Start on Second Act Of 'Rebecca'

Students Progress Rapidly on Play Which Will Be Presented
May 10

The students in the senior play, 'Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm', have memorized the first act and are starting with the second," said Miss Dorothy McPherson, director of the play, last Tuesday.

She went on to say that the progress had been rather rapid although May 10, when it will be presented, did seem to be rushing in on them.

"Rebecca," she continued, "is in keeping with the popular trend on the stage and in the movies of dramatizing favorite books."

The play is well known to most people. Rebecca Rowena Randall is sent by her mother, who is burdened down with a large family and a mortgage, to live with her more fortunate relatives, Aunts Miranda and Jane. They wish her to stay with them at the brick house and let them educate her.

She arrives to find no one is home so she immediately proceeds to make a lasting friend of Jerry Cobb, the old stage driver into whose care her mother had placed her.

When her aunts return, the house looks slightly different than when they left, so Rebecca is sent to bed. Not being able to stand her Aunt Miranda's rigid standards, she runs away, but at her new friend's (Cobb's) suggestion she decides to try it one more.

As time progresses Rebecca's Latin blood gets her out of one scrap into another. At one time she tries to sell soap so she can get a lamp for a poor family. She proves herself to be a good salesman because Adam Ladd buys the lot. Because of this gallant act he is always called Aladdin.

The brick house slowly but surely changes under the influence of Rebecca's loving and cheerful nature. Her tyrannical Aunt Miranda is won over as is everyone who is brought in contact with her.

Before the play ends Rebecca is sent to school at Wareham and graduates with honors.

Throughout the atmosphere that Kate Douglas Wiggin knew so well is maintained—old New England, giving a chance to have "charming everyday characters and quaint costumes."

Mr. Clyde Hartford, sponsor of the Joe Dance Hi-Y club, attended the 53rd annual state Y. M. C. A. convention at Wichita last Thursday and Friday. The 50th anniversary banquet of the Wichita Y. M. C. A. was held last Friday.

Hartford and Mr. John Free of Wichita had charge of the Camp Wood breakfast Friday morning.

Education To Be General Theme Of '35 Yearbook

Purple and White in Hands of Printers; Cover Not Decided Upon

Dedication Is a Secret

Staff Constructs "Annual in the Rough" to Plan Layout For Pictures and Engravings

The 1935 edition of the Purple and White will have a theme pertaining to education, according to Mrs. Dora Peterson, sponsor.

The front and back fly leaves of the 36th volume of the annual are to be "ex libris." On the first page will be a full page picture of the Pittsburg Senior High School. Facing this plate will be the title page.

On page three will be the interpretation of the title page. The following page will contain the foreword and its interpretation. Pages six and seven will contain the dedication of the year book and its interpretation.

The pictures of the administration heads, Superintendent M. M. Rose and Principal J. L. Hutchinson, will be on page eight. Near each picture will be that person's conception of education as he regards it.

"All we are waiting for now is the printers," said John C. Miller, editor in chief.

The annual staff has constructed the "dummy" from the proofs sent from the Waterloo Engraving Company. The "dummy" is merely an "annual in the rough" and is made-up to assist the printers in their work.

"The copy for the extra curricular activities of the seniors and descriptions and names of various clubs and athletic organizations are in the hands of the printer," the editor explained.

The printing company which has contracted the work of printing the annual is Saunders, a Pittsburg concern.

The year-book staff is debating and consulting the sponsors, Mrs. Peterson and Miss Anna D. Costello, on the price and type of cover for the book. "Our price range is from 18¢ to 23¢ cents," stated Mrs. Peterson.

Two covers that the staff has in mind are in this price range. Both are semi-flexible and have a flat-grained imitation leather covering. One of them has a raised diamond-shaped monogram plate in the upper left hand corner and the other has a raised plate of a youth holding an open book on his knees to carry out the idea of the theme, education.

High School Donates $100 to Y.M.C.A. Fund

Home Rooms Pledge Various Sums;
City Teachers Give $275 To Cause; Cash Already Paid

Assuming an attitude of helpfulness, the students of Pittsburg Senior High School have donated $100 toward the $7,500 goal set by the Y. M. C. A. to pay off a $26,000 mortgage.

By a special offer, which will hold good until Tuesday night, April 30, the mortgage can be paid for $7,500. Principal J. L. Hutchinson, representing the high school, turned over the $100 Monday night to supplement the sum which the high school faculty had already donated.

The Roosevelt and Lakeside junior high schools expressed a desire to help and are making pledges.

"The high school has helped the fund by reaching people who would not have donated had there not been some central agency. The high school supplied this agency," Principal J. L. Hutchinson explained.

Music Students Are Ready For College Contest

Contestants Better Prepared
Than Ever Before, According to Carney

Entries From 3 States

About 400 From Pittsburg High School Will Compete
Next Week

"I believe that the organizations and soloists are better prepared for the music contest than they ever have been before," said Mr. Gerald M. Carney, director of music at the high school. "I think they all will make a good show whether they win anything or not." There are about 300 entries from the high school.

The sixteenth annual interstate high school music contest which includes entries from three states, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma, will be held next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in connection with the annual spring music festival at the College.

Judges Are Well Known

The judges, who have been secured, are nationally known musicians. Herbert Gould, who is the bass of the festival quartet, is the local judge. He is the dean of music at Drake university and is one of the outstanding oratorio singers of the country.

Rudolph Gauz, one of the country's outstanding pianists, will be the judge of pianos. He will appear as guest conductor of the festival orchestra and will give a lecture recital.

Karl Krueger, conductor of the Kansas City Philharmonic orchestra, and Carl Busch, noted Kansas City composer, will judge the orchestras and bands. Mr. Krueger and Mr. Busch rate as leading conductors of the country.

The judge of the brass instruments is Ben H. Kendrick, director of the Kansas City civic bands. Fred S. Taste, first clarinet player in the Kansas City Philharmonic orchestra, will judge the wood-wind instruments.

Arthur Uhe, instructor in violin in Bethany college, Lindsborg, is the judge of the string instruments.

Part of the entries from the high school appeared on the concert last night. They were Elizabeth Watson, soprano; Billie Ann Hutto, contralto; Ella Hurst, piano; Billy Parks, oboe; Eugenia Ann Crane, violin; the girls' quartet; the girls' glee club; the Lakeside mixed chorus; the Roosevelt mixed chorus; the junior high orchestra; the senior high orchestra.

Drawing for places was held Tuesday afternoon at the College.

Band To Take Four Out of Town Trips

Chamber of Commerce Will Sponsor
Concerts by Music Group
To "Boost Pittsburg"

The high school band will take several trips out of town next month, according to Mr. Gerald Carney, music instructor of the high school.

Mr. Carney said that the band would go to Lamar, Arcadia, Girard and Liberal. The Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburg, which is sponsoring these trips to "Boost Pittsburg," also will take the band to several other cities to play.

These trips will not be made according to Mr. Carney, until after the music contest at the College. They probably will be on May 1, May 9, May 16 and May 21.

All of these trips will be at night and will be made in cars furnished by the Chamber of Commerce. If the trips prove successful the Chamber said it later would sponsor more extensive tours.

This series of concerts will give the band a good opportunity to display its new uniforms, said Mr. Carney.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Then said he unto them, nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom.—St. Luke, 21:10.

A great war leaves the country with three armies—an army of cripples, an army of mourners, and an army of thieves.—German proverb.

REMEMBER REAL MEANING

With the coming of Easter comes the thought of spring and spring outfits. What woman does not crave a new Easter dress and bonnet or a spring suit?

Or perhaps you have a short vacation planned. We should not, however, allow the real meaning of Easter to be hidden or forgotten.

Easter is one of the most beautiful of all the holidays declared in the honor of the Christ. And while the Easter bunny idea is a clever one for children, they should be taught the real significance of the day.

So let us remember what Easter really means while we think of our spring outfits.—E. C.

The upperclass girls are "cream-puffs." Miss Lanyon wants girls to turn out for interclass armoryball, and only sophomores have turned out. How about a little representation from the juniors and seniors?

WE LIKE IT

During the past five years the faculty has entered more into the school's activities rather than just the directing and sponsoring. This is an excellent idea and attitude for the teachers to have.

The annual faculty play has been proved a success because the students are interested in seeing their instructors on an equal standard. This play has brought the realization that a teacher has the ability to do other things other than instruct and teach discipline.

The faculty basketball team gives to the men of the faculty an opportunity to play with their students as well as work. It develops sportsmanship between the faculty and the students.

The Girl Reserve and Hi-Y conferences are a help toward this feeling of friendship. During these conferences the sponsors and representatives are both guests.

School is more of a pleasure than a duty since the teachers have taken a personal interest in the activities.—M. H.

Ignorance and stupidity still reign supreme in this house of learning as has been demonstrated by the throwing of pennies on the stage during a presentation.

GET SOME PEP

We should give a vote of thanks to Mr. Claude I. Huffman, Mr. Charles O. Jordan, and Mr. Ray Heady. These three teachers are the ones who prepare the song chapels we have been having. As a whole, the school is to be complimented upon its response to these songs. There is only one thing that we must do and that is not drag the songs. If we succeed in this that type of chapel will be very successful.—D. F.

Come to the music concert at 8 o'clock tonight.

BAND TO MAKE TRIPS

The band is going to make several out of town trips next month.

The bands most important drawing point, save the new uniforms, are the trips offered the students who enroll. The band, however, seems unable to draw very many members. Out of over 800 students, only 65 are in the band.

There are two reasons for this lack of interest. First, there are not enough credits offered; second, the band doesn't take enough trips. Possibly if more trips were offered, the band would grow proportionally.

These trips are just the thing to get new members to "sign up" to take band. We need more of them.

That he put his hands in his pockets 205 times was the knowledge of one senior girl after Dr. Chubb's first talk.

SCIENCE CLUB TRIPS

The science club is planning other trips to observe the working of mechanical wonders as developed by the mechanics.

After studying in class and after school, the student has a hazy idea of what the real plant is like. Armed with this information Mr. Jordan organizes a group and sets a date. Then those interested travel to the plant where some technician who knows what he is talking about explains the working of the plant.

When the student reaches home he has a decided advantage over those who didn't go because he has the text book's idea and the facts and they really are to draw his conclusions from. The cost for the trip is divided among those who go, so it is small in relation to the benefits received.—A. H.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

TERCENTENARY—AND FACTS
(From Salina High News)

America, the land of excellent schools, is, this year, celebrating its tercentennial of secondary education.

But, education is still one of the major concerns of this country despite its superior scholastic system. America realizes that with the education of the masses will come the perfection of states and the improvement of lives.

Civilized nations have taken its claims so seriously that giving instruction is now the occupation in which the largest numbers of people are engaged. What was formerly a privilege of a few is now compulsory of all.

It is impossible to define that intangible quality of education that has made men fight for centuries in an effort to attain it for themselves and others. We know that both theory and practice are involved; that theory without practice is to no avail and vice versa. But the most understandable factor is knowledge. In our category there are three types of knowledge, ordinary, scientific and philosophic.

Thus, when we attempt to define education we must include these elements. From the student's standpoint it is the process of using one's own mind in socially profitable ways in the making of knowledge. From the standpoint of the school it is the process of providing the conditions that will necessitate the student's using his own mind in socially profitable ways in the making of knowledge. To this may be added that the school merely points the way, for education is a life work. And though we apply ourselves all our lives we will still fall in the category created by the old Greek scholar who said "All that is knowable he will not master." That is like the foot of the rainbow, a pleasing fancy of youth. No one ever searches for it. But to learn to order one's own experiences is a vital necessity and the workable purpose of education.

Poet's Corner

DEATH

I was wand'ring down death's long corridors of dark,
When hark—I heard a stealthy, sliding, sound of horror,
A slug, that nauseating creature of death's lark,
A slipping, rolling, squishing thing of death's own lore;
It came, it stank, I was slipping down in black streams,
Down that abyss of fantasy's fanciful dreams.

The Village Gossips

—By Dorothy Jane Wilson

"Good Mornin', Mrs. Perkins, have you heard the latest news? Well little Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm is comin' to live at the big house with her aunts, Miranda and Jane. It sure is a pity 'cause she won't fit in that house no mor'n a new colt. Miranda Sawyer is as strict and unbendin' as steel. "But that's not all! Little Adam Ladd is come to town; and he's thirty now, tall, good lookin' and rich as Crusoe! "Yes, and with that no good Simpson, who has been in jail twice for thievin, there's bound to be some excitement." So come May 10 and see the annual senior class play "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

What the Seniors Plan to Do

Jenna Belle Reece, member of Miss Dorothy McPherson's home room, will travel to Oklahoma visiting relatives in the summer. In the fall she will enter college here or in Springfield and take a business course.

Myron Newton, member of Miss Effie Farmer's home room, intends to study singing and dancing in Kansas City this summer. In the fall she will attend the College. Her ambition is to be an entertainer in the Cotton Club in New York.

Bob Church, member of Mr. Charles O. Jordan's home room, is going to work this summer. He will enter K. S. T. C. in the fall to study electrical chemical engineering.

Elbert Elliott, member of Miss Farmer's home room, is planning to tour the western part of the United States this summer. He may enter K. S. T. C. in the fall.

Bette Frohlich, member of Miss Effie Farmer's home room, intends to travel to New York, perhaps from there to Cuba by boat. After the vacation she will return to go to Lindenwood college or K. U.

Marguerite Anderson, member of Miss Frances E. Palmer's home room, plans to tour all the Western states this summer. She will return in September to secure a position which has been promised her.

THE DRAGON WHISPERS

(By Ruth Logan)

A person is always missing something. For instance, wouldn't you like to have seen Sal Lanyon, Bob Cuthbertson, and Kenneth Farnsworth don abbreviated aprons and serve the ladies fair?

Bill Lemon was making a nuisance of himself (a small one, but nevertheless a nuisance) when Miss Madge Waltz said, "Bill, this wastebasket is just big enough to hold you, if you can't study."

It's getting to be a habit: Jack Henderson and Leo Howard made another trip to the hills of Arkansas. The girls' names are Nadine and Genevieve Keith; not sisters, cousins.

Two questions we would ask Ikie Adams if we dared: "Do you really like to roller skate?"

"Who was the cute, rather plump eighth grader from Roosevelt?"

One question we would like to ask Jack Steele: "Who is Sally?"

They tell us: Finley Porter's latest is Margaret O'Connor. "Duck Noor is sorta that way over Mabel Louise Allison. Joe Reilly wrote a mushy note to Olga Brous."

One of the girls brought a small rabbit to school Monday. When asked why it was brought to school she replied, "To play with."

It was consigned to the wastebasket for the duration of the class period, much to Henry Flack's dismay who wanted to turn it loose so he could go rabbit hunting.

The speech classes have been indulging in an entertaining little game of word building. A person is disqualified after receiving three demerits and is a "goat".

One day Mr. William H. Row announced that the "goats will stand up as a penalty."

He had forgotten that he was the only person in the room who was standing.

Arla Faye Miller goes around of late rather "moony eyed." She was overheard to say something about a boy from the College.

Wonder if we could put one and one together and make two?

Henry Flack's cards have the following inscription on them:

Henry C. B. Flack.
It seems his name is Henry Colgate Brash Flack.

Just a notice to Margaret Douglas that a promise has been very grudgingly kept.

Miss Lanyon has discovered how to make a big splash.

It's very simple, you just sit on the edge of the pool, (it adds to the effect if you have on gym clothes) then you get excited over most anything, slip and fall into the pool.

It makes a beautiful splash!

PUPIL PORTRAITS

Senior Girl

The vice president of Miss Dorothy McPherson's home room has gray eyes, light brown hair and is about five feet and five inches tall.

She has been an accompanist for six years; three years at senior high and there at Roosevelt where she attended school before coming to senior high.

At the preliminary music contest, which was held here recently she won first place in the piano contest and the right to enter the tri-state contest at the College soon.

Last fall she broadcasted over WMHB at Joplin for about three months, and her one ambition is to be staff accompanist for a large broadcasting station. If you don't know Ella Hurst by now, you can always find her with Jack Gilliland.

Senior Boy

This boy's ambition is to break into the track spotlight of the sports world and make a record for himself as a runner.

He lettered in basketball this year for the first time, but he has lettered the past two years in track and is co-captain of this year's track team.

Blue eyes, dark hair five feet and eight inches tall gives a rough description of Orville Beck, the star 1/2-miler of the team.

CRACKS . . . FROM THE CLASSES

Hazel Howey—Your dress is just like mine. That is, the belts are alike.

Mazura Van Riethe—I've got to type this in ink.

Mr. Ray Heady—Well, this is Monday; I have three fresh sandwiches in my lunch.

Miss Maude Laney—You don't have any idea how much fun it is to get as old as I am and then act nuts.

Jean Kirkwood—I don't want to take my coat off because I don't want to take my dress off.

Harold Nelson—I'm a milk fed baby.

Katherine Parker—If I had to take medicine, I'd pick a pretty color.

Helen McGinnis—Johnny, do you know the object of my affections?

Helen Caruso—I got freckled eyes.

Ernestine Morin—Do you feel like a pickle?

Homer Williams—That's just taking the wall from the door and putting him in the bath tub.

Mr. Clyde Hartford—Does anyone have any questions?

Elizabeth Watson—When do we eat lunch?

Mazura Van Riethe—We have only seven more years of school this year.

Mr. Ray Heady—What is a rebuke?

Warren Loy—A verbal spanking.

Virginia Hay—I don't think it's necessary to brush your teeth three minutes. Some people do it faster and get it done quicker.

Mary Elizabeth Barbero—I didn't get much out of it, I just read it for a book report.

Miss Laney—That wasn't fair. I was doing the dance and they were collecting the pennies.

-BOOKS WE LIKE

"BEN HUR"

by Lew Wallace

With Easter only a few days off our thoughts naturally turn to what this season symbolizes—Christianity.

"Ben Hur," written by Lew Wallace, is one of the best and most interesting books that deals with the religious problems of the different races during Christ's life.

Ben Hur, a young Jew, a prince of the House of Hur, is unjustly taken from his home while he is still young and sent to the galleys. His home is taken over by the Roman government and his mother and sister sent to prison.

Through a chain of incidents Ben Hur regains and surpasses his former wealth, becoming one of the richest men of that period.

Being about the same age of the Savior he sees Him several times and comes to believe that He will lead the Jews from oppression, seizing the government. He makes the mistake of judging Christ by the standards of men and it isn't until the Crucifixion that he realizes where His Kingdom really is.

This is one of the most effective books that can be read during the Easter Vacation, and perhaps it will make you understand what Easter should mean to everyone.

DAME FASHION SAYS

Girls

With Easter so near, it is time to getting your spring prints ready to wear. Printed cottons are especially good for school and sport wear. Printed silks and taffeta evening frocks are considered quite good taste. Your evening wrap may also be of printed material.

A starched lace coat is just the thing to wear over that printed evening costume. If you wish something more practical a taffeta cloak will be more useful.

Many of the graduation dresses have corded around the bottom of the skirt to make it stand out. Many of the dresses this spring are made with high necks and have large sleeves.

Many little sport suits are being shown this spring. Most of these suits are in pastel shades. Pink and white are the prevailing colors.

Boys

Suede shoes are being worn this spring. They should match the rest of your suit.

Enrollment in Progress

Freshmen, Sophomores and Juniors Plan Next Years Course

The freshmen, sophomore and junior classes for next year began their enrollment this week. The students who have firmly decided on their course for next year will enroll now. The others who have not decided will enroll in September.

Principal J. L. Hutchinson met with the junior high school home room teachers last week concerning plans for ninth grade enrollment, and he will talk to the students probably next week.

Enrolling in the spring has been practiced in this school for several years, said Principal J. L. Hutchinson. This enrollment saves time when school starts in the fall.

The students who enroll now will have preference in a full class over the student who waits until September to enroll.

Mr. Hutchinson believes the student who is planning to go to college will be wise if he looks up the requirements for his chosen course in a college catalogue before he enrolls, then he will be sure to take the subjects which will benefit him most.

There is a full set of college catalogues available in the office and any student interested is welcome to use them for references.

Program of 145 Students Given Monday Under Supervision Of Miss Helen D. Lanyon

The girls' physical education department gave a 1-hour gym demonstration at the Parent-Teachers Association meeting Monday night in the gymnasium. It was under the supervision of Miss Helen D. Lanyon, physical education instructor for girls.

The program, in which 145 girls took part, consisted of ten divisions—grand march, wand drill, Bohemian dance (Cshehogan), Hungarian dance (Strasak), American dance, "Pop Goes the Weasel," corrective work for postural defects, marching tactics, games, dumb bell drill, soldiers, tumbling and pyramid building.

The accompanists were Virginia Cooper, Virginia Lockett and Sue Major, sophomores.

A short business meeting was held at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium before the demonstration. There were about 200 present.

Student Council

There is no twilight zone of honesty. A thing is right or it's wrong; it's black or it's white.

Sanitation Committee
The sanitation committee reminds you:

Do you know this is "Clean-up week?" The poster in the hall stresses "clean-up" too. Notice it, and profit by it. If we could keep all the waste paper off the campus, it would mean a cleaner campus for P. H. S.—Let's do all we can to help.

See Films in Classes

How paper is made was the subject of a 2-reel motion picture shown to the chemistry classes Wednesday. The picture showed the complete process of manufacture. Also it showed some of the history of the alphabet, printing and paper. The classes were also shown some precious and semi-precious gems, including three genuine rubies, and a blue sapphire.

Eighteen Boys Play Tournament To Determine Team

Eighteen boys answered a call last Monday afternoon for all those interested in tennis, and Wednesday afternoon at the Lincoln Park courts they started playing a tournament to decide who will be on the tennis team.

A team consisting of two single players and a double team which will be picked from these eighteen boys will go to a tournament at Independence, April 27, according to Mr. Ellsworth Briggs who has charge of tennis in the high school.

The boys who are now "out for the team" are as follows:

Michael Reidy and Philipp Schmidt, juniors.

PITTSBURG TRACKMEN WILL NOT ENTER K. U. RELAYS

Pittsburg will not enter the Kansas university relays tomorrow for the first time in four years, according to Track Coach F. M. Snodgrass.

The relays, which will be held tomorrow and Saturday at Lawrence, overlap the Joplin track meet scheduled for Saturday therefore making it impossible for the Snodgrass tracksters to participate in both meets.

"Every since 1922 when Mike Skar and I, as seniors of Augusta won first place in the interscholastic Kansas relays, I have tried to have a good team in the contest," said Coach Snodgrass.

This year will make the second year since Snodgrass has been coach here that he has not been represented at the meet.

man and football player. Wilfred has lettered three years in football and once in track since he came to the

The event of this rather heavy set

senior lad is the 100- and 220-yard

Ensmann did not compete in track year.

This is Ensmann's last season with
