

Letters To The Editor

In regard to the Bartlesville City Library controversy, I would like to suggest that the best welfare of the library would be served by eliminating controversial individuals and groups, having an objective survey made by competent, independent citizens not involved in the present controversy. No permanent or satisfactory solution can be found in victory or defeat of either side because principles and purposes are confused with personalities.

N. D. Welty