippy in case her sailors should all sail away.

I, Don Gramly, leave my manly ways and the hair on my chest to Gene Covell.

I, Bill Howard, leave my long legs and ability to flirt with girls to John Lindsay. John, use them wisely.

I, Dava Jo Ikerd, alias Dana Jo Querd, returns Bob Nay to the sophomore girls, who will need him after the senior boys are gone.

I, Leonard Kittle, leave my ability on the football field—running, passing, and tackling—and properly kissing the football queen—to my good friend, Keith Rigdon.

I, Jim Marion, leave CHS without having written one story for the Nakenak, on whose staff I am a member. In my own words "Tweren't easy."

I, Garold Mayfield, leave on my horse, and wish I could take Eleanor Adams with me.

I, Howard McCammon, leave my sleeping pills, which I take before American History class each day, to Jim Bill Perry. That's one way to enjoy that class.

We, Ferrell McClure and Howard Henderson, leave our husky physiques and positions on the football team to Jerry Close and Keith Rogers.

I, Barbara Nason, leave my vitamin pills, tonics, Ovaltine and liver medicine to Jack Hollingworth. Since they didn't make me gain weight maybe they will work the opposite with Jack.

I, Ethel Newton, leave a little nervously to march down the aisle and become Mrs. Rodrick Wilson.

I, Pat Blanks, leave my ability to do the "Alabama Shake" to Sue Lambdin.

I, Bill Boles, gladly leave my quick temper to Ann Smith—and also sorrowfully leave Marjorie Williams.

I, Joan Bowersock, leave in hopes of becoming Mrs. Dick Bird—and also with the hope that Mr. Bird will never fly the coop.

I, Maxine Bradshaw, leave my ability for not attending school in the afternoon to Shirley Johnson. It's legal the way I do it.

I, Melvin Brooks, leave my motor scooter to Patsy Harris so that she can make her fingernail trimming appointments on time.

I, Firman Carinder, leave my ability for getting engaged my junior year to my brother, "Indian Joe."

I, Edwin Clayton, leave my beautiful voice, guitar, and horse to my dear friend and fellow bass horn player, Don Carriker. He has the corn to feed the horse.

I, Harold Courtney, leave my favorite parking place in the auditorium to Robert Klewer, providing he doesn't share it with Helen Hollandsworth.

I, Jerry "Heartbreaker" Dancer, leave my ability as a home wrecker and mighty man to Billy Joe Morris.

I, Delores Elliott, leave my quiet ways, worn out pencils, and ability as a waitress to my brother, "Buck."

I, Frank Endres, leave my first chair in band and position on the football team to Billy Joe McClure.

I, Mary Freisberg, leave my ability for writing letters to my boy friends on school time to Pat Estes, providing that she doesn't make them too mushy.

I, June George, leave, confident of a Republican victory both in CHS and the nation in 1952. If that isn't enough, I leave two toots on my French horn to Lila Hollandsworth.

I, Tom Hemphill, leave my ability for getting a private pilot's license to Fenton Easterling. On second thought, Fenton gets around fast enough on his own two feet.

We, Dona and Louis Scarbrough, leave our difference in looks to Oleva and Robert Lewis. They aren't twins, but "guess which one has the Toni."

I, Bill Skinner, leave my ability to "take it," acquired in the Navy, to my fellow ex-gob, E. W. Nordstrom, who sometimes has his bad moments getting sweet music out of our band.

I, Jerry Smith, leave the bumps I got on the football field, to Quentin Anderson and Fred Bunch, who gave me a lot of them in the first place.

I, Margaret Patterson, leave my ability for liking a different man every day to Betty Lou Gaylord.

I, Patty Pendleton, leave my ability as Cheerleader to Bill Patterson. Now, Bill, please don't forget to strut!

I, Mary Catherine Bookter, leave with nothing to worry about. I've caught my man.

I, Jaunita Purkey, leave my muscles in my right arm to Helen Sue Williams. The muscles in my left arm I leave to my brother, Don, to use in holding my cornet, which I also leave to him.

I, Dennis Reed, leave my ability for making ape faces in Senior English to Gene Charles, who, incidentally, won't have to try very hard.

I, Freda Carter-Vaughn, don't leave I've already gone—and got married.

I, William Floyd Swayne, leave my basketball eligibility to Bob Nay and warn him to be careful how he takes care of it.

I, Robert Van, leave my good luck horse shoe, which is located in the sidewalk at the front entrance of dear old CHS to Dola Howard and request that she not take it home.

I, Mavis Wagner, leave—glad to join the ranks of alumni, one of whom I joined sometime back.

I, Wayne Snow, leave my ability for keeping my mouth shut to Maggie Brown. I wonder if she will appreciate it?

I, Don Whittington, leave my mittens to Melva Skinner, who will need them next winter (I hope) as I won't be around to hold her hands.

I, Gerry Whittington, leave my popularity with the boys to all girls of the sophomore class, which should assure each of them of fifty dates per semester.

I, Carole Sue Willcoxson, leave my beau—no, I mean bow (violin) to Pat Crawford.

I, J. C. Young, do bequeath my admiration for out-of-town girls, plus my ability to tear up cars, to Ferd Estes, confident that he will be a worthy successor.

I, Phyllis Woolf, leave, thankful that I have taken a course in Home Ec since the way to a man's heart is through his stomach.
