Dear Member:

Re: Extension of Agreements for Period Expiring December 31, 1965

More than a year has elapsed since we sent you your Extension Agreements for the period expiring December 31, 1965.

On November 30, 1943 we advised you that such Extension Agreements had been received from writers and publishers representing more than 80 per cent of the Society's distribution of domestic royalties, and that therefore such Extension Agreements had become effective.

You are one of the few members who have not sent in their Extension Agreements.

We are about to submit to our Board a list of those who have not signed their Extensions. Before doing so, however, we want to be sure that your failure to sign has been due only to a mere oversight.

Accordingly there are enclosed herewith duplicate copies of your Extension Agreements.

Will you please sign and return the same at once so that we may remove your name from the list of those who have not yet renewed.

With kindest regards,

Cordially yours,

JOHN G. PAINE.
