After the ceremony, dancing will be started by the King and Queen and will be continued until twelve o'clock. The public is invited to attend the ball and will be seated in the balcony. Dedicate Elm To PHS Students

The Garden Department of the Extension club presented Pittsburg High School with an American Elm last Friday. Mrs. C. M. Paris chairman of the garden club, gave the dedication.

"The tree, this year, was dedicated to the boys and girls of learning whose privilege it is to take advantages of education. The reason for choosing an American Elm was because it is a patriotic symbol," declared Mrs. Paris.

Mrs. Earl Pilkington, president of the Study club; Mrs. H. V. Hartman; Mrs. W. B. Pritchett; Mrs. J. A. Glaze; Mrs. Claude Leist; Mrs. C. H. J. Patterson; Mrs. Edward Malle; and the Society Editor of the Headlight and Sun, Miss Leah Schomar, were present at the dedication.

The representative of the student Council were vice-president Ray Lance and representative Bill Hood. Each lady placed a spade of dirt around the tree. The tree was donated by McNally's. The members named the tree "Elma Elm."

McClure Wins At Wentworth

The Pittsburg team of Bob Akey and Phil Norman went to the quarter-finals at the Wentworth debate tournament, where they were defeated by Fort Scott, the winner of the meet. Al McClure took first place in the after-dinner speaking contest at the banquet Friday night.

Bob Akey won a medal for being the best speaker on the team from Pittsburg. Speakers were rated in each debate, as fair, good, excellent, or superior, and the speakers who got the highest ratings on each team was given a medal.

John Amott and Charles Briggs of Ft. Scott took first honors in the final debate against Bristow, Oklahoma. Amott, a former National Tournament winner, was considered the speaker and awarded a five hundred dollar scholarship.

Mr. Dan Tewell, who accompanied the boys declared, "This is the first year Pittsburg has been invited to the 'little national,' and we hope to be invited back next year."

Teams from Kansas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Missouri, and Illinois, including two national tournament winners, a second place winner at a state and regional champions attended national tournament, and a number of the tournament.

Mr. Briggs' home room played a cross word puzzle game Tuesday morning in home room. The rest of the week was spent in discussing enrollment.

Headliners

● PHS has its golf demons too. Through fair weather and foul (mostly foul) the intramural golf tournament has progressed to the final round with Jack Broadhurst and Fred Turner playing. The sports page tells the rest of the story.

● Number one on the Booster's hit parade this week is Al McClure who proves that being different pays. Let your eyes wander to column 4, page one for the story.

● The winner! Again, the judges declare one of Mr. Tewell's students a winner. Chanute put all its eggs in Pittsburg's basket when it awarded us all the first's except two. For more about the Chanute speech festival look elsewhere on this page.

● "Spring Comes to PHS" could well be the headline for the editorial page this week. It expounds on all the havoc spring can wreak from leaving dad's pockets empty to making Student Council president Lanier want to plant trees.

● Don Marchbanks, much to his surprise, was elected state president of the Kansas Junior Academy of Science when he wasn't even at the meeting. For more about this happening, look elsewhere on page one.

● Oh, all you G. R. girls come out and bring dad and mom to the G. R. banquet and help Barbara Williams, general director, make it one of the best things of the year. Read all about the big event in column five page one.

● Once, again it's time for the annual music concert. Mr. Carney deserves a lot of credit for his untiring work to make this successful. The story of this concert can be found in column three on this page and the program on page three.

The dramatics classes are studying make-up. Grease paint, powder, and eye shadow are a few of the things they study. They practice by making-up each other.

We Think

Silver Shirts, Black Shirts We'll Take USA Work Shirts!

Black Shirts, Brown Shirts, Silver Shirts you know what they symbolize, and to our mind it's not anything wonderful or worth looking up to. Their methods of despotism and terrorism are distasteful to us and the ideals by which we want to govern our country.

Such subversive organizations within our country we cannot cope with merely by citing ideals and hopes. These are problems that are in the realism of the everyday world in which we live, learn, and work. In times such as these with most of the world at war, this country certainly is a "paradise" in every sense of the word. To us, it offers freedom from the censorship, the ration cards, the blackouts, and the tyranny. To those agents of the foreign countries it offers a haven in which it is possible, to a great extent, for them to be unrestricted in carrying out their deadly duties.

You're probably wondering about this editorial—certainly it's propaganda and certainly every true "red, white, and blue American" can realize it's good propaganda. It's purpose is to replace the many-hued shirts of the un-American agents with the plain, blue denim American work shirts, sweat-stained by honest toiling for progress, Freedom, peace, and faithful Americanism!

Ballyhoo Begins As Election Of 1940 Approaches

1940 is Presidential election year. The thick clouds of ballyhoo are forming on the horizon, threatening a deluge of propaganda worse than the flood from Europe's storm. During the next seven months the gullibility of the American people will be played on to its utmost limits.

Crackpot schemes of all sorts, just as crackpot politicians, and more crackpot political stunts will be main reasons for us wanting to go into hibernation. With each favorite son expounding and expounding his highest ideals the parties will try their best to out do each other in formulating the most definite indefinite platforms.

However foolish and childish this political game may seem, the ultimate victors determine the fate of the nation. They, as the majority, will make our laws, run the government, and be us in world affairs. The outcome is far more serious than the game. In four years most of us will be helping determine the winners of this game.

It is near to us and vital to us. Let us take an interest and learn to keep a level head with clear thinking so when the responsibility is ours we will be prepared.

The music department is making its annual pilgrimage to Chanute to the music festival. Call out the militia, Chanute.

Apparently our students are learning their lessons in politics. Just ask some of the delegates who went to the Science meeting in Wichita. They elected a state president from Pittsburg who was not even at the meeting.

Spring Navy Blue and Red Predominant Colors In Spring Clothes

Many of our smart little "paraders" did not get to patter the pavements in their new Easter togs this year. The old weather man suddenly decided that he did not want them to show off their new clothes.

So the parade consisted mostly of fur coats and their Easter corsages were worn on the muff. A few brave women were seen in their flower covered hats. But now since spring is really here, you girls should take your spring clothes very seriously. Here are just a few suggestions if you don't have your outfits or if are getting a new one.

Spring without at least one navy ensemble would be like spring without robins and daffodils. This ensemble is good trimmed with eyelet embroidery organdy collar and a red leather belt. Have you noticed LOUELLA JOHNSON. She is sporting the wide red belt with her snowy white blouse trimmed in white lace which is worn with a black velvet skirt.

Spring has found JOYCE HENNEY with a navy blue double breasted coat. This darling coat is worn snugly buttoned with a stunning little bonnet of light and dark blue ribbon.

Two of the most entertaining of the new prints are being used in frocks. One of the prints is put under a black wool coat. The print is the "keep off the grass sign" seen in the park. The coat lapels and pockets are trimmed in white designed to represent the wicket fence.

You can be in this season's after dark and before sundown confection. Sheathe yourself in white silk jersey splashed with pungent red flowers. Your afternoon or evening dress of silk jersey will be newsworthy with the three-fourth length sleeves, straight skirt and draped bodice.

Brown is, also, a good color no matter what time of year is it. All of its cocoa shades are very lovely. Your last years brown suit or coat is still in style this spring.

Borrowed Bits

A chance to get radio experience was given to twelve Paseo students last Friday at WHB, in contests the Helzberg's Jewelry store is sponsoring high schools throughout the city to determine the best commercial radio announcers. When the school winners are announced, another contest will determine a grand prize winner, who will be presented a diamond ring.

"The Paseo Press" — Kansas City, Mo.

Robert Stookey, '34, now graduated assistant in French at the University of Nebraska, returned last fall from France where he had spent two years as a student and teacher of English. Bob said that he experienced blackouts even though he returned before the war was declared.

"These blackouts," he explained, "were only rehearsals to be sure that the passive defense system was in good working order."

"The Advocate" — Lincoln, Nebraska

The College Board Class of Miss Margaret McDonald claims it knows you can always tell by the nose. Tell what? Your personality, whether you are sweet, cross or just plain nose!

"The Harding Spectator" — Bridgeport, Conn.

A mixed quartet from Billings high school is invited to sing on the vocal ensemble program of the Music Educator's national conference to be held March 30 to April 5 in Los Angeles, Calif. Thursday, April 4 will provide conference members with a close-up of Hollywood. The forenoon will be devoted to visits and meetings in the new studio buildings of the Columbia broadcasting system and National broadcasting company.

"The Kyote" — Billings, Mont.

Because two students of Sand Springs, Oklahoma, high school persistently wrote notes and mailed them across the room by student express, their teacher inflicted her own method of punishment. She deposited a large book on each girl's desk with full instructions as to outlining. By the end of class both outlines were complete: the girls had simply placed each book on a sheet of paper, traced an outline of it and took the sketch to the principal's office. Incidentally, they didn't wait to learn what their superior thought of their accomplishments.

Welcoming all new and old Japanese students, the Japanese Club will hold its semi-annual welcome party for BIO's in the cafeteria tomorrow at 3:15. Headed by President Joe Shigezane, the cabinet will be in charge of the reception, Chiuoko Ogawa of refreshments, and Frank Nasu of games. Dancing will conclude the party.

"The Poly Optimist" — Los Angeles, Calif.

We're starting to work on that anniversary edition now and if some of the teachers could see some of the pictures we have, they would burn the room up.

THE NEWS IN CARTOON

—Mary Lois Smith,

The H-1 plans big training camp here soon. This represents it.

Chanute puts all its eggs in Pittsburg's basket at the speech festival last week. Four of six events went to PHS.

We knew you wouldn't guess this one. It's a ball. That's a crown on top. Get it? Coronation Ball.

WANT ADS

FOUND— At last. My OAO. She is a brunette, with blue eyes. Her initials are Bernadine Baert. A fight is in progress now, but I think she'll come around.

SURPRISE— Naida Caroline Chandler is becoming more and more interesting in managing editor Chuck Davis. Leslie, too bad you aren't still in high school, you'd at least have a fighting chance, but stay right in there.

I WONDER— How Johnny Lamb and Dorothy Redfern are coming along. Will someone take the burden of finding out, off our minds?

VIRGINIA— seems to be Wayne Hudson's favorite name, and blonde his favorite color of hair. Virginia B. first, and now, Virginia McBride. Well, I hope the beauty parlors aren't kept too busy with Virginia's getting blonde hair.

MYSTERY OR SECRET— Carson R. is a bright and shining light in Laverna Casterman's life, but we are wondering just HOW bright. Maybe someone is getting fooled!!

WHAT IS IT— that Dorothy Keith keeps in a billfold in her purse lately?— The name of the owner? Well, he certainly trusts her anyway.

DRIVER— of car with licence number 7284 and the X - "Flower Girl" seem to be hitting it off quite well these days. They were at the dance last Monday together.

Party Line

Hello kids, are you ready to listen to some more gossip? If you are, we'll begin.

It certainly didn't take long for Margaret Nail to forget Marvin Edwards. I guess Harry Griffith makes forgetting easier, since he seems to be taking most of her time and supplying her with other thoughts.

Wilma Williamson's interests are roaming these days to a certain lad of the senior class. Say! Wilma, we can't say as we blame you for Chuck is a pretty nice guy.

Isn't it just simply darling, we never saw anything like it. Oh, perhaps we had better tell you we are talking about the beautiful picture Lois Teter had made for that guy from Texas. Hey, boys you can't let any one so far away get away with that!

Two of our P.H.S. students seemed to have a lucky streak last week. Nadine Scavze brought in the ham and the basket of groceries from the Cow Town Bazaar and Virginia Osredker won a five dollar permanent. How's that for luck?

Maxine Scott: There is a worm in that candy bar.

Beverly Vercoglio: Take a drink of water and wash it down.

Maxine: Aw, let the old thing walk down.

Kids just listen to this! Jimmie Chaney, you know the cute little junior, has his heart set on Christina Welch. Come on, Jimmie, we're all rooting for you.

Boy who wait
Until too late
To make a date
Will deserve his fate
When he finds his mate
Has made a date.

From what we hear William Schumell didn't wait too late to ask a certain junior girl for a date to the senior prom.

He who laughs last sits behind a tall man in the movies.

By the way here is something that almost slipped our minds. Remember what we told you about the little Scavze girl, well, here is something else that puts her in the lucky class. The ring she received from Harold Blankard. Say! it's really something to marvel at!

People

Better follow the 'straight and narrow' or "Doc" will get you if you don't watch out. Tall (around six feet), dark (black, curly hair), and handsome (well, just ask the girls!), his ambition is to be a criminologist. In the dictionary it says that such a person is one who makes a scientific study of crime and penal methods. Maybe that means he can tell by the color of our eyes or the way you tie your shoes whether you're a "crook." Getting back to the subject, he's a senior now and when a "sophie" was president of his class. He was a candidate for king this year.

"Easy does it" — at least the last part of this senior girl's name sounds like the word "easy." Petite, popular, pert and pretty— that describes her. She's always seen 'round about with Virginia O. You're allowed only three guesses!

He had the boy lead in last year's G. R. Hi-Y play, "Rose of the Southland," and is known throughout the land as the one, the only "Hop, the hound of debate and fiery speeches." He, too, is tall, has curly hair and was one of the candidates for king this year.

Oh! boy! Is it going to be spiffy. We mean, of course, the 1940 Purple and White (ahem...you're going to buy one, of course?) Naturally the class of 1940 is bound to think it's the classiest thing ever and this girl designed the cover. You'll probably guess who she is in an instant so we won't tell you that she's staff artist for the Booster.

Wanderin' And Listenin'

Thinkin' about spring, we recall how Mr. Tewell enjoys nothing more than to prop himself against some tree stump beside a gurgling stream. He probably holds the fishing pole between his toes.

Oh, by the way, the spring affected Mr. Collie in quite another way. His way of saying spring is here, this year is "Sprig has cumb." We're sorry Mr. Collie and hope you have better luck next spring.

The art classes are waiting, we don't know how patiently, for the flowers to bloom so they can draw them. Judging from this week, or so we'd say, they had better plan on a few snow scenes.

PHS certainly is travel-minded. The debaters went to Wentworth; the music department to Joplin; and the golfers to Fort Scott.

After studying several people, we've come to the conclusion that the only difference between parents and young couples is that the couples coo and coo while the parents go cuckoo.

Candid Commentary

Chuck Davis

● THERE ARE EXACTLY SEVEN MORE WEEKS of school after today. Seven weeks isn't a very long time when you get right down to it. Of course, it really doesn't matter to the under-grads, but to the seniors it means that high school is just about over. And that also, means that to fulfill all those grand statements made about three years ago, thirty-five days are left. And there really won't be that many, because that last week is just one big mess. No work then. That cuts it down to thirty days. Help, I'm scaring myself.

● NOT LONG AGO WE prophesied that Spring was here. We ran several articles in the Booster on the same subject. We were wrong. Spring was not here. Our brakes froze up. The temperature went down to below freezing. Our signs were evidently wrong. We are sure, now, however. The sports page of every paper is filled with reports from the training camps of the big league teams. In a little while, the contests will start. Baseball is here. Spring is here.

● MOSCOW IS REJOICING in the fact that the Finnish invaders have been repulsed. They are probably looking for some other small nation to be attacked by.

● SENATOR VANDENBERG SAYS IT WILL be the year two thousand before the national debt is paid. Well, it is always nice to have an optimist along with the rest.

● WE READ A CHURCH announcement the other day which said, among other things, "The Bishop will conduct a quiet hour for men in the morning. The women will meet in the afternoon."

● THE CORONATION BALL TONIGHT should be quite the social event of the year. If it were not for the fine cooperation of Mr. Carney, perhaps the ball could not have taken place. We understand that he has put his program short to further help the dance. This is a fine gesture and we want him to know that the Booster and the whole student body appreciates it. The least we can do to show him that appreciation is to turn out one hundred percent to his concert. We promise you, you won't be disappointed.

● AS I WRITE THIS, THE COUNCIL is making feverish preparation for their big event of the year. Yes, Mr. Lanier is going to plant a tree. He has been going around all day with a big self-satisfied smile on his face contemplating the occasion. We hope his soul is refreshed and he is a new man for the great work he has done on this day.

Freedom Of Speech

It seems the old rule goes
To talk is indiscreet
And when the topic shows
Do we get freedom to speak?

Trying To Pull a Rock up Hill
Or You Can't Take It With You

With a tug and a heave and a grunt and groan,
I pulled the rope that was tied to the stone;
I pulled the rope
It moved an inch and I pulled again,
Slowly toward the top I begin.
I'm halfway up but I'm tiring fast,
And another inch I doubt if I'll last,
But I still continue to wend my way,
At last I've just got another inch
And it seems that I must have a cinch;
But, alas for me, the rope is breaking
And the stone goes careering and leaves me shaking.

Not A Man's World

It's a man's world-- or is it?

Of course, men believe they own the world, and tactful women let them believe it but--

It never fails that when a man buys his wife a gift of some sort, she makes him take it back. It's either too expensive or looks too cheap. It's either the wrong color or it's too big. There's always something about a man's gift that never suits his wife's fancy.

Leaving gifts, let's talk about men's clothes. An average man would never dream of going out without consulting his wife about his outfit. She always picks out his suit and tie, especially the tie.

Not only do women run the home but they are also very good in business. There are women doctors, women who drive trucks, and even women coal miners.

"Well, men, what do you think of this man's world idea now?"

Redecorating Room Is G. R. Project

Miss Leeka's G. R. group has taken over the teacher's old rest room, as a project for the Girl Reserves. They are planning to redecorate it, planning new curtains and a dressing table.

The ways of raising the money to redecorate it is by giving a box supper sometime in the future and having a rummage sale. The plans are indefinite as yet, according to officers of the group.

June Mardelle Lowe, president of the group, explained, "The group would like to make enough money to furnish it with a small radio."

The room is to be used for the Girl Reserves as a dressing room and study room. It will be used in cases of illness at all times.

"They're off!" said the monkey as he gazed into the insane asylum.

Its Picnic Time The Ants are Here

Ah--April, the month of showers that bring May flowers. Along with the wind and rain comes the time for the "picnickers to start picnicking."

In P. H. S. the first picnickers to bloom out arose from Mr. Thiebaud home room. Perhaps it was merely another experiment. One never knows, does one?

Just what does a picnic do to one besides causing muscles to ache the next day, pain from over-indulgence, eating ants and dirt, the wear and tear on clothes?

Answer-- picnickers are the fore-runners of Spring and Summer. They bring to mind vacation time, (looked forward to by the students of P.H.S.) Picnics give the mothers a chance to show off their artistry in cooking delicious.

Well, anyway, now's the time to get that old fishing rod, swimming suit, and tennis racket ready for use in the future.

Pedal Your Own Bike

"Hey! Look at that! Joe has a new bike."

"How'd you do it on that measly paper route, guy?"

"C'more boys but now don't tell anyone. This isn't a new bicycle. I just got busy and cleaned it up and painted it. Dad said that he'd pay for the cost of redecoration for the bicycle that looked the best, so Bud and I got busy."

"Why don't you fellas try house-cleaning?"

By the looks of it they did, and so have several others. This is just the time of the year bicycles become the rage and everyone wants to go bicycling. The real thing, tho, is the bicycle built for two. It sort of even things up, and one person doesn't have to do the pushing all by himself.

It seems as tho these little vehicles called scooter-bikes cramped the style of the bicycles--but the "bikes" have one big advantage--you won't have engine trouble with a bicycle.

Dragons Win Meet At Ft. Scott, 78-54

Lottman Takes High-Point Honors With Three Firsts

The Dragons won the first meet of the year by defeating Fort Scott 78 to 54 in a dual meet on the Fort Scott track Thursday. "Big Red" Lottman took high-point honors by taking three firsts and compiling fifteen points. Don Patrick captured the mile run in an upset, as he finished five yards ahead of Comstock.

Jack Broadhurst captured first in the high hurdles, high jump and ran on the winning relay team. Souerwine, of the losers, was outstanding running on a relay team. Bob Friggeri did not run in any of the shorter sprints, but came in first in the 440 with a neat 54 flat.

The entries were handicapped by a strong south wind, and though the time on the races were close to record time, they were good for the day and an early meet. Joe Gray ran a nice half-mile as he beat Pretroski of Fort Scott by several yards.

The Summary
120 High hurdles: Won by Broadhurst, Pittsburg; Creamer, Fort Scott, second; Barnett, Fort Scott, third. Time 17.8 seconds.

100 Yard Dash: Won by Souerwine, Fort Scott; Askins, Pittsburg, second; Trumble, Pittsburg, third. Time 11 sec.

Mile Run: Won by Patrick, Pittsburg; Comstock, Fort Scott, second; Milburn, Fort Scott, third. Time 4 minutes, 54.9 seconds.

Titans Emerge Victorious Over Pittsburg Thursday

From Where We Sit

Jack Broadhurst and Fred Turner have advanced to the finals in the intramural golf tournament. Broadhurst defeated Leland Kirk and Turner defeated Stringham, in the semi-finals. The tournament will soon be finished, and the school champion will be crowned.

The Hi-Y has made sort of a record in the two years that they have entered the meet in Joplin. They have won track and swimming twice, and Paul Ozbun has taken second place in table tennis both years, the basketball team has won second and tied for third, two first and one second in photography, and one first in essay contests.

"Cutter" Trumble, senior speedster, really burnt up the track in the inter-class track meet last week. He was not out for track last year, but he will probably cop many points this year. Tommy Askins is another lad who is out for track in the sprint division and is going to help out the Purple and White team.

Red Lottmann has been showing class in the weight division this spring. In the intramural meet, he took first in the javelin, the discus, the shot put. Joe Gray, another sophomore placed in five events, which makes him sort of a Jack-of-all-trades. Don Patrick broke the tape first in the mile run and the 880 yard run.

Ned Tryon is going great in professional baseball. He is at Texarkana and is playing on the first string. Ned should have a bright future in baseball because he is young, has a good physical body, the desire to play, and will make a success out of the game.

Elimination Tourney Progressing Rapidly

In the elimination tourney in tennis, the winner's bracket seems to be progressing more rapidly than the losers. The winning bracket is being led by Paul Ozbun, Bill Waltz, D. W. Cheek, and Charles Thomas.

Ozbun is ready for the finals, having downed Sill, Pogson, Timmons, and Kuebler. The championship of the winnir round is between he and Waltz, Thomas, or Cheek. Cheek meets Thomas next to decide which will compete against Waltz, and the winner of this game will play Ozbun for the championship of P.H.S. Cheek has won games from B. Delamade and Sybert.

Thomas remains in the running by virtue of winning both of his games, one from Klobassa and one from Deegen. Waltz has won three of his games and will be tough competition for the winner of the Cheek-Thomas match. His previous games were with Yeske, Morrison, and Graue.

Apple Polishing Is A Real Art

By Margaret Nail

Apple polishing seems to be quite a common occurrence in the lives of high school students. Some do it unconsciously, while others seem to present their apples all shined and polished, in a very attractive manner.

When Mary thinks "Teacher Jones" is watching her, she gives a little nod, her eyes sparkle and a quaint little smile manages to escape from her mouth. Mary thinks she will thus receive excellent grades from Jones.

Bill Brown thinks "Miss Davis" is an expert typing teacher. Hence, he makes mistakes on purpose, just so that he might have the pleasure of hearing her gentle voice when she suggests a possible remedy.

Betty Lewis makes her best grades in "Master Brown's" Foreign Relations class. Whether Hitler, Mussolini or Stalin takes another drastic move is probably immaterial to her. After all there's a vast space of water separating them and her, while "Master Brown" sits within five feet of her.

If, about 11:40, Jimmie arrives in the cafeteria you'll know he's acting as delivery boy for "Professor Black". After spending fifteen or twenty cents for the Professor, he buys a candy bar with the nickel which has formerly occupied a place in Professor's pocket.

Of course there's the after school conference. Dorothy is discussing her work with "Miss Bendlebine", the English instructor. She tells here how much the course has meant to her and how she never says "I seen" for "I saw" any more since Miss Bendlebine showed her the light. It's nearly time for exams and Dorothy wants a good mark.

Then, when the apple polishing has not been successful, Junior's mother makes an after-school call on Junior's teacher. She's there to complain about the terrific amount of home work that Junior's Mummy and Daddy have to battle with nightly. They miss all the radio programs on account of it.

Thus various types of apple polishers have been shown. Probably other types just as common have been overlooked because they occur so frequently. Apple polishing it seems is quiet a profitable enterprise.

Dragon Golfers Defeat Ft Scott

Pitts, of Fort Scott, was low for his team with a score of 81. This victory was the first of the season for the Dragons, who lost to Chanute last week. Frank Kirk, freshman, won his match and his showing makes a bright outlook on his golfing career.
