

Joplin Globe
November 2, 1958

State College

HOLMES OSADCHUK SPECTOR LAING PUGH SCHOTT

PITTSBURG STATE ENSEMBLE—Members of the faculty ensemble from Pittsburg State college will be featured guests at the first concert of this season of the Joplin Symphony orchestra at 8:15 o'clock Monday night at South Junior high school. The Pittsburg college instructors will play a septet for six solo instruments and an orchestra at the concert. Markwood Homes will play violin; Walter Osadchuk, cello; Gilbert Spencer, piano; Millard Laing, French horn; Russell Pugh, bassoon and Robert Schott, clarinet. The entire concert is under direction of T. Frank Coulter, symphony director and music department director at Joplin high school.

Joplin Symphony to Present Concert

Beginning this season's concert series at 8:15 o'clock Monday night at South Junior high school, the Joplin Symphony Orchestra will present a program of classical and modern music to district music enthusiasts.

Under direction of T. Frank Coulter, high school music department director and founder of the original symphony orchestra several years ago, 65 Joplin musicians will participate in the program. Also to take part in the program will be the faculty ensemble from Pittsburg State college.

The ensemble, comprised of college instructors, will present a septet for solo instruments and orchestra, arranged by Markwood Holmes, a member of the organization. The septet's selection is a number transcribed from an original organ part, with the orchestra presenting the musical setting for the composition.

Holmes, who joined the music staff at Pittsburg State in 1949, will play violin in the septet. Other members and the instruments they will play are Robert Schott, clarinet; Walter Osadchuk, cello; Millard Laing, horn; Russell Pugh, bassoon, and Gilbert Spector, piano.

Opening number for the concert will be "Ivan Sussanin" (A Life for the Czar) by Glinka. The orchestral selection will be from the major theme of the opera, which has a nationalistic topic.

Following Glinka's composition, the Joplin orchestra will present "Symphony in G Major (No. 94, the Surprise) by Franz J. Haydn. This familiar number calls on all sections of the orchestra, with several quick tempoed movements.

The faculty ensemble's number will be given following an intermission. Rounding out the night's entertainment Coulter has selected, "Polka and Fugue" from Shvanda by Weinberger; "Love Music" from Boris Godounov by Moussorgsky, and a collection of major themes from the famed Broadway musical, "Oklahoma" by Richard Rodgers. Persons present will recognize with ease the familiar tunes of "People Will Say We're in Love," "Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin'"; and "Oklahoma."

Members of this year's civic symphony are as follows:

First violins—Mrs. Mary Bingham Porter, Mrs. A. R. White, Mrs. Elizabeth Keith Roney, William O. Russell, Mrs. Murwin Mosler, Mrs. William Bobb, Joe Skinner, Carol Brewer, Marilyn Blanke, Shirley Nevitt Fleming, Celia Lowe, Louise Harryman.

Second violins—Edgar L. Brown, La Mora DeTar, Maxine Miller McCullough, Judy Legg Goswick, Vera Goodwin, Virginia Easley, Galen Irwin, Marilyn Hubbs.

Violas—Mrs. Robert D. Heater, Jerrold K. Perkins, George H. Wolff, Mrs. Patricia Vawter, Eleanor Post, Leota Baker, Sallye Elliott, Mary Sue Calvin.

Cellos — Mattie Belle Farrar, Mrs. Dorothy Lee James, William Elliott, Adrea Sue Krummel, Kathleen McDonald, John Qualls.

Bass Viols—Merrill Ellis, Mrs. Edna Claire Keller, Pat Sears, Barbara Brewer, Bill Thompson.

Flutes — Mrs. Paul Whitford, Susan Stout, Sally Wells, Jeanne Moore.

Oboes — Sarah Ann Gilstrap, Nancy Robson, Nancy Welch.

Clarinets — Mrs. Naomi Ellis, Mrs. Berdy Miller, J. C. Schulte, Jr., D. D. S., Eldridge Martin.

Bassoons — Bob Perkins, Richard Dagley.

Horns — William J. Lebedeff, George J. Wood, Larry Sanborn, Ray Cravens.

Trumpets — Bob Higgins, Bill Murray, Thomas Lisenbee.

Trombones—Mel Courter, Glen McDonald, John R. Williams, Jim Fleming.

Tuba—Robert R. Higgins.
Percussion—Russell Holden.

procedure that requires the state auditor to make an audit, using the state comptroller's records.

The auditor's normal post-audit expenditures would not be affected.

Both Endorse Proposal.

Both the Democratic and Republican candidates for auditor endorsed the proposal.

The other suggested amendment would make it possible for new residents of Missouri in this mobile age to vote for president and vice president after only 60 days of residence in the state. Present law requires them to be here for a year.

It would not change the year requirement for voting in state and local elections.

In the congressional districts the Democrats sought to hold or even increase their present 10-1 advantage while the Republicans tried to cut in on that margin.

The big battles centered in the Second District of St. Louis and St. Louis County, the Seventh of southwestern Missouri and the 11th of central Missouri. All could be close.

In the Second, Republican Rep. Thomas B. Curtis of Webster Groves was challenged by Democrat James L. Sullivan of Affton. Traditionally Republican St. Louis County has been edging toward the Democratic side in recent elections and Democrats outvoted the Republicans in the primary, although Curtis had no opposition and Sullivan won the nomination only after a stiff fight.

In the Seventh, normally a heavily Republican area, Democratic Rep. Charles H. (Charlie) Brown of Springfield surprised everyone two years ago by beating veteran Rep. Dewey Short. The Republicans then were badly split and Brown put on a terrific campaign.

This time he has campaigned just as hard, hillbilly band and all, but apparently would have to roll up a big majority in Springfield and Greene County to beat Republican State Sen. Noel Cox of Spokane, who has been trying to mend the party splits.

Brown has attacked Benson farm policies in this big dairy region while Cox has criticized Brown as a tool of labor bosses.

In the 115th of central Missouri, normally a close district politically, Rep. Morgan M. Moulder, Camdenton Democrat, has been challenged by a Buffalo, Mo., attorney, Don W. Owensby.

Two years ago Moulder staved off another Republican, George

Miller of Sedalia, by only 2,308 votes. Miller bore down hard on the charge that Moulder had put his own daughter on his congressional payroll while she was still going to high school in Camden-

This year, Owensby has followed the same pattern and has extended the charge to include a score or more central Missouri Democrats who, he said, have been on Moulder's payroll at various times since 1951. Owensby said some were getting other public salaries at the same time and some did no work.

Incumbents Appear Safe.

All other incumbent Democratic congressmen seemed to be assured of re-election as the campaign ended.

Half of the 34 state Senate seats also are at stake and three of the nominees are elected automatically without opposition.

They are Sen. James P. Kelly, Trenton Republican, in the 12th District; Sen. William Orr Sawyers, St. Joseph Democrat, in 34th, and W. O. Mackie, Kirksville Democrat, in the 20th. Mackie, now a member of the State House of Representatives, will succeed the veteran Sen. William M. Quinn, Maysville Democrat who did not run because of poor health.

All 157 House seats will be filled Tuesday. Some circuit judgeships also will be on the ballot.

The total vote is expected to go no higher than 1,250,000, the secretary of state's estimate, compared with 1,185,000 in the last off-year election four years ago.

The polls open throughout the state at 6 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

Lack of capital will close Vienna's toy exhibition, called the Youth's House.

The soft, slender pump by Air Step points up a fall wardrobe.

Make this

Easeful American Fashion yours.

Air Step

THE SHOE WITH THE MAGIC SOLE

$11.95

Rosenbergs
SHOE STORES

523 MAIN

Your Support Will Be Appreciated

HAROLD (Buck) FOSTER

YOU WOULD EXPECT TO PAY MORE FOR SUITS LIKE

$29.95
only

GUARANTEED 6 WAYS!

LOOK AT THESE EXC

- Tailored by 5th Ave. Mfr. • Fa
- Finest dacron and ray
- 2 or 3 button styles • Hymo c
- Hand-felled sleeves,
- Bezen pockets, narrow contour l
- Fabric Woven by Burlin

Imagine... better Fall suits with extra details at such a low price! Racks and of smart suits in new Fall colors a terns. Just come in and try one on. agree it's a terrific value at only Sizes 35 to 44.

SCOOP! FLANNEL

Just arrived! Sanforized cotton flannel with matched plaid fronts, pearlized permanent collar stays. New Fall colors. Medium, Large. 2 shirts for $3.97.

SHOP FRIDAY NIGHT