SONG OF APPLE DAY POEM

Gerald Hutton, Reader

(1)

This is the song of Alma Mater Day,
A story of a century: The way
A college institution came to be
Here, with children in reality
Around the world; a past as clear
As any amongst free men; a story dear.
The deeds of men live first
In Dreams!

Our home of Louisiana Purchase, then
A territory named for Kanza men,
Became a state with land. This acreage
Where Alma Mater stands, used to assuage
A homeless Indian tribe of Cherokees.
But they preferred the cash. Far from the seas
Which beat on shores of east and west,
Traveling white men sought with longing and with zest,
Homes. Bits of land in Kansas. Peopled soon
By pioneers, whose cattle grazed on prairie boon,
Here, a trail, a military road
Became our Broadway.

(3)

On this abode
Of ours, this campus, sod was turned by Ox;
With our great brick-laid structures of today.
Wind whistled through cornfields: a paradox
These walls exist because a Dreamer came this way,
A teacher, sent his dream into the heart
Of Public Servants. A school apart
From other schools came into being then,
To grow and quicken acres here again
Into a college harvest.

All hail a founder,
A man of dreams and deeds, named R. S. Russ!
To his great zeal to bring a victory
To College dream and persuade men to see
Our need . . . he sat, a weary man, in sacred pew
Of legislators. For this rule, of which he knew
Not, he paid a fine, a barrel of apples, red,
But WON THE VOTE. When all was said
The apple seemed a symbol of success
And meant a campus home,

Each year that students pass
Commemoration Day, we pause to eat
An apple, to remember those who turned defeat
And won.

A glorious way
of honoring our founders . . . Apple Day!

(4)

Here on an old cornfield arose Russ Hall
With eighty rooms to house, enthrall

And bind into a unit student band.
 Faculty came to lend a guiding hand;
 They labored, sang and builded well hereon
 A campus Apple Day begun; and Alma Mater won!
 The builders names included students loyal,
 And tireless endeavors; persons royal,
 Teachers, friends, neighbors, lawmakers came
 Along our campus way to build our name.
 Some journeyed on, to other work, to fame,
 To other words.

They left behind, a tower
 We now adore, Remember them, this hour.
 For Founder Russ, and others living yet,—
 Who saw the dream take form, do not forget
 Their service. For those of faculty
 Who set the silver stake of campus years,
 Take heed. For those beyond the earthly veil
 We name a few and light a candle pale,
 To shine for all the multitudes who gave
 A share!

(5)

Yet,—brave
 And noble memories must show a way
 To point again our highest aims, today!
 Come leaders, chosen by our college throngs:
 Accept a light; accept a symbol, which belongs
 To Apple Day! By this, we honor once again,
 Our Alma Mater founders
 And pledge to carry on!

PLEDGE VERSE—ALMA MATER SONG

Let her worthy sons and daughters
 For our College proudly stand,
 Shielding zealously her honor
 In one brave unbroken band;
 Let them hold aloft her banner
 With a stout and steady arm,
 Rallying her children round it
 From the city, town, and farm.
