SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The Shirley Holmes Cochell Papers contain manuscripts and research materials of published and unpublished writings. Included are book-length manuscripts, essays, articles, short stories, poetry, and educational research. The book-length manuscripts include juvenile and adult fiction, a narrative poem on the Pony Express, and an edited collection of short stories on the theme of astrology. The series of articles and essays are on such general topics as genealogy, education, economics, public speaking, and journalism. Numerous topics appear in the short story and poetry series. Only a few of the works in these series have been published. The most extensive series relates to the history of American businesses. The manuscripts, research files, correspondence and other materials in this series pertain to a proposed book project, ca. 1958, called "America's Oldest Companies: Symbols of Free Enterprise". The final bibliographical
