There shall be born, so he did say, In Bethlehem, a Child today. REFRAIN.

March of the Kings and O Christmas Tree (with no break between carols)

March of the Kings

This great day, I met upon the way, The Kings of East as they came riding proudly, This great day, I met upon the way, The Kings of East with all their fine array. The gifts of gold, frank-in-cense, and myrrh Were guarded close by the band of sturdy warriors, Their swords, their shields, and their bucklers bright, a-gleam and sparkling in the morning light. This great day, I met upon the way, The Kings of East as they came riding proudly, This great day, I met upon the way, The Kings of East with all their fine array.

O Christmas Tree

O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree, With faithful leaves unchanging; Not only green in summer's heat, But also winter's snow and sleet, O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree, With faithful leaves unchanging.

O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree, Of all the trees most lovely; Each year, you bring to me delight Gleaming in the Christmas night. O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree, Of all the trees most lovely.

O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree, Your leaves will teach me, also, That hope and love and faithfulness Are precious things I can possess. O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree, Your leaves will teach me, also.

Good King Wenceslas

Good King Wenceslas look'd out On the Feast of Stephen, When the snow lay round about, Deep and crisp, and even: Brightly shone the moon that night, Though the frost was cruel, When a poor man came in sight, Gath'ring winter fuel.

"Hither, page, and stand by me, If thou know'st it; telling, Yonder peasant, who is he? Where and what his dwelling?" "Sire, he lives a good league hence, Underneath the mountain; Right against the forest fence, By Saint Agnes' fountain."

"Bring me flesh, and bring me wine, Bring me pinelogs hither; Thou and I will see him dine, When we bear them thither." Page and monarch forth they went, Forth they went together; Through the rude wind's wild lament, And the bitter weather.

"Sire, the night is darker now, And the wind blows stronger; Fails my heart, I know not how, I can go no longer." "Mark my footsteps, my good page, Tread thou in them boldly: Thou shalt find the winter's rage, Freeze thy blood less coldly."

In his master's steps he trod, Where the snow lay dinted; Heat was in the very sod Which the saint had printed. Therefore, Christian men, be sure, Wealth or rank possessing, Ye who now will bless the poor, Shall yourselves find blessing.
