Liebig to Head Booster Staff

Members of the senior journalism class have elected Eugene Liebig to head the Booster staff for the first six weeks.

Working with Eugene will be Sally Robins, page one editor; Marcella Dauchez, page two editor; Eldon Huffman, third page; Bob Coughenour and Robert Lee Smith, sports editors.

Doris DuBois and Bob Master-son are soliciting and writing advertising. Bob Fountain is in charge of the art work while Norma Barbero reads the proof. Charles Bell and Jim McCabe are the staff photographers.

Rebecca Lewis reads the papers from other schools and in turn mails our papers to those schools on our exchange list.

Joan Uttley and Sherry Strecker will see to it that each one gets his paper on time.

Library Becomes A Laboratory

"We are using the library as a laboratory," commented Miss Oliver. "In this way we believed that we will do a better job of serving the faculty and students."

Under the new procedure of an extra twenty-three minute library period in each class session, students will have twice as much time as they formerly had for study. Classes may now go to the library as a group to do reference work, while under the old plan that was impossible.

Mervyl Ellis, Joan Kern, Sherry Strecker, Kenneth Mosier, and Richard Payton will serve as librarian assistants throughout the year.

Elizabeth Howard Travels Many Miles To Attend P. H. S.

After speaking Portuguese for ten years, Elizabeth Howard found it difficult to accustom herself to speaking English. She yet speaks with a pretty accent, three years after returning from the Cape Verde Islands where she had lived since her second birthday.

Born November 28, 1933 in the United States, she went with her parents to the Cape Verde Islands, about three hundred miles off the coast of Africa. There they lived in a brick home in Praia, the capital of Saint James Island, the largest of the nine islands.

Elizabeth, an attractive blond, is friendly and well liked. She is especially fond of animals and had as a pet a monkey which she called Yo Yo. She and her sister, Mary Jo, twelve, like sports and

Mary Jo and Elizabeth Howard were active in them. Elizabeth laughed when she told of playing volleyball and riding bicycles, to

Sr. H. S. Delegates Take Part In Boy's State

On Sunday, June 5, Richard Comstock, Gene Liebig, Frank Rodkey, and Bud Scates joined 436 other Kansas high school boys at Sunflower Boy's State which was held at Wichita North High School.

After registration and the issuance of uniform caps and materials for the week's work, each boy was assigned to a political party and to a city and county in which he was to live.

State political parties were formed and town meetings held in order that nominating petitions could be filed for city, county, and state offices. Following the primary election on Monday and the general election Tuesday, the various officers perfected the organization and by Thursday all branches of city, county, and state government were put into operation. Bud, Frank, and Gene were elected to the House of Representatives while Richard, who missed the Senate by one vote, won a county office.

Highlights of the conference, the Pittsburg delegates agree, include wonderful food, new friendships, delightful entertainment, and better appreciation of the organization

WELCOME

To the Sophomores:

We wish to welcome you to Senior High School. You're a grand class and we hope that your years here be happy ones.

We like your enthusiasm and the fine spirit of cooperation you have shown.

The best of luck to each of you.

Mrs. Babcock Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Nora Babcock, manager of the high school cafeteria for the past 25 years died suddenly at her home last Monday morning.

She was born June 2, 1884 at

Cove Ark. She had lived in Pittsburg for 42 years. She was a member of the Christian church.

Surviving are two daughters: Mrs. Opal Mason, foods teacher at PHS, Miss Leona Babcock, of the home; and a son, Herman Babcock of Heavener, Okla.

In respect to Mrs. Babcock the school cafeteria remained closed on Wednesday and school was dismissed at 2:16 in order that students and faculty might attend services.

Adopt Five-Period Day

"It is my hope that the students of PHS will be enthusiastic about the new class schedule," asserted Mr. England while discussing the current program change in school. The new program which includes all activities provides additional time for study, greater opportunity for guidance from teachers, and added time for clubs and other outside activities.

The longer class period gives an additional thirty minutes each week for class work, thus increasing the offering in each department. Mr. England added that this system "makes possible a more functional school day".

Photographers Set Oct. 15 Deadline For P-W Pictures

October 15 is the final date for PHS students to have pictures taken for the Purple and White.

All sophomores will need to have pictures taken, while juniors and seniors may order reprints of last years pictures.

Local photographers are cooperating with the school in an effort to get the pictures out on time. Some have indicated that when necessary they will make evening appointments for the convenience of students.

The staff is especially eager to have every student pictured in this golden anniversary edition of the Purple and White.

Harriet King, Editor 1950 Purple and White

Harriet King has been appointed editor of the 1950 anniversary edition of the Purple and White. During her sophomore and junior years in PHS, Harriet has been prominent in school activities and her scholastic record has been outstanding. She has many splendid plans and ideas for making this fiftieth edition a real treasure.

Clothing Students Save Money

"Home Economics is something that every girl is interested in and takes up whether she is conscious of it or not," commented Miss Gable as she explained her ideas of why girls like these courses.

"Because of lack of time we can only partially cover our subjects, as home economics is the science and art of all the things concerned with the family," continued Miss Gable.

Almost every girl wants to marry and have a home of her own. The study of budgets, foods, textiles, and household equipments will help girls to manage a home more efficiently.

The girls have found that the study of patterns, materials, health, fashion, and design have helped to make them more attractive and has lessened their wardrobe costs, providing more money for other things.

Other studies, as the development of thimbles, pins and other such equipment make the classes interesting as well as educational. Thus, the advantages of Home Economic courses make them inviting to many girls.

Beginning clothing students are making skirts. Each girl chooses the type to fit her wardrobe needs. She chooses a pattern suitable to the material.

This past week Pittsburg High School conducted one of the finest all-school elections in her history. A record percentage of students voted.

The election was arranged under the direction of Miss Madge Waltz, Student Council advisor. She was assisted by the following students who served on the election board: Jean Freeto, Janice Burnidge, Phil Reid, Glenn Hastings, Joan Nehr, Polly Lou Bell, Eugene Liebig, and Demarice Coots.

Class sponsors assisted the election board in counting the ballots. They are: Senior, Miss Maude Laney and Mr. John White; Junior, Miss Mary Nelson and Mr. Keith Sutton; Sophomore, Miss Margaret Oliver and Mr. Lawrence Boyer.

Gable and Lamb Business Managers

Dick Gable and Jane Ann Lamb who were members of the business staff last year will manage this department. Their assistants are: Richard Comstock, Roger Curran, Eugene Liebig, Norma DeRidder, Bonita Stuke, and Patt Lewis.

In addition to the duties of proofreader Doris DuBois will collect and edit the school life section. Her assistants are: Letty Lemon, Jean Freeto, Norma Simmons, and Judy Timmons.

Kay Newman Production Manager is responsible for identifying, trimming, and mounting pictures. Her helpers are: Beth Phillips, Virginia Adams, Demarice Coots, Bunny Lindsay, Annette Brown, and Betty Snider.

Under the direction of Suzanne Russing as circulation manager, Ronald Damrill, John Stewart Pat McClanahan, Wilma Barber, and Billie Marie Johnson will distribute the books to purchasers.

The very important job of picture taking will be the responsibility of Jim McCabe, Charles Bell, and Kenneth Thompson. The following vocational printers will set the type for the book: Bill Johns, Ralph Sill, Jimmy Brunskill, Raymond Small, Robert Studivyn, Raymond Zehr, and Harold Hyatt.

Form Sophomore Debate Club

Sixteen sophomores have become members of the Sophomore Debate Club. To maintain membership the group of students must make grades of "C" or above in all subjects.

Those who show ability in debate will have an opportunity to participate in the tournament at KSTC on November 11 and 12. Debaters who are outstanding in in this tournament will be permitted to enter larger tournaments.

"Sophomores who intend to take up debate as a subject should join this group now," advised Mr. Towell, the club sponsor.

The problem for debate this year is Resolved: That the President should be elected by the direct vote of the people.

Membership in the group is open to all sophomores. Meetings will be held three times each week during the sixth hour. The following students are members of the club: James Belew, James Knox, Jane Letton, Don Berteau, Sally Allen, Sanford Markham, Mary Jo Kincaid, Kenneth Mosier, Frank Moore, David Rose, and Jerry Nelson.

Gain In Enrollment

Enrollment in PHS has increased for the first time in twelve years. Of the 432 students this year the sophomores lead with 175 members, 80 boys and 95 girls. The juniors with 59 boys and 67 girls have a total of 126 students. The senior class which is the smallest for a number of years totals 70 boys and 61 girls, 131 members in all.

In 1936 there were 882 students in senior high school; in 1937 the number dropped to 864; by 1939 the roll dropped to 784; and from that time to this the downward trend continued.

SCHOOL ELECTION

By general election PHS has selected officers to lead the various activities during the year. Rivalry has been high and the general spirit fine.

Speeches and personal contacts resulted in a heated campaign. Art students, through clever posters, appealed to the voters, managers worked long hours to keep their candidates before the student body, and days became more exciting as election time grew near.

Now it is over and students will put aside their differences to offer support and cooperation to each leader, that through unity PHS may move forward to a great year.

CHARLES A. MARTINACHE

Students returning to Senior High School this fall miss the friendly welcome of Mr. Martinache who passed away September 1 after a brief illness.

During the twenty-eight years he served as head custodian he was devoted to keeping the building clean and comfortable. He landscaped the campus and took great pride in developing it into one of the beauty spots of the city.

His love for young people and his enjoyment of preparing places for others has made him well known and liked throughout the faculty and student body.

FRANCIS WILLARD

On September 28 students in the Pittsburg schools will observe the anniversary of the birth of Francis Willard, early champion of temperance.

Mrs. Willard, a native of New York, received her education at Northwestern University where she became a leader among student groups. For several years she engaged in teaching then in 1871 she became president of Evanston College for ladies. Later while dean of women at Northwestern University she instituted the first honor system in school government.

She became first president of the National Women's Temperance Union, and in 1891 she founded the World's Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Mrs. Willard spoke in every state and territory of the United States during her lifetime. In 1898 the world mourned the death of this famous woman who will be long remembered for her untiring struggle for temperance.

Why Teachers Worry Vacations Are Grand

1. May I go to my locker?
2. What's the assignment? I just came in.
3. Where did you say to begin?
4. Shall we write it?
5. Why did you fail me?
6. Do you think I deserved it?
7. How much will the test cover?
8. What can I write now?
9. When will we get our report cards?

What are Fellows and Girls Doing for Fun These Days

From personal interviews with high-school students in Dallas, Texas, comes news of date-doings, favorite foods and an inside roundup of Texas slang for the youth report, in a recent issue of LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

Here's a fads picture to contrast with the goings-on at PHS. For instance, did you know that teen-agers in Texas like cokes with salted peanuts floating on top or root beer souped up by a spoonful of strawberry sundae sauce and call the combinations "just ginger peachy?" At sock hops and formal dances, pony-skin loafers and gold evening slippers are piled at the door, where girls check their footgear for a few hours of their favorite very slow dancing. Boys are just as fad-conscious as girls and often shed their thick leather and crepe-soled "feet" before dancing; some even appear with sheepskin-lined slippers to wear between square dance sets. New look haircuts for boys boast "boogies," short on top and long on the sides, or "apaches," which are burr cuts with a ridge of hair from front to back.

Team spirit is shown by the baseball team of one high school, with burr cuts dyed to a bright yellow. A "lotus" who wants to be "engaged to be engaged" to his "lotus blossom" will give her a raindeer sweater to match his, or, if he's "brother than the Ten Commandments," she might just wear his class ring, taped to fit. If a girl tells a guy he's "all right in his place but they haven't dug it yet," he's likely to find her "as easy as stacking greased BB's with boxing gloves on."

The Texas teens claim they lead the country in fads and fun—our report would indicate they do, or perhaps their boast is just—"too typically Texas."

FEDERAL HOUSING

Because of the Depression of the 30s, World War II, and our rapid population increase, many Americans are not properly housed. To remedy this condition, the Federal Government has passed the Housing Act of 1949.

This plan provides for extensive slum clearance, the construction of low rent dwelling units, the helping to pay the rent of low income tenants, and the improvement of farm buildings.

But, all this is for the lower income group of Americans. If your family falls in the in-between spot, where income is too large to live in public housing projects, but too small to buy a house at today's costs, the government is helping you, too. Although there isn't a lot that can be done for this particular problem, the law has provided for an investigation of ways to lower home building costs.

Rising costs have made it hard for many families to improve living conditions or build new houses, but now with the aid of your government and the Housing Act, you and your family may be moving into that house you've always wanted.

Here's hoping you can.

HABITS OF STUDY

1. Plan a schedule which provides a time and place to study each lesson. Allow no exceptions to occur in your program.
2. Write down each assignment and be sure you know what the teacher wants done.
3. Sit up straight and go at the work vigorously with confidence and determination, without lounging or wasting time.
4. Study lessons requiring fresh attention, like reading, first; those in which concentration is easier, like written work, later.
5. Get every lesson every day and do it independently.
6. Learn the principal facts and let the details group around them. Use judgment as well as memory; analyze paragraphs and select important points.
7. Have proper study conditions and equipment.
8. Use all the material aids available—index, appendix, footnotes, vocabulary, maps, illustrations, as well as other books and periodicals.
9. Concentration is a sign of strong will. Outline lessons and take notes of important points in class discussion to develop concentration.
10. In committing material to memory, learn it as a whole; go over it quickly first, then more carefully and then again and again until you have it. Recall it by repeating aloud; think through a series of points to see whether you have them in mind.
11. In studying material to be understood and digested but not memorized, go over the whole quickly, then carefully section by section; then review it all quickly.
12. Review! Review! Review!

JUNIOR-SENIOR?

Why was it Mervyl Ellis started to leave the shorthand room when the announcement was made calling for all juniors to attend a class meeting? Amnesia no doubt!

Hall Duty

Mrs. Lewis must not have enough chairs in her room. At least several of her students were seen standing in the hall during first hour last week! Was Mrs. Lewis cleaning house?

Nation's Problems

Mr. M. A. Nation's fourth hour American Problems class is really an industrious one. Eldon Huffman, Carol Walker, Robert Smith, Suzanne Rissing, and Danny McGuire went to sleep in the class last week. The problems must have got them down.

Sophomores Appear Energetic

The girl's dressing room is really shining these days—thanks first class cleaning in the girl's girls. The facts are these: sophomores got busy with mops, pails, and dusting cloths and did some first class cleaning in the girl's gym. It might also be mentioned that the senior girls in this particular class did a good job of occupying the ping pong table for a back to school tete-a-tete.

I wrote a little poem

Just the other day,
Where I ever put it
Now, I can not say.
Could it be in the dresser
Or in my composition book?
Or maybe in my typing drawer
For there I didn't look.
Oh, what's the use of fooling?
You can tell by my face.
I didn't even write it,
This is just to fill up space!

Mr. Cline gets just a little mixed up too sometimes. The students tell that in one chemistry class Mr. Cline said to put the chemicals in the bottle and shake—"The bottle, that is" added Mr. Cline.

Full Support

In case you didn't notice, Bob Coughenour was in full swing with the election this week. Bob enthusiastically wore Bud's campaign card buttoned to the front of his shirt. Was it all in the interest of the electo, Bob, or was it just to cover some spilled gravy?

Y-Teens Prepare For Years Work

Under the leadership of the president, Wanda Tosser, the Y-Teens last week conducted their membership campaign. The program of work for the year has been planned by the officers, committee chairmen, and the sponsors.

Bonita Stuckey, vice-president, is chairman of the membership committee. Gertrude Naccarato, secretary will keep the records, Pat Harkins, treasurer, will take care of the money. Phil Wilson, program chairman, plans the programs for the year while Harriet King directs the music. The worship program is under the leadership of Norma Barbero, and Virginia Adams will supervise the service projects for the year.

Reporting the news will be the duty of Sally Robins. Kathleen Rush is the accompanist.

Y-Teen meetings will be held each Thursday morning at the Activity Period. The Cabinet will meet during the sixth hour on the first Tuesday of each month.

Large Hi-Y Membership

The Hi-Y got off to a good start with their first meeting of the year. The unusually large attendance indicated much interest.

The membership is divided into three chapters each having its own officers and sponsor. Jay Johnston is president of Mr. Biddle's chapter, Jim McCabe is vice-president; Harold Ray, secretary; and Glenn Hastings, treasurer.

Bob Bath is president of his chapter; Richard Comstock vice-president; Bud Scates, secretary; and Roger Curran, treasurer. Mr. Cline is the sponsor.

Eldon Huffman will preside over Mr. Sutton's chapter with Charles Campbell as vice president; Ed Kelly, secretary; and Bob Nelson, treasurer.

The first part of the year will be devoted to making plans for the Model HI-Y Youth and Government Legislature.

PHS Welcomes New Teachers

Gerald Blanchard

Mr. Blanchard, new music instructor, was born in Warsaw, Missouri. As a boy he had no particular ambition, but during his high school years he decided to make a career of teaching music.

He has been a music director for four years, coming to Pittsburg from Fulton, Missouri.

Mr. Blanchard is a sports fan, his favorites being baseball and golf.

He is married and has a five year old son.

Lawrence Boyer

Mr. Boyer of the commercial department comes to P.H.S. from Garnet, Kansas, where he was a member of the high school faculty.

His teaching career was interrupted during the war to serve in the Marine Corps four years. Since then he has obtained a BS degree from K.S.T.C. in Pittsburg and a Masters degree at K.S.T.C. in Emporia.

When asked about his family he replied very proudly, "I'm married and have a nine months old daughter."

Science Club to Organize Later

Plans are incomplete for the Junior Academy of Science.

The organization is composed of students interested in working on projects in the field of science. These projects are entered in a state contest toward the end of the school year.

Mr. Cline and Mr. Huffman are sponsors for the group.

Girls Find Improvement

The girls of PHS have been happily surprised by the improvement of the girl's shower room and the girl's rest room on second floor.

The walls and floor of the girl's shower room have been newly painted with a special water proof paint. Aqua and yellow were the colors used, and they give a delightful aquatic effect.

"The paint is already chipping off," stated Miss Messenger, "but it looks clean, and we will enjoy it as long as it stays on."

As most of you know, The Booster published several articles last year promoting improvements on the girls' rest room on second floor. Now, it has been proved that The Booster gets results. Three new, chairs of modern design have really brightened the girls' rest room. The bright green, red and yellow-green of the chairs along with the replacement of a different couch have helped to create a cleaner, more comfortable, brighter and neater atmosphere.

Want something "boosted," kids Use The Booster Box for your suggestions and get results!

Student Photographers Meet

Roger Curran, president of the Photography Club, has announced that meetings this year will be held on Tuesday afternoons during the sixth hour. Members will form two groups which will meet alternate weeks.

Mr. Cline, the sponsor, has planned several field hikes in order that the members may have experience in composing and taking pictures.

Officers for the year were chosen at the last meeting last Spring. They are as follows: Roger Curran, president; Norma DeRidder, vice-president; Demarice Coots, secretary; Ronald Damrill, treasurer.

Gridsters Open Season At Carthage Tonight

Game called at 8:00 o'clock tonight at Municipal Ball Park.

Seeking a second victory over a fairly new gridiron rival, the Purple gridsters journey tonight to tangle with Carthage Tigers.

The rustling, fast, and rugged Purple Dragons will be in fine shape for their first gridiron tilt this year when they meet the Tigers tonight. Rohde's Dragons will be working off their original T formation with a fast backfield and heavy line. With Pittsburg twelve returning lettermen, the team will really be battling tonight for their first victory.

K.E. Baker's Tigers will be trying to overcome the defeat handed to them last year with a short punt or split T formation. Even though they have lost their first string guards and tackles, they are expected to be very strong at the end and backfield positions. This will make them one of the stronger teams that Pittsburg will meet this year.

GAA Plans Busy Year

Under the leadership of Joan McClure the GAA is ready for a busy year. A heavy schedule has been planned for all active girls interested. Meetings will be held each Wednesday afternoon at the sixth hour.

The activities of the group will include basketball, swimming, softball, and other games. Outside social functions such as picnics, hikes, and hamburger fries will be held each month.

The annual fee of fifty-cents covers the operating expense of the association as well as the membership in the state organization.

Miss Helen Messenger, girls physical education teacher, is the club advisor.
