Biographical Note Morris Cliggitt was born in Oswego, Kendall County, Illinois, in 1854, to Irish immigrants Morris and Julia Russel Cliggitt. He grew up on the family's farm, attended local schools, and later the academy in Oswego, Illinois.

He attended Northwestern College at Naperville, Illinois for three years and taught school afterwards in that area for several years. He later studied law, along with classmate William Jennings Bryan, at the Union College of Law at Chicago, graduating in 1883 with high honors.

Following graduation he began practicing law with his brother, John, in Mason City, Iowa from June 1883 to March 1884. He then moved to Hastings, Nebraska, to open a law office. While living in Hastings he was also the assistant cashier of the Exchange National Bank until January 1887. He continued to work in the banking business in Culbertson, Nebraska, but eventually returned to his legal practice. While in Nebraska, he became involved in politics and joined the Democratic Party. Throughout the rest of his life he served the Democratic Party on local, state, and national levels.

Cliggitt moved to Pittsburg, Kansas in January 1890, and partnered with Ed Van Gundy in the law firm of Van Gundy and Cliggitt until Van Gundy's death in September 1894. He served several years as the attorney for the National Bank of Pittsburg and the area smelter industries and coal companies.

Cliggitt, Morris Papers, MS 24

Cliggitt married Celia Grier in McCook, Nebraska, in 1891. They had one daughter that died during infancy.

Morris Cliggitt continued to delve in local and broader politics after moving to Pittsburg. He was appointed City Attorney several times and was appointed Assistant U.S. District Attorney for Kansas during President Grover Cleveland's administration from December 1893 to July 1894. In 1896 Cliggitt served as one of the national Democratic electors from Kansas. He also served as Chairman of the Democratic Central Committee at various times during a ten-year period. He was one of the major stockholders in the Pittsburg, Frontenac, and Suburban Electric Railway Company and served as its president in 1898.

Cliggitt served on the Board of Directors and as President for the Free City Library since its inception in 1902 until he was elected mayor of Pittsburg in April 1909. As mayor, he helped establish the Pittsburg Public Library when he and the city council approached philanthropist Andrew Carnegie to help build a public library on the corners of Walnut and 4th streets. Carnegie provided funding and the Pittsburg Public Library was built in 1910. The library received the majority of Cliggitt's private library following his death and maintained it as a separate collection for many years.

Morris Cliggitt died December 23, 1909, at the age of 55, due to complications from gall stones surgery. He is buried in St. Mary's Cemetery in Pittsburg, Kansas.
