Joplin Symphony to Present Concert

Beginning this season’s concert series at 8:15 o’clock Monday night at South Junior high school, the Joplin Symphony Orchestra will present a program of classical and modern music to delight music enthusiasts.

Under direction of T. Frank Coulier, high school music department director and founder of the original symphony orchestra several years ago, 65 Joplin musicians will participate in the program. Also to take part in the program will be the faculty ensemble from Pittsburg State college.

The ensemble, comprised of college instructors, will present a program for solo instruments and orchestra, arranged by Markwood Holmes, a member of the organization. The program will consist of works by such composers as Mozart, Beethoven, Schumann, Brahms, and Tchaikovsky. The concert will begin with a selection from Mozart’s Symphony No. 40, followed by Beethoven’s Symphony No. 9. The program will conclude with Brahms’s Symphony No. 1.

In the second half of the concert, the orchestra will present a selection from Beethoven’s Symphony No. 7, followed by Tchaikovsky’s Symphony No. 5. The concert will conclude with Brahms’s Symphony No. 1.

Violinist Robert Schott will take center stage in the second half of the concert, performing Beethoven’s Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in D major. The orchestra will also perform works by Mozart and Schumann.

The Joplin Symphony Orchestra is committed to bringing high-quality music to the community, and this concert is no exception. Audiences can expect a night of music that will delight and inspire.

Miller of Sedalia, by only 2,308 votes. Miller bore down hard on the charge that Moulder had put his own daughter on his congressional payroll while she was still going to high school in Camden. This year, Owensby has followed the same pattern and has extended the charge to include a score or more central Missouri Democrats who, he said, have been on Moulder’s payroll at various times since 1931. Owensby said some were getting other public salaries at the same time and some did no work.

Incumbents Appear Safe.

All other incumbent Democratic congressmen seemed to be assured of re-election as the campaign ended.

Half of the 34 state Senate seats also are at stake and three of the counties are elected automatically without opposition.

They are Sen. James P. Kelly, Trenton Republican, in the 12th District; Sen. William Orr Sawyer, St. Joseph Democrat, in the 24th, and W. O. Mackie, Kirksville Democrat, in the 26th. Mackie, now a member of the State House of Representatives, will succeed the veteran Sen. William M. Quinn, Mayesville Democrat who did not run because of poor health.

All 35 House seats will be filled Tuesday. Some circuit judgeships also will be on the ballot.

The total vote is expected to go no higher than 1,250,000, the secretary of state’s estimate, compared with 1,185,000 in the last off-year election four years ago.

The polls open throughout the state at 6 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.
